Fresh Map Of Life The Emergence Of:

A Fresh Map of Life Peter Laslett, 1991 Today as never before most people in the developed world at least can expect to live to old age How has society reacted to this shift of mortality Much of the accepted account of ageing is simply the persistence into our own time of past perceptions Laslett argues that the Third Age beyond the breadwinning and child rearing years is that of greatest personal fulfilment the apogee of life Combining social history sociology and philosophy this book provokes new thinking on one of the crucial changes in the modern world Journeys of Life Nathan Carlin, Kate de Medeiros, 2024-07-18 Trained as a cultural historian Thomas R Cole is one of the most influential scholars of his generation with his work moving beyond and impacting many other fields and disciplines His work includes The Journey of Life A Cultural History of Aging in America which was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize Cole also published No Color Is My Kind The Life of Eldrewey Stearns and the Integration of Houston creating along with the book an accompanying film The Strange Demise of Jim Crow which was nominated for a regional Emmy and a National Humanities Medal Cole created a number of other films as well In all of his work there is an emphasis on religion spirituality and moral meaning Cole is also a Jewish spiritual director and this work has become a major focus for him in retirement This edited volume engages or responds to Cole's work which spans cultural history oral history aging studies film medical humanities religious studies and more As such this book is not about Cole per se but the impact of his ideas and subsequent inspirations Justice over the Course of Life Björn Schmitz-Luhn, Christiane Woopen, 2022-02-01 In this interdisciplinary book experts from philosophy medicine law psychology economics and social sciences address questions and develop solutions for a well designed society of long life Young as well as old people have to actively shape more and more of their life span At the same time aging becomes more multifaceted the individual view on one's own life course is changing and the needs and demands for a fulfilled life are diversifying The implications affect all spheres of life from education and workplace to health care and the culture of interaction They require content related and structural adjustments for a diverse society of longevity in which multiple generations live alongside each other But how can change be managed responsibly how can individual and collective responsibility be distributed appropriately and how can a sustainable and fair social future be ensured Methods of Life Course Research Janet Z. Giele, Glen H. Elder, Glen H. Elder (Jr.), 1998-03-19 Giele and Elder introduce the life course approach show how it developed and what it entails consider how to collect and organise longitudinal data and explore the analysis and interpretation of life course data Planning Later Life Mark Schweda, Larissa Pfaller, Kai Brauer, Frank Adloff, Silke Schicktanz, 2017-07-06 This book examines the relevance of modern medicine and healthcare in shaping the lives of elderly persons and the practices and institutions of ageing societies Combining individual and social dimensions Planning Later Life discusses the ethical social and political consequences of increasing life expectancies and demographic change in the context of biomedicine and public health By focusing on the field of biomedicine and healthcare the authors engage readers in a dialogue on the ethical and social implications of recent trends in dementia research and care advance healthcare planning or the rise of anti ageing medicine and prevention Bringing together the largely separated debates of individualist bioethics on the one hand and public health ethics on the other the volume deliberately considers the entanglements of envisioning evaluating and controlling individual and societal futures So far the process of devising and exploring the various positive and negative visions and strategies related to later life has rarely been reflected systematically from a philosophical sociological and ethical point of view As such this book will be crucial to those working and studying in the life sciences the humanities and the social sciences particularly in the areas of bioethics social work gerontology and aging studies healthcare and social service sociology social policy and geography and population studies Understanding the Sociology of Health Anne-Marie Barry,Chris Yuill,2016-09-24 Understanding the Sociology of Health continues to offer an easy to read introduction to sociological theories essential to understanding the current health climate Up to date with key policy and research and including case studies and exercises to critically engage the reader this book shows how sociology can answer complex questions about health and illness such as why health inequalities exist To better help with your studies this book contains a global perspective with international examples a new chapter on health technologies online access to videos of the author discussing key topics as well as recommended further readings a glossary chapter summaries and reflective questions to help you engage with the subject Though aimed primarily at students on health and social care courses and professions allied to medicine this textbook provides valuable insights for anyone interested in the social aspects of health The Decline of Life Susannah R. Ottaway,2004-02-05 The Decline of Life is an ambitious and absorbing