From Earliest Times to the Present, as Told by the Explorers Themselves

THERE IS SOMETHING ABOUT THE VERY WORD "EXPLORATION" THAT CREATES AN ATMOSPHERE OF ITS OWN. It sends the fancy flying to strange and remote countries; it conjures up visions of scorching deserts and of heroic journeys afoot through dark, swamp-infested lowlands and over soaring Olympus-like mountains. You hear the roar of tropical gales, the thunder of the tumbling icepack, the crash of the waves upon a lonely shore.

They were rebels—ambitious, ruthless, undaunted—men of fabulous courage and skepticism of things as they seemed. Driven by curiosity, by lust for wealth and glory, they created their own destinies.

By permitting the great adventurers to record their stories in their own words, Dr. Stefansson has captured the spirit of the times, as well as the emotions waiting for something something or someone that she did not now see but expected soon to see It was late afternoon of a day so beautiful that not even old Albemarle beauty spot of Virginia ever produced one more beautiful not in the hundred years preceding that day nor in the century since then For this was more than a hundred years ago and what is now an ancient land was then a half opened region settled only here and there by the great plantations of the well to do The house that lay at the summit of the long and gentle slope flanked by its wide galleries its flung doors opening it from front to rear to the gaze as one approached had all the rude comfort and assuredness usual with the gentry of that time and place It was the privilege and the habit of the Widow Lewis to sit idly when she liked but her attitude now was not that of idleness Intentness reposeful acceptance of life rather showed in her motionless long sustained position She was patient as women are but her strong pose its freedom from material support her restrained power to do or to endure gave her the look of owning something more than resignation something more than patience A strong figure of a woman one would have said had one seen her sitting on the gallery of her old home a hundred and twenty four years ago The Widow Lewis stared straight down at the gate a quarter of a mile away with yearning in her gaze But as so often happens what she awaited did not appear at the time and place she herself had set There fell at the western end of the gallery a shadow a tall shadow but she did not see it She did not hear the footfall not stealthy but quite silent with which the tall owner of the shadow came toward her from the gallery end It was a young man or rather boy no more than eighteen years of age who stood now and gazed at her after his silent approach so like that of an Indian savage Half savage himself he seemed now as he stood clad in the buckskin garments of the chase then not unusual in the Virginian borderlands among settlers and hunters and not held out among a people so often called to the chase or to war

Farthest North: Being the Record of a Voyage of Exploration of the Ship ÒFramÓ 1893Ð96 and of a Fifteen MonthsÕ Sleigh Journey by Dr. Nansen and Lieut. Johansen (Complete) Fridtjof Nansen, 2020-09-28 Unseen and untrodden under their spotless mantle of ice the rigid polar regions slept the profound sleep of death from the earliest dawn of time Wrapped in his white shroud the mighty giant stretched his clammy ice limbs abroad and dreamed his age long dreams Ages passed deep was the silence Then in the dawn of history far away in the south the awakening spirit of man reared its head on high and gazed over the earth To the south it encountered warmth to the north cold and behind the boundaries of the unknown it placed in imagination the twin kingdoms of consuming heat and of deadly cold But the limits of the unknown had to recede step by step before the ever increasing yearning after light and knowledge of the human mind till they made a stand in the north at the threshold of Nature s great Ice Temple of the polar regions with their endless silence Up to this point no insuperable obstacles had opposed the progress of the advancing hosts which confidently proceeded on their way But here the ramparts of ice and the long darkness of winter brought them to bay Host after host marched on towards the north only to suffer defeat Fresh ranks stood ever ready to advance over the bodies of their predecessors Shrouded in fog lay the mythic land of Nivlheim where the Rimturser 1 carried on their wild gambols Why did we continually return to the attack There in the darkness and cold stood Helheim where the death goddess held her sway there lay N strand the shore of corpses Thither where no living being could draw breath thither troop after troop made its way To what end Was it to bring home the dead as did Hermod when he rode after Baldur No It was simply to satisfy man s thirst for knowledge Nowhere in truth has knowledge been purchased at greater cost of privation and suffering But the spirit of mankind will never rest till every spot of these regions has been trodden by the foot of man till every enigma has been solved Minute by minute degree by degree we have stolen forward with painful effort Slowly the day has approached even now we are but in its early dawn darkness still broods over vast tracts around the Pole Our ancestors the old Vikings were the first Arctic voyagers It has been said that their expeditions to the frozen sea were of no moment as they have left no enduring marks behind them This however is scarcely correct Just as surely as the whalers of our age in their persistent struggles with ice and sea form our outposts of investigation up in the north so were the old Northmen with Eric the Red Leif and others at their head the pioneers of the polar expeditions of future generations Literature of Travel and Exploration Jennifer Speake, 2014-05-12 Containing more than 600 entries this valuable resource presents all aspects of travel writing There are entries on places and routes
