Great Artists Dorothy Aitchison, 1971      American Book Publishing Record, 1983-04      Big Book of Home Learning Mary Pride, 1991-04 Offers an incredible array of learning products for every age level including computers art and music Available      Rembrandt, Vermeer, and the Gift in Seventeenth-Century Dutch Art Michael Zell, 2025-10-01

Rembrandt Vermeer and the Gift in Seventeenth Century Dutch Art offers a new perspective on the art of the Dutch Golden Age by exploring the interaction between the gift's symbolic economy of reciprocity and obligation and the artistic culture of early modern Holland Gifts of art were pervasive in seventeenth century Europe and many Dutch artists like their counterparts elsewhere embraced gift giving to cultivate relations with patrons art lovers and other members of their social networks Rembrandt also created distinctive works to function within a context of gift exchange and both Rembrandt and Vermeer engaged the ethics of the gift to identify their creative labor as motivated by what contemporaries called a love of art not materialistic gain In the merchant republic's vibrant market for art networks of gift relations and the anti economic rhetoric of the gift mingled with the growing dimension of commerce revealing a unique chapter in the interconnected history of gift giving and art making      Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1980      Monographic Series Library of Congress, 1979      Rembrandt, Vermeer and the Dutch Golden Age Blaise Ducos, Lara Yeager-Crasselt, Olivia Savatier Sjöholm, Jan Blanc, 2019-03-20T00:00:00+01:00 Accompanying the exhibition at Louvre Abu Dhabi the catalogue Rembrandt Vermeer and the Dutch Golden Age provides an image rich overview of the artworks exhibited complimented by four essays The first situates The Leiden Collection within the context of the Dutch Golden Age The second and third describe the major role that the Netherlands played on a global scale in the in the 17th century the specificities of the Dutch Golden Age as well as the work of Rembrandt and his contemporaries rooted in the society of that time and place The fourth essay sheds light on the particular role that drawing played in the creative process of Dutch artists      Traces of Vermeer Jane Jelley, 2017-07-21 Johannes Vermeer's luminous paintings are loved and admired around the world yet we do not understand how they were made We see sunlit spaces the glimmer of satin silver and linen we see the softness of a hand on a lute string or letter We recognise the distilled impression of a moment of time and we feel it to be real We might hope for some answers from the experts but they are confounded too Even with the modern technology available they do not know why there is no evidence of any preliminary drawing why there are shifts in focus and why his pictures are unusually blurred Some wonder if he might possibly have used a camera obscura to capture what he saw before him The few traces Vermeer has left behind tell us little there are no letters or diaries and no reports of him at work Jane Jelley has taken a new path in this detective story A painter herself she has worked with the materials of his time the cochineal insect and lapis lazuli the sheep bones soot earth and rust She shows us how painters made their pictures layer by layer she investigates old secrets and hears travellers tales She explores how Vermeer could have used a lens in the creation of his masterpieces The clues were there all along After all this time now we can unlock the studio door and catch a glimpse of Vermeer inside painting light      Visual Education ,1972
