Ever Since Eve Personal Reflections On Childbirth:

Ever Since Eve Nancy Caldwell Sorel, 1985 Ever Since Eve Nancy Caldwell Sorel, 1984 Psychiatric Consultation in Childbirth Settings Ronald L. Cohen, 2012-12-06

The primary purposes of this volume are

- 1 To provide mental health practitioners with a current overview of our knowledge about normal parental development during pregnancy and its relation to fetal development with particular emphasis on the impact of acute and chronic stress on these developmental processes
- 2 To provide an understanding of the general state of the field of pregnancy and childbirth care both in conventional health systems and in alternative options
- 3 To provide an understanding of models of consultation and liaison that are adapted to the special conditions of pregnancy and childbirth care as contrasted to the more traditional modes that characterize these activities in medical and surgical hospitals

If there prove to be secondary gains as a result of pursuing these goals so much the better. The most desirable of these would be a heightening of awareness of the mental health needs of pregnant families and of the risks they incur in transition from non parenthood to parenthood and a more effective level of primary and secondary prevention of childhood mental disorders. These latter goals are more global and perhaps even a bit grandiose. Their attainment could only be documented through a series of carefully designed research projects aimed at measuring long range developmental outcome in children and families who have experienced appropriate and early intervention during the pregnancy period.

Lying-in Richard W. Wertz, Dorothy C. Wertz, 1989-01-01

This lively history of childbirth begins with colonial days when childbirth was a social event and moves on to the gradual medicalization of childbirth in America as doctors forced midwives out of business and to the home birth movement of the 1980 s. In a new chapter and epilogue Richard and Dorothy Wertz discuss the recent focus on delivering perfect babies with its emphasis on technology prenatal testing and Caesarean sections. They argue that there are many viable alternatives including out of hospital births in the search for the best birthing system. Review of the first edition. The Power of Place Dolores Hayden, 1997-02-24 Based on her extensive experience in the urban communities of Los Angeles historian and architect Dolores Hayden proposes new perspectives on gender race and ethnicity to broaden the practice of public history and public art enlarge urban preservation and reorient the writing of urban history to spatial struggles In the first part of The Power of Place Hayden outlines the elements of a social history of urban space to connect people's lives and livelihoods to the urban landscape as it changes over time. She then explores how communities and professionals can tap the power of historic urban landscapes to nurture public memory. The second part documents a decade of research and practice by The Power of Place, a nonprofit organization Hayden founded in downtown Los Angeles. Through public meetings, walking tours, artists' books, and permanent public sculpture, as well as architectural preservation teams of historians, designers, planners, and artists, they worked together to understand, preserve, and commemorate urban landscape history as African American, Latina, and Asian American families have experienced it. One project celebrates the urban homestead of Biddy Mason, an African American ex-slave and midwife active between 1856 and 1891. Another reinterprets the Embassy Theater where Rose Pesotta, Luisa Moreno, and Josefina Fierro de Bright organized Latina dressmakers and cannery workers in the 1930s and 1940s. A third chapter tells the story of a historic district where Japanese American family businesses flourished from the 1890s to the 1940s. Each project deals with bitter memories: slavery, repatriation, internment, but shows how citizens survived and persevered to build an urban life for themselves, their families, and their communities. Drawing on many similar efforts around the United States, from New York to Charleston, Seattle to Cincinnati, Hayden finds a broad new movement across urban preservation, public history, and public art to accept American diversity at the heart of the vernacular urban landscape. She provides dozens of models for creative urban history projects in cities and towns across the country.
