1976 American Alpine Journal American Alpine Club, Mountain Heroes Huw Lewis-Jones, 2011-11-22 A fascinating view of the personalities that make up the world of mountaineering from world famous explorers to native sherpas The Villain Jim Perrin, 2010-11-30 Don Whillans has an iconic significance for generations of climbers His epoch making first ascent of Annapurna s South Face achieved with Dougal Haston in 1970 remains one of the most impressive climbs ever made but behind this and all his other formidable achievements lies a tough recalcitrant reality the character of the man himself Whillans carried within himself a sense of personal invincibility forceful direct and uncompromising It gave him sporting superstar status the flawed heroism of a Best a McEnroe an Ali In his own circle his image was the working class hero on the rock face laconic and bellicose ready to go to war with the elements or with any human who crossed his path on a bad day Unjustifiable Risk? Simon Thompson, 2012-03-06 To the impartial observer Britain does not appear to have any mountains Yet the British invented the sport of mountain climbing and for two periods in history British climbers led the world in the pursuit of this beautiful and dangerous obsession Unjustifiable Risk is the story of the social economic and cultural conditions that gave rise to the sport and the achievements and motives of the scientists and poets parsons and anarchists villains and judges ascetics and drunks that have shaped its development over the past two hundred years The history of climbing inevitably reflects the wider changes that have occurred in British society including class gender nationalism and war but the sport has also contributed to changing social attitudes to nature and beauty heroism and death Over the years increasing wealth leisure and mobility have gradually transformed climbing from an activity undertaken by an eccentric and privileged minority into a sub division of the leisure and tourist industry while competition improved technology and information and increasing specialisation have helped to create climbs of unimaginable difficulty at the leading edge of the sport But while much has changed even more has remained the same Today s climbers would be instantly recognisable to their Victorian predecessors with their desire to escape from the crowded complexity of urban society and willingness to take unjustifiable risk in pursuit of beauty adventure and self fulfilment Unjustifiable Risk was shortlisted for the Boardman Tasker prize in 2011 Mixed Emotions Greg Child, 2012-08-21 Includes five previously unpublished essays Powerful prose sparked with Child s unique wit Well known for his Himalayan expeditions and first ascents on rock walls in Australia and the United States Greg Child freely admits his mixed feelings about climbing Overwhelming are the loss of friends the thrill of achievement and the soul shattering moments of risk and survival but it is precisely these experiences that compel him to write and to continue climbing In Mixed Emotions Child remembers the mountains the people and the episodes that have made him feel his life acutely including the 1986 K2 tragedy that killed 13 climbers a near fatal snakebite in his native Australia and the loss of climbing partner Pete Thexton He recalls his associations with world renowned mountaineers Doug Scott John Roskelley Voytek Kurtyka and Don Whillans Child also narrates fascinating off mountain journeys to a secluded Hindu shrine and the remote harsh landscape of the Baltoro Glacier where progress has left its indelible mark Finally Child comments on some less tangible aspects of climbing such as the ghostly presence that accompanies climbers under duress and the meanings of and inevitable meetings with death

No Place to Fall Victor Saunders, 2013-03-14 No Place to Fall is Victor Saunders's follow up to his Boardman Tasker Prize winning debut book Elusive Summits Covering three expeditions to familiar and unfamiliar ranges in Nepal the Karakoram and the Kumaon each shares the exhilaration of attempting new alpine style routes on terrifyingly committing mountains In 1989 Victor Saunders and Steve Sustad completed a difficult route on the West Face of Makalu II only to be brought to a storm bound halt above 7000 metres while descending Without food or bivouac gear they endured a tortuous descent after a night in the open Two years later the pair were with a small team in the Hunza valley exploring elusive access to a giant hidden pillar on the unvisited South East Face of Ultar one of the highest and most shapely of the world's unclimbed peaks Climbing at night to avoid being caught out by the torture of sun on ice they were a few pitches from the summit ridge on soft snow and rotten ice before equipment failure committed them to a dire descent In 1992 Victor Saunders was part of a joint Indian British team climbing various peaks in the Panch Chuli range and exploring its approaches from the west A happy and successful expedition narrowly avoided ending in tragedy when Stephen Venables broke both legs in a fall on the descent from Panch Chuli V and Chris Bonington survived another fall going to his aid The dramatic evacuation of Venables in which the author took a major part forms an exciting climax to a book which describes at first hand what it is like on the cutting edge of contemporary alpine style climbing in the world's highest mountains As well as exciting climbing action No Place to Fall offers enviable mountain exploration enriched by sharing the lives of the mountain peoples along the way Victor Saunders also casts a perceptive if bemused eye over his fellow climbers and reflects on the calculation of risk that drives them back year after year to chance their lives in high places

