Impressionism Abroad Erica E. Hirshler, 2005 Includes Biographies of collectors and artists and list of Lenders to the exhibition      The Path of Nature Asher Ethan Miller, 2013      French Paintings of the Fifteenth Through the Eighteenth Century National Gallery of Art (U.S.), Philip Conisbee, 2009 This illustrated book written by leading scholars and the result of years of research and technical analysis catalogues nearly one hundred paintings from works by Francois

Clouet in the sixteenth century to paintings by Elisabeth Louise Vigée Le Brun in the eighteenth. All these works are explored in detailed readable entries that will appeal as much to the general art lover as to the specialist. Book Jacket French Paintings of the Nineteenth Century: Before impressionism Lorenz Eitner, 2000. The National Gallery's collection encompasses the neoclassicism of Jacques-Louis David as well as the naturalism of the Barbizon painters. The works of Jean-Auguste-Dominique Ingres such as the Gallery's famous portrait of Madame Moitessier are precursors to the classical style that dominated later in the century. Jean-Baptiste Camille Corot's verdant landscapes, Honoré Daumier's political satires and Jean-François Millet's realism are also included in this richly illustrated volume. "French Paintings of Childhood and Adolescence, 1848-1886" Anna Green, 2017-07-05. The premise of Anna Green's timely and original book is that nineteenth-century representations of childhood and adolescence in paintings but also in other forms of visual culture and in diverse written discourses of the period are critical for understanding modernity. Whilst such well-worn signifiers for modernity as the city, the dandy and the prostitute have been well-mined, childhood and adolescence have not. Paintings of the young produced in France from 1848 to 1886 Green contends inform not only our understanding of modern life but also our perception of modernist or avant-garde painting. Figuring largely are Manet and the Impressionists as well as a gamut of more traditional painters of children who are crucial in providing context for the avant-garde. Because modernity is an essentially urban phenomenon, Green's focus is primarily on the city, usually Parisian child. The painted youth of her study are organized initially by class and gender. Then the chapters are structured according to themes: parent-child relations, modes of discipline, work, education and play, the spectacle, sexuality that straddle the congruences among the book's triple trajectory: the young, their modernist representations and the experience of modernity. Green's interdisciplinary approach ensures that this book will be of interest not only to art historians but to all those concerned with the cultural and social history of childhood. French Paintings Before 1800 National Gallery (Great Britain), Michael Wilson, 1985. The period of French art covered in this book is extraordinarily diverse. This volume provides an ideal introduction to the paintings of this rich and complex period and will be useful both as a guide in the Gallery and given the excellence of the plates as a work of reference away from it. In either case, Michael Wilson's lucid and stimulating commentary on the paintings will greatly help the reader in coming to know them. Page 9/10 Women Readers in French Painting 1870-1890 Kathryn J. Brown, 2012. The first monograph to examine the depiction of reading women in French art of the early Third Republic. Women Readers in French Painting 1870-1890 evaluates the pictorial significance of this imagery, its critical reception and its impact on nineteenth-century notions of femininity and social relations. Artists discussed in the volume range from Manet, Cassatt and Degas to less familiar figures such as Lavieille, Carrière, Toulmouche and Tissot. French Painting in the Seventeenth Century Alain Mérot, 1995-01-01. Recent studies and exhibitions combined with the discovery of work by hitherto little-known artists have enabled Mérot to take a fresh look at the period and to suggest a new configuration. The great names of the period, Poussin

Vouet Le Sueur de La Tour Mignard are located in relation to other developments Merot includes discussion of the impact of contemporary literature and political philosophical and social influences The foundation of the Royal Academy of Painting in 1648 and the influence of Mazarin on artistic developments are considered with other issues of status patronage and connoisseurship The book provides a panorama of the period the text is profusely illustrated in colour and accompanied by a comprehensive bibliography