study of old age in eighteenth century England Drawing on a wealth of sources literature correspondence poor house and workhouse documents and diaries Susannah Ottaway considers a wide range of experiences and expectations of age in the period and demonstrates that the central concern of ageing individuals was to continue to live as independently as possible into their last days Ageing men and women stayed closely connected to their families and communities in relationships characterized by mutual support and reciprocal obligations Despite these aspects of continuity however older individuals ability to maintain their autonomy and the nature of the support available to them once they did fall into necessity declined significantly in the last decades of the century As a result old age was increasingly marginalized Historical demographers historical gerontologists sociologists social historians and women s historians will find this book essential reading Later Life Barbara Misztal,2020-02-17 Later Life views older age as a valuable stage of life and argues for the centrality of self making to the quality of later life Aiming to enrich an understanding of ageing as the unfolding process in which people try to negotiate vulnerabilities of their bodies and manage mortality it explores the conditions for pursuing the search for knowledge of oneself in later life This new book with the help of literary examples presents factors both supporting and hindering the quality of the experience of later life It demonstrates how wondering courage and habit sustain the self making in older age After illustrating that the process of ageing also imposes ordeals the book depicts remedies needed to overcome boredom bitterness and sadness three torments caused by the age specific sense of time It is essential reading not only for academics and professionals in age studies sociology of ageing gerontology and health care but also for a general audience The book s focus on the experiences of later life will appeal to the reader interested in understanding the complexities of ageing and in enhancing the quality of later life while its reliance on literary illustrations will be appreciated by lovers of literature

Understanding the Life Course Lorraine Green,2016-12-20 Understanding the Life Course provides a uniquely comprehensive guide to the entire life course from an interdisciplinary perspective Combining important insights from sociology and psychology the book presents the concepts theoretical underpinnings in an accessible style supported by real life examples From birth and becoming a parent to death and grieving for the loss of others Lorraine Green explores all stages of the life course through key research studies and theories in conjunction with issues of social inequality and critical examination of lay viewpoints She highlights the many ways the life course can be interpreted including themes of linearity and multidirectionality continuity and discontinuity and the interplay between nature and nurture The second edition updates key data and includes additional material on topics such as new technologies changing markers of transitions to adulthood active ageing resilience and neuropsychology This comprehensive approach will continue to be essential reading for students on vocational programmes such as social work and nursing and will provide thought provoking insight into the wider contexts of the life course for students of psychology and sociology

Older Citizens and End-of-Life Care Malcolm Payne,2017-02-22 Older people are like younger people citizens in the communities of the nations in which they live This book sees ageing as a life journey that incorporates a process of citizenizing in which people build their identity as part of their family and community But the social experience of illness frailty disability and reaching the end of life may de citizen older people by devaluing the social identity that comes from continuing social engagement We de citizen older people by emphasizing dependence on services and their cost to public expenditure instead of valuing the interdependence of participation and mutual respect This book argues that older people retain full citizenship for the whole of their lives up to the moment of death but what does this mean for health and social care In this groundbreaking book Malcolm Payne argues that social work with older people must build re citizenizing practice strategies to value both the common and the special aspects of the citizenship of older people Current models of social care and social work create dependency rather than relying on values of participative interdependence The failure to recognize the end of life as a crucial element in all social care and social work for older people means that the lessons learned in providing palliative and end of life care in healthcare have not been transferred to social care and the priorities of end of life care have not been adequately encompassed in social work with older people