I Chose To Climb Chris Bonington, 2013-10-17 The early climbing years of Britain's greatest living mountaineer from his schooldays to his ascent of the Eiger in 1962 I CHOSE TO CLIMB first published in 1966 was Chris Bonington's first book He was recognised then as now as one of the outstanding members of a brilliant generation of mountaineers which included such personalities as Hamish MacInnes Don Whillans and Ian Clough Here he describes his climbing beginnings as a teenager as well as successful ascents all over the world the first ascent of the Central Pillar of Freney the first British ascent of the North Face of the Eiger in 1962 Annapurna II in 1960 and in an unhappy expedition in 1961 Nuptse the third peak of Everest The first volume of Chris Bonington's autobiography is written with a warmth and enthusiasm that he has made his own It tells of his climbing tastes and practice and of family friends and partnerships cemented over many years

Sea, Ice and Rock Chris Bonington, Robin Knox-Johnston, 2020-01-23 When leading mountaineer Sir Chris Bonington was researching Quest for Adventure his study of post war adventure he contacted Sir Robin Knox Johnston the first person to sail single handed and non stop around the world for an interview This simple request turned into an exchange of skills which then grew into a joint expedition to Greenland's unexplored Lemon Mountains. Sea Ice and Rock is the story of this epic journey. With both Bonington and Knox Johnston having little experience in the other's craft, their expedition was not without difficulty. But through one another's support, the two men and their team sailed from Britain to Greenland, going on to twice attempt the Lemon Mountain's forbidding highest peak, the Cathedral. Though their attempts ended in a dramatic descent, this could not dampen the unfailing optimism with which the two approached their task. They recount their experiences not only with appreciation for the awe-inspiring nature that surrounded them but also for one another. Layers of alternate narration between Bonington and Knox Johnston make this a truly collaborative memoir. In the same way they exchanged skills on their expedition, the two authors rely on one another's recollections to fill the gaps in their own. Full of ambition and perseverance, anyone wondering why Bonington and Knox Johnston are masters in their fields need only read Sea Ice and Rock.

Summit 8000 Andrew Lock, 2016-11-28 A thrilling memoir of the spectacular high altitude mountaineering achievements of Andrew Lock, the only Australian to have summited all fourteen 8000 metre peaks in the world, including Mount Everest twice. We learn why he does it. Why does anyone take on such a challenge, knowing how easily they might be killed? Andrew Lock gives us a gripping account of his death-defying ascents and explains his passion for climbing in small teams or solo, without Sherpas or bottled oxygen. His story is one of extraordinary passion, self-motivation, perseverance, and resilience as he leads us through his sixteen-year odyssey to achieve the Grand Slam of Himalayan mountaineering. We are taken through the victories, the near misses, and the tragedies. The intense human drama of the expeditions infuses Summit 8000 with funny, fierce, and always fascinating stories about survival, climbing rivalries, and mountaineering politics. The remote and stunning landscapes and cultures that Andrew encounters on his journeys add rich texture to his tale, culminating in his 2014 trip to Everest, where he was witness to the deadliest avalanche in the peak's history.

Fallen Giants Maurice Isserman, Stewart Angus Weaver, Dee Molenaar, 2010-01-01 In the first comprehensive history of Himalayan mountaineering in 50 years, the authors offer detailed original accounts of the most significant climbs since the 1890s and they compellingly evoke the social and cultural worlds that gave rise to those expeditions.

Mountain Guru Catherine Moorehead, 2023-10-05 Winner of the Kekoo Naoroji Award, Doug Scott was a legend among mountaineers. His expeditions undertaken over a period of five decades are unparalleled achievements. This book describes the extraordinary drama of them all, from the Himalaya to New Zealand, Patagonia, Yosemite, and Alaska. It includes his famous epic on The Ogre, one of the hardest peaks in the world to climb, his ascent of Kangchenjunga without supplementary oxygen, and his ascent with Dougal Haston of Everest in 1975. Catherine Moorehead also uncovers the elusive man behind the obsessive mountaineer. From his rumbustious youth in Nottingham through two tempestuous marriages to a secure third marriage, she shows how Scott matured in thought and action as his formidable global reputation increased. In doing so, she reveals him to be a clash of opposites: an infuriating monomaniac who took extraordinary risks yet who developed a deep interest in Buddhism and inspired widespread affection Scott spent almost as long as his climbing career in founding and developing Community Action Nepal providing schools and health posts in remote parts of Nepal where he is still much revered Doug Scott died in 2020

