Eus Transformative Power The Europeanization Through Conditionality In Central And Eastern Europe:

The EU's Transformative Power H. Grabbe, 2005-11-10 Between 1989 and 2004 the EU's conditionality for membership transformed Central and East Europe. The EU had enormous potential power over the whole range of domestic politics in the candidate countries. However, the EU was able to use that power at a few key points in the process leading to their accession. The EU's long-term influence worked primarily through soft power and through voluntary rather than coercive means. During the membership preparations, the EU built many different routes of influence into the candidate countries' domestic policy-making through Europeanization. The Central and East Europeans voluntarily took on the Union's norms and methods guided by the European Commission in a massive transfer of policies and institutions. However, the EU missed important opportunities to effect change as well. The EU's Transformative Power explores in detail how the EU used its influence to control the movement of people across Europe through both coercive use of conditionality and voluntary methods of Europeanization.

Globalization and the State in Central and Eastern Europe Jan Drahokoupil, 2009 This book examines the transformation of the state in Central and Eastern Europe since the end of communism and adoption of market-oriented reform in the early 1990s, exploring the impact of globalization and economic liberalization on the region's states, societies, and political economy. It compares the different policies and national strategies adopted by key Central and Eastern European states, including the Czech Republic, Poland, Hungary, and Slovakia, showing how initial internally oriented strategies of market reform, privileging domestic sources of investment, had by the late 1990s given way to externally oriented strategies emphasising the promotion of competitiveness by attracting foreign investment. It explores the reasons behind this convergence, considering the influence of internal and external forces and the roles of interests, institutions, and ideas. It argues that internationalization of the state is forged in the processes through which domestic groups linked to transnational capital attain domestic influence necessary to shape state policy and strategy. These groups, the comprador service sector in particular, constitute and organize political, social, and institutional support of the competition state in the region. Overall, this book not only provides a detailed account of the political economy of post-communist transformation in Central and Eastern Europe but also the processes by which states adapt to the forces of globalization.

Core Executive and Europeanization in Central Europe R. Zubek, 2008-03-31 Given the European Union's comprehensive influence over accession states in Central Europe, the full adoption of the acquis communautaire prior to enlargement seemed a guaranteed outcome. By studying EU rule adoption in Poland, Hungary, and the Czech Republic, this book finds that successful legal alignment was in fact contingent on institutional reform within national core executives. Reinforcement of the core executive vis-à-vis ministerial departments ensured timely and accurate rule adoption, while a weak core executive resulted in uneven and incomplete legal change. Besides contributing to a better understanding of the dynamics of national adaptation during the Eastern enlargement, the book lays the foundations for explaining post-accession compliance in the new EU member.

Generational conflicts occur in any society and prove to be both a puzzle and a rite of passage for every generation Older generations often find it difficult to relate to the younger generations Yet as every generation comes of age it leaves an impact on societal structures as a whole Between baby boomers and millennials societal norms and values transform in new and unexpected ways While globalization has greatly contributed to the generational gaps world over the post communist transition which occurred in the wake of the collapse of the USSR left lasting and profound effects on these transitioning societies This book investigates the generational conflict in the post Soviet societies and argues that the generational divide runs deep The post Soviet generation Generation WhY has not dealt with the experience of old Soviet structures and they do not share the same values and norms as their parents and grandparents Individualism lack of trust in state institutions independence and entrepreneurial spirit run high among the members of the perestroika generation Yet we still find differences between societies While the Russian Ukrainian conflict has its roots in a number of deeply seeded issues this analysis shows that the generational gap is a part of the problem This book also offers conclusive evidence to suggest that the members of the post Soviet generation can be part of the solution      The EU and Member State Building Soeren Keil, Zeynep Arkan, 2014-12-05 This book critically examines the process of statebuilding by the EU focusing on its attempts to build Member States in the Western Balkan region This book analyses the European Union's policies towards and the impact they have upon the states of the Western Balkans and assesses how these affect the nature of EU foreign policy To this end it focuses on the tools and mechanisms that the EU employs in its enlargement policy and examines the new instruments of direct intervention in Bosnia and Kosovo political coercion in the case of Croatia and Serbia in relation to the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and stricter conditionality in the Western Balkan countries The book discusses the key aim of this special form of statebuilding which is to establish functional liberal democratic states in Albania Bosnia and Herzegovina Croatia Kosovo Macedonia Montenegro and Serbia in order for them to join the EU and to cope with the responsibilities and pressures of membership in the future However the authors argue that while the EU sees itself as an international actor that promotes and protects liberal democratic values norms and principles its experiences in the Western Balkans demonstrate how the EU's actions in the region have undermined the basic principles of democratic decision making such as the European support for impositions in Bosnia and international law Kosovo and have consequently contributed to new tensions see police reform in Bosnia and the tensions between Kosovo and Serbia and dependencies This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding EU politics global governance and IR Security Studies in general

Democratization and the European Union Leonardo Morlino, Wojciech Sadurski, 2010-05-31 This book examines in depth the impact of the EU on aspects of the quality of democracy in eight selected post communist countries Considering both the political and legal aspects of the dynamics among institutions and focussing on inter institutional accountability the book analyses how constitutional designs have been effectively implemented to achieve this and to what extent this was the result of EU action In order to make a comparative assessment of the EU on democracies the book features detailed case studies according to their different status vis vis the EU including older new member states Poland and Hungary newer new member states Romania and Bulgaria potential candidates Albania and Serbia and neighbour and remote neighbour states Ukraine and Armenia Each chapter addresses a range of dimensions and most relevant domains of inter institutional accountability that is executive legislative relationships constitutional justice decentralisation and regionalism and the role of ombudsman or other relevant authorities Seeking to assess how important the role of the EU has been in influencing the modes and characteristic of democracies and fundamental rights established in these regions this book will be of interest to students and scholars of comparative politics EU politics Post communist studies and democratization studies

