Grazia Deledda's Eternal Adolescents The Pathology Of Arrested:

Grazia Deledda's Eternal Adolescents Janice M. Kozma, 2002 Throughout Deledda's novels truncated maturity functions as a psychological undertow sucking down its sufferers and their loved ones to the depths of fictive drama BOOK JACKET

Grazia Deledda's *Dance of Modernity Margherita Heyer-Caput, 2008-06-14 Grazia Deledda 1871-1936 was the author of many influential novels and remains one of the most significant Italian women writers of her time. However, critics tend to pigeonhole her works into convenient literary categories and to ignore the uniqueness of her style and voice. Grazia Deledda's Dance of Modernity offers a timely and thought-provoking interpretation of this Nobel laureate, examining her work in the context of European philosophical and literary modernity. Margherita Heyer-Caput takes a philosophical and philological approach in order to provide a reassessment of Deledda's position in the literary canon. At the same time, she raises the larger issue of the status of allegedly regional or minor literatures within the context of Italian modernity. Dealing with four novels representative of Deledda's vast corpus, Heyer-Caput addresses and dismantles elements of regionalismo, verismo, and decadentismo labels with which Deledda's works are regularly associated. This is the first volume to introduce some of Deledda's overlooked texts to an Anglophone audience. It invites readers to overturn established critical categories and to question margin-centre hierarchies both in the broad context of literary modernity and the narrower frame of Deledda's writing. Grazia Deledda's Dance of Modernity is a highly original and innovative interpretation of Deledda's narrative in philosophical perspective, which also includes the study of textual variations and considers cultural history in Italy during the early twentieth century. It is a much-needed examination of an important writer and how she managed to construct her own literary and gender identity in the context of modernity.

The Challenge of the Modern Sharon Wood, 2007 Grazia Deledda has been variously categorised as Romantic, Realist, Symbolist, or Decadent. This book aims to show the writer and her work in a fresh light, emphasising the extraordinary nature of her achievement given her unpromising beginnings. It offers insight into her work from the perspectives of modernism, feminism, and post-colonialism.

Nobel Laureates In Search Of Identity And Integrity: Voices Of Different Cultures Anders Hallengren, 2005-01-24 In this collection of essays, biographies, and Nobel lectures, ten Nobel Laureates from five continents give various and startling perspectives on current questions about modernity and tradition, unity and diversity, integration, identity, integrity, gender, and sexual roles in a multicultural world of change. It is also a book on self-confidence and presents different ways to self-knowledge and cultural individuality. Published in print for the first time, these studies and penetrating observations on topical issues, written by leading authors and intellectuals from many distant countries, make up one of the most intriguing and engaging avowals of our time. The Nobel Laureates are: Sir V. S. Naipaul (United Kingdom, born in Trinidad), Nadine Gordimer (South Africa), Derek Walcott (St. Lucia), Naguib Mahfouz (Egypt), Patrick White (Australia), Ernest Hemingway (USA), Grazia Deledda (Sardinia, Italy), Amartya Sen (United Kingdom, and the USA, born in India), Rabindranath Tagore (India), Nelson Mandela (South Africa).

Coburn, 2013-07-29 Race as Narrative in Italian Women s Writing Since Unification explores racist ideas and critiques of racism in four long narratives by female authors Grazia Deledda Matilde Serao Natalia Ginzburg and Gabriella Ghermandi who wrote in Italy after national unification Starting from the premise that race is a political and socio historical construction Melissa Coburn makes the argument that race is also a narrative construction This is true in that many narratives have contributed to the historical construction of the idea of race it is also true in that the concept of race metaphorically reflects certain formal qualities of narration Coburn demonstrates that at least four sets of qualities are common among narratives and central to the development of race discourse intertextuality the processes of characterization plot and tropes the tension between the projections of individual group and universal identities and the processes of identification and otherness These four sets of qualities become organizing principles of the four sequential chapters paralleling a sequential focus on the four different narrative authors The juxtaposition of these close contextualized readings demonstrates salient continuities and discontinuities within race discourse over the period examined revealing subtleties in the historical record overlooked by previous studies      Eleonora Duse and Cenere (Ashes) Maria Pia Pagani, Paul Fryer, 2017-05-30 The 1916 silent film Cenere features the great Italian actress Eleonora Duse 1858-1924 in her only cinematic role. In her meditative approach to her craft, she reprised for the screen all the mother roles she had created for the theater. Marking the film's 100th anniversary, this collection of essays brings together for the first time in English a range of scholarship. The difficulties involved in the making of the film are explored. Duse's perfectionism was too advanced for the Italian movie industry of the 1910s. Her work is discussed within the creative, political, and historical context of the silent movie industry as it developed in wartime Italy.

Italian Women at War Susan Amatangelo, 2016-08-03 Italian Women at War: Sisters in Arms from Unification to the Twentieth Century offers diverse perspectives on Italian women's participation in war and conflict throughout Italy's modern history, contributing to the ongoing scholarly conversation on this topic. Part one of the book focuses on heroines who fought for Italy's Unification and on the anti-heroines or brigantesse who opposed such a momentous change. Part two considers exceptional individuals such as Eva Kohn Amendola, who combatted both with her body and her pen, as well as collective female efforts during the world wars, whether military or civilian. In part three, where the context is twentieth-century society, the focus shifts to those women engaged in less conventional conflicts who resorted to different forms of revolt, including active non-violence. All of the women presented across these chapters engage in combat to protest a particular state of affairs and effect change; yet their weapons range from the literal like Peppa La Cannoniera's cannon to the metaphorical like Letizia Battaglia's camera. Several of the essays in this volume discuss fictional heroines who appear in works of literature and film, though all are based on actual women and reference real historical contexts. Italian Women at War furthers the efforts begun decades ago to recognize Italian women combatants, especially in light of the recent anniversary of the Unification in 2011 and global discussions regarding the role of women in the military. Its aim is not to glorify violence and war but to celebrate the active role of Italian women in the evolution of their nation and to demystify the idea of the woman warrior who has always been viewed either as an extraordinary, almost mythical creature or as an affront to the traditional feminine identity.

Belle poque invece era una città meravigliosa, culturalmente viva e proiettata verso l'Europa. Anche la scrittrice premio Nobel Grazia Deledda, che tra il 1899 e il 1900 per il suo lavoro di giornalista era a Cagliari, non potè restare indifferente alla bellezza dei giochi di luce dalla gente cordiale e allegra, dall'atmosfera che si viveva in quegli anni. La città le rimase impressa a tal punto da dedicarle lo scritto Cagliari, apparso sulla rivista Natura e Arte nel maggio del 1900 e che viene riproposto in questa guida su Cagliari insieme al breve racconto autobiografico Il Velo Azzurro.