The Evening of Life Joseph E. Davis,Paul Scherz,2020-09-30 Although philosophy religion and civic cultures used to help people prepare for aging and dying well this is no longer the case Today aging is frequently seen as a problem to be solved and death as a harsh reality to be masked In part our cultural confusion is rooted in an inadequate conception of the human person which is based on a notion of absolute individual autonomy that cannot but fail in the face of the dependency that comes with aging and decline at the end of life To help correct the ethical impoverishment at the root of our contemporary social confusion The Evening of Life provides an interdisciplinary examination of the challenges of aging and dying well It calls for a re envisioning of cultural concepts practices and virtues that embraces decline dependency and finitude rather than stigmatizes them Bringing together the work of sociologists anthropologists philosophers theologians and medical practitioners this collection of essays develops an interrelated set of conceptual tools to discuss the current challenges posed to aging and dying well such as flourishing temporality narrative and friendship Above all it proposes a positive understanding of thriving in old age that is rooted in our shared vulnerability as human beings It also suggests how some of these tools and concepts can be deployed to create a medical system that better responds to our contemporary needs The Evening of Life will interest bioethicists medical practitioners clinicians and others involved in the care of the aging and dying Contributors Joseph E Davis Sharon R Kaufman Paul Scherz Wilfred M McClay Kevin Aho Charles Guignon Bryan S Turner Janelle S Taylor Sarah L Szanton Janiece Taylor and Justin Mutter Understanding Quality Of Life In Old Age Walker, Alan, 2005-06-01 What constitutes quality of life for older people How can quality of life be measured How might policy makers improve quality of life for older people This book considers key findings from the Growing Older research programme and presents them in a lively thematic format It discusses essential topics such as environment family bereavement identity and social interaction and describes key concepts and measures Using data drawn from a range of different research projects the book illustrates considerable methodological diversity to capture a broad picture of quality of life Key implications for future research on quality of life in older age are also proposed The book is a companion volume to Growing Older Quality of Life in Old Age edited by Alan Walker and Catherine Hagan Hennessy and is key reading on a range of undergraduate and Masters level courses including social gerontology social work sociology and social policy Contributors Sara Arber John Baldock Kate M Bennett David Blane Ann Bowling Elizabeth Breeze Jabeer Butt Lynda Clarke Peter Coleman Kate Davidson Murna Downs Maria Evandrou Ken Gilhooly Mary Gilhooly Jane Gow Jan Hadlow Catherine Hagan Hennessy Paul Higgs Caroline Holland Georgina M Hughes Martin Hyde Leonie Kellaher Mary Maynard Kevin McKee F McKiernan Christopher McKevitt Marie Mills Jo Moriarty James Nazroo Sheila Peace Thomas Scharf Philip T Smith Peter Speck Susan Tester Christina Victor Alan Walker Peter Warr Lorna Warren Dick Wiggins Fiona Wilson Social Integration in the Second Half of Life Karl Pillemer, Phyllis Moen, Elaine Wethington, Nina Glasgow, 2003-05-01 Social scientists use the term social integration to refer to individuals connections with others in their environments The concept and its consequences have been the subject of considerable study Many researchers have asserted that meaningful and enduring ties to other persons serve as a buffer against stress and thereby promote physical and mental health The results are especially pronounced for older persons Social Integration in the Second Half of Life presents integrative reviews of theory and research on this topic The editors and contributors all currently or previously affiliated with the Cornell Gerontology Research Institute also present new empirical findings of research done at their center The first section of the book discusses basic theory and principles of social integration in later life and its implications for health The second largest section examines specific issues retirement driving family support housing neighbors The third section addresses interventions to promote social integration transportation volunteering and peer support for dementia caregivers Throughout the authors focus on the diverging influences of social integration and its converse social isolation in later life Fresh Perspectives on Later Life Learning Brian Findsen, 2018-10-29 Over the last decade there has been a resurgence of interest in what adults learn in their later years often described as beyond 65 and how this learning is linked to current personal social and global issues This learning commonly occurs in informal ways as seniors go about their daily lives This kind of informal learning can be supplemented by non formal education via participation in planned learning as members of organizations and less frequently in formal education structures such as universities This book highlights how older people are learning in a myriad of ways and conditions It covers everything from individualistic learning through to national issues of older adult education Fresh perspectives are provided on biographical insights into retirement and higher education how older people generate know how in the company of others and in cross cultural aspects such as Chinese elders in Hong Kong and M ori seniors in Aotearoa New Zealand In addition the links between health and learning are explored as well as the commitment universities in three countries have made to become age friendly This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Lifelong Education Loving Later Life Frits de Lange, 2015-04-27 Is loving later life possible In our youth obsessed culture nobody enjoys growing old We normally fear our own aging and generally do not love old people they remind us that death is inescapable the body frail and social status transitory In Loving Later Life Frits de Lange shows how an ethics of love can acknowledge and overcome this fear of aging and change our attitude toward the elderly De Lange reframes the biblical love command this way We must care for the aging other as we care for our own aging selves We can encourage positive self love by embracing life as we age taking good care of our own aging bodies staying good friends with ourselves and valuing the last season of life When we cultivate this kind of self love we are released from our aversion to growing old and set free to care about others who are aging our parents our relatives and others in their final season of life

