European Painting In The 15th Century:

European Painting in the 15th Century Renzo Chiarelli, Margherita Lenzini Moriondo, Franco Massini, 1961 European Art of the Fifteenth Century Stefano Zuffi, 2005 Influenced by a revival of interest in Greco Roman ideals and sponsored by a newly prosperous merchant class fifteenth century artists produced works of astonishingly innovative content and technique The International Gothic style of painting still popular at the beginning of the century was giving way to the influence of Early Netherlandish Flemish masters such as Jan van Eyck who emphasized narrative and the complex use of light for symbolic meaning Patrons favored paintings in oil and on wooden panels for works ranging from large hinged altarpieces to small increasingly lifelike portraits In the Italian city states of Florence Venice and Mantua artists and architects alike perfected existing techniques and developed new ones The painter Masaccio mastered linear perspective the sculptor Donatello produced anatomically correct but idealized figures such as his bronze nude of David and the brilliant architect and engineer Brunelleschi integrated Gothic and Renaissance elements to build the self supporting dome of the Florence Cathedral This beautifully illustrated guide analyzes the most important people places and concepts of this early Renaissance period whose explosion of creativity was to spread throughout Europe in the sixteenth century European Painting in the 15th Century Renzo Chiarelli, 1961 The Art of the Renaissance Lucia Corrain, 2008 Arts German Paintings in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1350-1600 Maryan W. Ainsworth, Joshua P. Cultural Contact and the Making of European Art since the Age of Exploration Mary D. Sheriff, 2010-06-21 Art historians have long been accustomed to thinking about art and artists in terms of national traditions This volume takes a different approach suggesting instead that a history of art based on national divisions often obscures the processes of cultural appropriation and global exchange that shaped the visual arts of Europe in fundamental ways between 1492 and the early twentieth century Essays here analyze distinct zones of contact between various European states between Asia and Europe or between Europe and so called primitive cultures in Africa the Americas and the South Pacific focusing mainly but not exclusively on painting drawing or the decorative arts Each case foregrounds the centrality of international borrowings or colonial appropriations and counters conceptions of European art as a pure tradition uninfluenced by the artistic forms of other cultures The contributors analyze the social cultural commercial and political conditions of cultural contact including tourism colonialism religious pilgrimage trade missions and scientific voyages that enabled these exchanges well before the modern age of globalization Contributors Claire Farago University of Colorado at Boulder Elisabeth A Fraser University of South Florida Julie Hochstrasser University of Iowa Christopher Johns Vanderbilt University Carol Mavor University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Mary D Sheriff University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Lyneise E Williams University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