The Ogre Doug Scott, 2017-11-16 Some mountains are high some mountains are hard Few are both On the afternoon of 13 July 1977 having become the first climbers to reach the summit of the Ogre Doug Scott and Chris Bonington began their long descent In the minutes that followed any feeling of success from their achievement would be overwhelmed by the start of a desperate fight for survival And things would only get worse Rising to over 7 000 metres in the centre of the Karakoram the Ogre Baintha Brakk is notorious in mountaineering circles as one of the most difficult mountains to climb First summited by Scott and Bonington in 1977 on expedition with Paul Tut Braithwaite Nick Estcourt Clive Rowland and Mo Anthoine it waited almost twenty four years for a second ascent and a further eleven years for a third The Ogre by legendary mountaineer Doug Scott is a two part biography of this enigmatic peak in the first part Scott has painstakingly researched the geography and history of the mountain part two is the long overdue and very personal account of his and Bonington s first ascent and their dramatic week long descent on which Scott suffered two broken legs and Bonington smashed ribs Using newly discovered diaries letters and audio tapes it tells of the heroic and selfless roles played by Clive Rowland and Mo Anthoine When the desperate climbers finally made it back to base camp they were to find it abandoned and themselves still a long way from safety The Ogre is undoubtedly one of the greatest adventure stories of all time

The Future Past of Tourism Ian Yeoman, Una McMahon-Beattie, 2019-12-06 This book offers a critical account of the historical evolution of tourism through the identification and discussion of key turning points Based on these considerations future turning points are identified and evaluated The volume provides a continuum between the past and future of tourism Its central themes are the globalisation of tourism the development of destinations the importance of mobility and transport the development of the modern hotel the diversification of niche tourism and the conceptualisation of the past and future of tourism using the evolutionary paradigm in future studies The core findings of the book provide the first perspective on how the history of tourism will shape its future

K2: Triumph And Tragedy Jim Curran, 2013-04-11 K2 is the second highest mountain in the world at 8611 metres only a couple of hundred metres lower than Everest It is one of the most unrelenting and testing of the worlds 8000 metre peaks Jim Curran came to K2 as a climbing cameraman with an unsuccessful British expedition but stayed on through the climbing season This is his account of the dramatic events of that summer a story of ambitions both achieved and thwarted on a mountain which all high altitude climbers take the most pride in overcoming In 1986 K2 took its toll of those ambitions Curran vividly describes the moments that contribute to the exhilaration of climbing on the world s most demanding mountain and he assesses the tragedy of that summer with compassion and impartiality

Alpine Warriors Bernadette McDonald, 2015-09-21 From internationally renowned mountain historian Bernadette McDonald comes a highly readable intense and exciting look at the explosion of Slovenian alpinism in the context of that country's turbulent political history. After the Second World War a period of relative calm began in Josip Broz Tito's Yugoslavia. During the next thirty years citizens could travel freely if they had the money. Most did not but alpinists did. Through elaborate training regimes and state supported expeditions abroad Yugoslavian alpinists began making impressive climbs in the Himalaya as early as 1960. By the 70s they were ascending the 8000ers. These teams were dominated by Slovenian climbers since their region includes the Julian Alps a fiercely steep range of limestone peaks that provided the ideal training ground. After Tito died in 1980 however the calm ended. Inter ethnic conflict and economic decline ripped Yugoslavia apart. But Serbian strongman Slobodan Milošević misread the courage and character of several Yugoslavian states including Slovenia and by 1991 Slovenia was independent. The new country continued its support for climbers and success bred success. By 1995 all of the 8000ers had been climbed by Slovenian teams. And in the next ten years some of the most dramatic and futuristic climbs were made by these ferocious alpinists. Apart from a few superstars most of these amazing athletes remain unknown in the West.

Tibet's Secret Mountain Chris Bonington, Charles Clarke, 2020-05-21. For Chris Bonington and Charles Clarke long time friends and expedition partners few mountains were more alluring than Sepu Kangri. Known locally as the Great White Snow God Tibet's nearly 7 000 metre mountain had never before been visited by Westerners. Armed only with a tourist map for reference the two set off for this elusive peak in 1996. In the reconnaissance and two expeditions that followed neither of them were expecting to be profoundly impacted by their experiences. However they not only met their match in Sepu Kangri but both found their expertise pushed to the limit. While Clarke acted as a travelling doctor treating myriad ailments encountered along the way including a life saving diagnosis of an ectopic pregnancy Bonington's love of technology saw him testing out cutting edge satellite phones and computers allowing them to communicate with the outside world for the first time on an expedition. Tibet's Secret Mountain is a story of discovery as much as it is an account of the expeditions and it is this that sets it apart from other mountaineering memoirs. The focus not only on the climbing itself but the experiences people and tensions that accompany it offers a poignancy that anyone with a love of adventure will identify with. Beautifully written and full of unfailing cheer Tibet's Secret Mountain is Bonington and Clarke's love letter to mountaineering.