Women in Late Life Martha Holstein, 2015-03-19 Contemporary old age is fraught with contradiction and complexity women portrayed either as incompetent and cuddly grandmothers or as young women trapped in old bodies images that rarely reflect how women actually see themselves Women in Late Life explores the thorny issues related to gender and aging including prevailing but problematic cultural expectations body image ageism the experience of chronic illness threats to Social Security and the very possibility of a secure retirement while challenging a long term care system that disadvantages women Author Martha Holstein writes from a critical feminist perspective drawing on her many years of experience in gerontology as well as interviews and personal experience as a woman now in her seventies The book highlights how women's experience of late life is shaped by the effects of lifelong gender norms by contemporary culture from gender stereotypes to ageism and by the political context The book blends critique with proposals aimed at resisting damaging inequities resulting from being simultaneously old and a woman She focuses on changes needed on multiple levels societal cultural political and individual This interdisciplinary look at key questions around gender and aging is nuanced and beautifully written The Social Life of Nothing Susie Scott, 2019-06-03 Nothing really matters All the things that we do not do have or become in our lives can be important in shaping self identity From jobs turned down to great loves lost secrets kept and truths untold people missed and souls unborn we understand ourselves through other un-lived lives that are imaginatively possible This book explores the realm of negative social phenomena no things no bodies non events and no where places that lies behind the mirror of experience Taking a symbolic interactionist perspective the author argues that these objects are socially produced emerging from and negotiated through our relationships with others Nothing is interactively accomplished in two ways through social acts of commission and omission Existentialism and phenomenology encourage us to understand more deeply the subjective experience of nothing this can be pursued through conscious meaning making and reflexive self awareness The Social Life of Nothing is a thought provoking book that will appeal to scholars across the social sciences arts and humanities but its message also resonates with the interested general reader Ageing, Independence, and the Life Course Sara Arber, 1993 Using a life course approach which emphasises the importance of recognising the effects of different life experiences on different groups of individuals and the interlinkage between phases of the life course the book explores the ways in which bases of structural advantage and disadvantage have cumulative impacts on the situation of older people

Dying: A Social Perspective on the End of Life Alex Broom, 2016-03-03 An inevitable and universal experience dying is experienced by individuals in different ways often related to the character of our relationships family structures gender identities cultural backgrounds and economic means Drawing on extensive qualitative fieldwork with patients carers and health professionals in Australia and the United Kingdom Dying A Social Perspective on the End of Life provides a critical examination of the different spheres of dying in social and cultural context Exploring complex issues such as the politics of assisted dying negotiating medical futility gender and dying the desire for redemption the moralities of the good fight and the lived experience of bodily disintegration this book links novel theoretical ideas within sociology to cutting edge empirical data collected in palliative and end of life care contexts A theoretically engaged understanding of the social mediation of the end of life Dying A Social Perspective on the End of Life also sheds light on the manner in which the end of life can be shaped by major economic cultural and socio cultural shifts including neo liberalism individualisation medicalisation professionalisation and detraditionalisation As such it will appeal to social science health and medical researchers interested in the end of life as well as those working in palliative and end of life care settings Career Management & Work-Life Integration Brad Harrington, Douglas T. Hall, 2007-05-16 Career Management Work Life Integration Using Self Assessment to Navigate Contemporary Careers is a comprehensive easy to follow guide to managing contemporary careers Although grounded in theory the book also provides an extensive set of exercises and activities that can guide career management over the lifespan Authors Brad Harrington and Douglas T Hall offer a highly useful self assessment guide for students and other individuals who want to deal with the challenge of succeeding in a meaningful career while living a happy well balanced life
