Freshman English:

Requirements for Admission to the Freshman English Course (English I) University of Wisconsin. Department of English, 1913 Practicing Writing Thomas M. Masters, 2004-10-24 Practicing Writing examines a pivotal era in the history of the most ubiquitous and possibly most problematic course in North American colleges and universities the requireAd first year writing course generally known as freshman English Thomas Masters's focus is the mid twentieth century beginning with the returning waves of World War II veterans attending college on the GI Bill He then traces the education reforms that took place in the late 1950s after the launch of Sputnik and the establishment of composition as a separate discipline in 1963 This study draws upon archives at three midwestern schools that reflect a range of higher education options Wheaton a small sectarian liberal arts college Northwestern a large private university and Illinois a large public university Practicing Writing gives voice to those whose work is often taken for granted or forgotten in other studies of the subject freshman English students and their instructors Masters examines students papers professors letters and course descriptions and draws upon interviews conducted with teachers to present the practitioners points of view Unlike other studies of the subject which have tended to focus more on the philosophy theory and ideology of teaching composition and rhetoric Masters reveals freshman English to be a practice based phenomenon with a durable ideological apparatus By reexamining texts that had previously been considered insignificant he reveals the substance of first year composition courses and the reasons for their durability A Student's Guide to Freshman English Georgia Institute of Technology. Committee on Freshman English, Georgia Institute of Technology, 1962 "Freshman English" at Seventy-three Colleges and Universities and the Implications for High Schools Michigan Council of Teachers of English. Newsletter, 1960 Freshman English Frances Campbell Berkeley Young, Karl Young, 1914 Freshman English and Theme-correcting in Harvard College Charles Townsend Copeland, Henry Milner Rideout, 1901 Standards in English John Joseph Mahoney, 1917
Catalogue of the Officers and Students of Hampden-Sidney College, Virginia Hampden-Sydney College, 1880
Research in Education, 1974 Reconceiving Writing, Rethinking Writing Instruction Joseph Petraglia, 2013-11-05
To a degree unknown in practically any other discipline the pedagogical space afforded composition is the institutional engine that makes possible all other theoretical and research efforts in the field of rhetoric and writing But composition has recently come under attack from many within the field as fundamentally misguided Some of these critics have been labelled New Abolitionists for their insistence that compulsory first year writing should be abandoned Not limiting itself to first year writing courses this book extends and modifies calls for abolition by taking a closer look at current theoretical and empirical understandings of what contributors call general writing skills instruction GWSI the curriculum which an overwhelming majority of writing instructors is paid to teach that practically every composition textbook is written to support and the instruction for which English departments are given resources to deliver The vulnerability of GWSI is hardly a secret among writing professionals and its intellectual fragility has been felt for years and manifested in several ways in persistently low status of composition as a study both within and outside of English departments in professional journal articles and conference presentations that are growing both in theoretical sophistication and irrelevance to the composition classroom and in the rhetoric and writing field s ever increasing attention to nontraditional sites of writing behavior But to date there has been relatively little concerted discussion within the writing field that focuses specifically on the fundamentally awkward relationship of writing theory and writing instruction This volume is the first to explicitly focus on the gap in the theory and practice that has emerged as a result of the field s growing professionalization The essays anthologized offer critiques of GWSI in light of the discipline s growing understanding of the contexts for writing and their rhetorical nature Writing from a wide range of cognitivist critical theoretical historical linguistic and philosophical perspectives contributors call into serious question basic tenets of contemporary writing instruction and provide a forum for articulating a sort of zeitgeist that seems to permeate many writing conferences but which has until recently not found a voice or a name Bulletin No.1-14 ...

