

The background of the cover is a historical painting. It depicts a coastal town, likely Everett, Washington, in the early 20th century. In the foreground, a large, dark, leafless tree trunk and its branches frame the right side of the image. Below the tree, several small, rustic wooden houses with gabled roofs are clustered together. In the middle ground, a body of water, possibly a harbor or bay, is visible. On the left side of the water, a prominent white lighthouse with a dark top stands on a small island or point. Several other buildings, including a larger white house with a red roof and a blue building, are scattered along the waterfront. In the background, a range of mountains or hills is visible under a pale sky. The overall color palette is muted, with earthy tones and soft lighting, characteristic of early 20th-century historical art.
