Sustainable Lighting & Lighting for Sustainability MDPI, 2021-01-08 The role of lighting is developing into a topic considered alongside sustainable development Some years ago lighting installations fulfilled technical requirements and consumed only enough energy for the accurate completion of visual tasks This recently changed due to several discoveries in the matter of non visual paths whose influence on users well being safety mood and productivity is starting to be applied to installations Today we know that sustainable development depends on many factors but we are only now beginning to understand how accurate lighting can be used to promote development from different perspectives The present book compiles work dealing with the way lighting installations must be designed to work in an efficient and sustainable way together with the way lighting can be used to contribute to sustainable development beyond the well know savings in energy green house gas emissions and raw materials consumption The union of both concepts sustainable lighting and lighting for sustainability is what is call total lighting the global framework with which the lighting community will work in the near future LED Lighting T. Winkler,2015-02-09 Promoting the design application and evaluation of visually and electrically effective LED light sources and luminaires for general indoor lighting as well as outdoor and vehicle lighting this book combines the knowledge of LED lighting technology with human perceptual aspects for lighting scientists and engineers After an introduction to the human visual system and current radiometry photometry and color science the basics of LED chip and phosphor technology are described followed by specific issues of LED radiometry and the optical thermal and electric modeling of LEDs This is supplemented by the relevant practical issues of pulsed LEDs remote phosphor LEDs and the aging of LED light sources Relevant human visual aspects closely related to LED technology are described in detail for the photopic and the mesopic range of vision including color rendering binning whiteness Circadian issues as well as flicker perception brightness visual performance conspicuity and disability glare The topic of LED luminaires is discussed in a separate chapter including retrofit LED lamps LED based road and street luminaires and LED luminaires for museum and school lighting Specific sections are devoted to the modularity of LED luminaires their aging and the planning and evaluation methods of new LED installations The whole is rounded off by a summary and a look towards future developments Urban Lighting, Light Pollution and Society Josiane Meier,Ute Hasenöhl,Katharina Krause,Merle Pottharst,2014-10-24 After decades in the shadows urban lighting is re emerging as a matter of public debate Long standing truths are increasingly questioned as a confluence of developments affects lighting itself and the way it is viewed Light has become an integral element of place making and energy saving initiatives alike Rapidly evolving lighting technologies are opening up new possibilities but also posing new challenges to planners and awareness is growing that artificial illumination is not purely benign but can actually constitute a form of pollution As a result public policy frameworks incentives and initiatives are undergoing a phase of innovation and change that will affect how cities are lit for years to come The first comprehensive compilation of current scientific discussions on urban lighting and light pollution from a social science and humanities perspective Urban Lighting Light Pollution and Society contributes to an evolving international debate on an increasingly controversial topic The contributions draw a rich panorama of the manifold discourses connected with artificial illumination in the past and present from early attempts to promote new lighting technologies in the late 19th and early 20th centuries to current debates on restricting its excessive usage in public space and the protection of darkness By bringing together a cross section of current findings and debates on urban lighting and light pollution from a wide variety of disciplines it reflects that artificial lighting is multifaceted in its qualities utilisation and interpretation Including case studies from the United States Europe and the UK Urban Lighting Light Pollution and Society is one of the first to take a serious assessment of light pollution and places and is a valuable resource for planners policy makers and students in related subjects Citizen Science Susanne Hecker,Muki Haklay,Anne Bowser,Zen Makuch,Johannes Vogel,Aletta Bonn,2018-10-15 Citizen science the active participation of the public in scientific research projects is a rapidly expanding field in open science and open innovation It provides an integrated model of public knowledge production and engagement with science As a growing worldwide phenomenon it is invigorated by evolving new technologies that connect people easily and effectively with the scientific community Catalysed by citizens wishes to be actively involved in scientific processes as a result of recent societal trends it also offers contributions to the rise in tertiary education In addition citizen science provides a valuable tool for citizens to play a more active role in sustainable development This book identifies and explains the role of citizen science within innovation in science and society and as a vibrant and productive science policy interface The scope of this volume is global geared towards identifying solutions and lessons to be applied across science practice and policy The chapters consider the role of citizen science in the context of the wider agenda of open science and open innovation and discuss progress towards responsible research and innovation two of the most critical aspects of science today