Turkey and the European Union Senem Aydin-Düzgit, Nathalie Tocci, 2015-06-01 This book by two leading experts provides a comprehensive analysis of Turkey's relationship with the European Union set in its regional and international context It provides three analytical lenses through which the relationship might be understood Turkey as an enlargement country as an EU neighbour and as a global partner and unpacks the implications of each Turkey and the European Union focuses on the five pillars that help define the relationship economics migration security democracy and human rights and culture and identity It shows how the differing perspectives on Turkey's role can influence events and developments in these areas and it traces the profound fluctuations in relations from the Association Agreement of 1963 to the candidacy for full membership of 1999 to the limbo of today Turkey continues to be a critically important country for the European Union The relationship has consequences that are both ideational embedded in history politics identity and culture and material relating to economics energy and security In examining this complex relationship this book addresses a key issue for Europe's future and does so in a fashion that is both sophisticated and accessible

Policy-making in the European Union Helen Wallace, Mark A. Pollack, Christilla Roederer-Rynning, Alasdair R. Young, 2020 Policy making in the EU has far reaching implications for the EU's member states and citizens and for the wider world It is constantly evolving as part of this ongoing experiment in the collective governance of a multinational continent The eighth edition of this comprehensive text explores the processes institutions and modes through which policy is made before looking at key individual policies in detail New to this Edition Detailed assessments of the implications of politicization for European policy making Evaluation of the emerging consequences of the UK's departure on EU policy making New chapters on the EU's digital policy and development policy Coverage of the 2015 surge in migrants to the EU the Covid 19 pandemic and the America First foreign policy of the Trump administration Book jacket

The EU's Conceptualisation of the Rule of Law

in its External Relations Lisa Louwerse, 2023-09-04 This book explores the question of how the EU understands the rule of law in its external relations with a particular focus on development cooperation and enlargement Although the EU's commitment to the rule of law is strong the relevant concept remains nebulous On the basis of a detailed analysis of two key EU external policy areas the main argument advanced is that the Union has adopted a mostly institutional approach to the concept by focussing largely on judicial reform By testing the relevant practice against the background of the constitutional traditions of the Member States and legal theory the book attests to the significance of developing a comprehensive approach to the rule of law in EU external relations

Normative Power Europe R. Whitman, 2011-06-21 The notion of Normative Power Europe NPE is that the EU is an ideational actor characterised by common principles and acting to diffuse norms within international relations Contributors assess the impact of NPE and offer new perspectives for the future exploration of one of the most widely used ideas in the study of the EU in the last decade

Democracy Promotion and the Challenges of Illiberal Regional Powers Nelli Babayan, Thomas Risse, 2017-10-02 This book examines Western efforts at democracy promotion reactions by illiberal challengers and regional powers and political and societal conditions in target states It is argued that Western powers are not unequivocally committed to the promotion of democracy and human rights while non democratic regional powers cannot simply be described as autocracy supporters This volume examines in detail the challenges by three illiberal regional powers China Russia and Saudi Arabia to Western US and EU efforts at democracy promotion The contributions specifically analyze their actions in Ethiopia and Angola in the case of China Georgia and Ukraine in the case of Russia and Tunisia in the case of Saudi Arabia Democratic powers such as the US or the EU usually prefer stability over human rights and democracy If democratic movements threaten stability in a region neither the US nor the EU supports them As to illiberal powers they are generally not that different from their democratic counterparts They also prefer stability over turmoil Neither Russia nor China nor Saudi Arabia explicitly promote autocracy Instead they seek to suppress democratic movements in their periphery the minute these groups threaten their security interests or are perceived to endanger their regime survival This was previously published as a special issue of Democratization

Toward a North American Legal System J. McHugh, 2012-10-31 Toward a North American Legal System is a collection of scholarship that looks at a timely issue in public policy Two decades after NAFTA the team assembled by James T McHugh works through both philosophical and practical questions related to a possibly more integrated legal system on the North American continent

The European Union and the New Trade Politics JOHN PETERSON, Alasdair Young, 2013-10-18 The politics of international trade have changed dramatically over the past 20 years Advances in technology have spurred a new kind of trade involving transfers of components and materials across borders but within firms Trade in services foreign direct investment and sales by affiliates of foreign owned companies have grown more rapidly than trade in goods making national rules and regulations more significant barriers to trade The effects of non trade policies on trade have engaged new actors in trade politics not least in the European Union EU The emergence of a more active bloc of developing countries alongside a vibrant international civil society including environmental and consumer groups and ministries have made trade politics increasingly lively complex and challenging for the EU Meanwhile the World Trade Organization has become not only a primary focus for EU trade policy but also a lightning rod for protest a powerful legaliser of trade diplomacy and an arena where it is often difficult even impossible to separate private from public interests The European Union and the New Trade Politics provides a state of the art analysis of how the EU shapes and is shaped by the new trade politics This book was previously published as a special issue of The Journal of European Public Policy
