50 Great American Places Brent D. Glass, 2016-03-15 Profiles fifty sites across the United States that trace the cultural history of the country, discussing the people and events that led to each site's importance from the National Mall in D.C. to Pearl Harbor in Hawaii. Great American Industries: Transportation William Francis Rocheleau, 1914 The Great American Mission David Ekbladh, 2010 The Great American Mission traces how America's global modernization efforts during the twentieth century were a means to remake the world in its own image. David Ekbladh shows that the emerging concept of modernization combined existing development ideas from the Depression. He describes how ambitious New Deal programs like the Tennessee Valley Authority became symbols of American liberalism's ability to marshal the social sciences, state planning, civil society, and technology to produce extensive social and economic change. For proponents, it became a valuable weapon to check the influence of menacing ideologies such as Fascism and Communism. Modernization took on profound geopolitical importance as the United States grappled with these threats. After World War II, modernization remained a means to contain the growing influence of the Soviet Union Ekbladh demonstrates how U S led nation building efforts in global hot spots enlisting an array of nongovernmental groups and international organizations were a basic part of American strategy in the Cold War However a close connection to the Vietnam War and the upheavals of the 1960s would discredit modernization The end of the Cold War further obscured modernization s mission but many of its assumptions regained prominence after September 11 as the United States moved to contain new threats Using new sources and perspectives The Great American Mission offers new and challenging interpretations of America s ideological motivations and humanitarian responsibilities abroad