University of Wisconsin. Bureau of educational research,1926 English-Medium Instruction at Universities Aintzane Doiz,David Lasagabaster,Juan Manuel Sierra,2012-10-25 This book provides critical insights into the English medium instruction EMI experiences which have been implemented at a number of universities in countries such as China Finland Israel the Netherlands South Africa Spain and the USA which are characterised by differing political cultural and sociolinguistic situations In particular it reflects on the consequences of implementing EMI as an attempt to gain visibility and as a strategy in response to the need to become competitive in both national and international markets The pitfalls and challenges specific to each setting are analysed and the pedagogical issues and methodological implications that arise from the implementation of these programmes are also discussed This volume will serve to advance our awareness about the strategies and tools needed to improve EMI at tertiary level Annual Reports of the President, the Deans, and Other Officers of Miami University Miami University (Oxford, Ohio),1922 Resources in Education ,1984 English Journal ,1920 The Lure of Literacy Michael Harker,2014-12-03 Examines proposals for freshman composition s abolition and reform while providing a new model for courses The Lure of Literacy promises to transcend the stale and unproductive debate on freshman composition that has gripped English studies for more than a century It is the first book to chart the origin of the discussion from the early twentieth century to the advent of the New Literacy Studies Michael Harker recontextualizes proposals to abolish compulsory composition and reimagines pedagogical conditions in English studies in order to present a different model for first year writing This new model for compulsory composition programs focuses on students attitudes about composition and interrogates the very idea of literacy itself Harker clearly builds on current scholarship and brings his inquiries down to the very pragmatics of the classroom In a field full of critiques but little substance his voice is refreshing in that what he has been arguing about is fully fleshed out in his lesson plans at the end

William H Thelin author of Writing without Formulas The Lure of Literacy presents an incredibly accessible account of New Literacy Studies scholarship which serves the book's larger purpose i.e. to propose a First Year Literacy Studies curriculum extremely well Unlike a lot of books that rush through a discussion of an assignment or course that illustrates the pedagogical impact of the theory or historical research this book presents a carefully thought out course complete with identifiable outcomes and lessons that really does seem to have the potential to address the persistent misconceptions of literacy that fuel the abolition debate Chris Warnick College of Charleston

The Alcalde, 1991-05 As the magazine of the Texas Exes The Alcalde has united alumni and friends of The University of Texas at Austin for nearly 100 years The Alcalde serves as an intellectual crossroads where UT's luminaries artists engineers executives musicians attorneys journalists lawmakers and professors among them meet bimonthly to exchange ideas Its pages also offer a place for Texas Exes to swap stories and share memories of Austin and their alma mater The magazine's unique name is Spanish for mayor or chief magistrate the nickname of the governor who signed UT into existence was The Old Alcalde

Composition In The University Sharon Crowley, 1998-05-15 Composition in the University examines the required introductory course in composition within American colleges and universities According to Sharon Crowley the required composition course has never been conceived in the way that other introductory courses have been as an introduction to the principles and practices of a field of study Rather it has been constructed throughout much of its history as a site from which larger educational and ideological agendas could be advanced and such agendas have not always served the interests of students or teachers even though they are usually touted as programs of study that students need If there is a master narrative of the history of composition it is told in the institutional attitude that has governed administration design and staffing of the course from its beginnings the attitude that the universal requirement is in place in order to construct docile academic subjects Crowley argues that due to its association with literary studies in English departments composition instruction has been inappropriately influenced by humanist pedagogy and that modern humanism is not a satisfactory rationale for the study of writing She examines historical attempts to reconfigure the required course in nonhumanist terms such as the advent of communications studies during the 1940s Crowley devotes two essays to this phenomenon concentrating on the furor caused by the adoption of a communications program at the University of Iowa Composition in the University concludes with a pair of essays that argue against maintenance of the universal requirement In the last of these Crowley envisions possible nonhumanist rationales that could be developed for vertical curricula in writing instruction were the universal requirement not in place Crowley presents her findings in a series of essays because she feels the history of the required composition course cannot easily be understood as a coherent narrative since understandings of the purpose of the required course have altered rapidly from decade to decade sometimes in shockingly sudden and erratic fashion The essays in this book are informed by Crowley's long career of teaching composition administering a composition program and training teachers of the required introductory course The book also draw on experience she gained while working with committees formed by the Conference on College Composition and Communication toward implementation of the Wyoming Resolution an attempt to better the working conditions of post secondary teachers of writing Learning English Incidentally David Segel, Elise Henrietta Martens, Howard Washington Oxley, James Frederick Rogers, John Hamilton McNeely, Junius Lathrop Meriam, Mary Dabney Davis, Walter Herbert Gaumnitz, Walter James Greenleaf, Willis Branson Coale, Maris Marion Proffitt, 1937
