Policing European Metropolises Elke Devroe,Adam

Edwards,Paul Ponsaers,2017-02-03 Understanding the politics of security in city regions is increasingly important for the study of contemporary policing This book argues that national and international governing arrangements are being outflanked by various transnational threats including the cross border terrorism of the attacks on Paris in 2015 and Brussels in 2016 trafficking in people narcotics and armaments cybercrime the deregulation of global financial services and environmental crime Metropolises are the focal points of the transnational networks through which policing problems are exported and imported across national borders as they provide much of the demand for illicit markets and are the principal engines generating other policing challenges including political protest and civil unrest This edited collection examines whether and how governing arrangements rooted in older systems of national sovereignty are adapting to these transnational challenges and considers problems of and for policing in city regions in the European Union and its single market Bringing together experts from across the continent Policing European Metropolises develops a sociology of urban policing in Europe and a unique methodology for comparing the experiences of different metropolises in the same country This book will be of value to police researchers in Europe and abroad as well as postgraduate students with an interest in policing and urban policy European Police Systems Raymond B. EU Police and Criminal Justice Measures Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: European Union Committee, 2013-04-23 The report EU Police and Criminal Justice Measures The UK's 2014 Opt out Option HL 159 examines the consequences to the UK should the Government choose to opt out of approximately 130 EU police and criminal justice measures that were adopted before the Treaty of Lisbon in 2009 The European Arrest Warrant EAW is the single most important pre Lisbon police and criminal justice measure and if the Government decides to exercise the opt out the Committee recommends that it should opt back in to the EAW immediately to avoid any gap in its application The Committee also expresses particular concern about the potential impact that the opt out including the loss of the EAW could have on efforts by the UK and Ireland to effectively tackle cross border crime and does not believe that possible alternatives to the EAW would be adequate The Committee concludes that the Government has not made a convincing case to opt out and that to do so would h
