Every Woman Loves A Russian Poet:

Every Woman Loves a Russian Poet Elizabeth Dunkel, 1989 This novel reveals the life of today's single woman as it has never been revealed before the hope and desperation the highs and lows the success at career and the struggle to find happiness with a man Kate Ordinokov's search for a man takes her across two continents before she discovers that only by loving the wrong man can she discover how to love the right one Reinventing Romantic Poetry Diana Greene, 2004-01-15 Reinventing Romantic Poetry offers a new look at the Russian literary scene in the nineteenth century While celebrated poets such as Aleksandr Pushkin worked within a male centered Romantic aesthetic the poet as a bard or sexual conqueror nature as a mother or mistress the poet's muse as an idealized woman Russian women attempting to write Romantic poetry found they had to reinvent poetic conventions of the day to express themselves as women and as poets Comparing the poetry of fourteen men and fourteen women from this period Diana Greene revives and redefines the women's writings and offers a thoughtful examination of the sexual politics of reception and literary reputation The fourteen women considered wrote poetry in every genre from visions to verse tales from love lyrics to metaphysical poetry as well as prose works and plays Greene delves into the reasons why their writing was dismissed focusing in particular on the work of Evdokiia Rostopchina Nadezhda Khvoshchinskaia and Karolina Pavlova Greene also considers class as a factor in literary reputation comparing canonical male poets with the work of other men whose work like the women's was deemed inferior at the time The book also features an appendix of significant poems by Russian women discussed in the text Some found in archival notebooks are published here for the first time and others are reprinted for the first time since the mid nineteenth century Russian

Bullock, 2017-07-05 Philip Ross Bullock looks at the life and works of Rosa Newmarch 1857-1940 the leading authority on Russian music and culture in late nineteenth and early twentieth century England Although Newmarch's work and influence are often acknowledged most particularly by scholars of English poetry and of the role of women in English music the full range of her ideas and activities has yet to be studied As an inveterate traveller prolific author and polyglot friend of some of Europe's leading musicians such as Elgar Sibelius and Jank Newmarch deserves to be better appreciated On the basis of both published and archival materials the details of Newmarch's busy life are traced in an opening chapter followed by an overview of English interest in Russian culture around the turn of the century a period which saw a long standing Russophobia largely political and military challenged by a more passionate and well informed interest in the arts Three chapters then deal with the features that characterize Newmarch's engagement with Russian culture and society and more significantly perhaps which she also championed in her native England nationalism the role of the intelligentsia and feminism

In each case Newmarch's interest in Russia was no mere instance of ethnographic curiosity rather her observations about and passion for Russia were translated into a commentary on the state of contemporary English cultural and social life Her interest in nationalism was based on the conviction that each country deserved an art of its own Her call for artists and intellectuals to play a vital role in the cultural and social life of the country illustrated how her Russian experiences could map onto the liberal values of Victorian England And her feminism was linked to the idea that women could exercise roles of authority and influence in society through participation in the arts A final chapter considers how her late interest in the music of Czechoslovakia

Twentieth-Century Russian Poetry Katharine Hodgson, Joanne Shelton, Alexandra Smith, 2017-04-21 The canon of Russian poetry has been reshaped since the fall of the Soviet Union A multi-authored study of changing cultural memory and identity this revisionary work charts Russia's shifting relationship to its own literature in the face of social upheaval Literary canon and national identity are inextricably tied together the composition of a canon being the attempt to single out those literary works that best express a nation's culture This process is of course fluid and subject to significant shifts particularly at times of epochal change This volume explores changes in the canon of twentieth century Russian poetry from the 1991 collapse of the Soviet Union to the end of Putin's second term as Russian President in 2008 In the wake of major institutional changes such as the abolition of state censorship and the introduction of a market economy the way was open for wholesale reinterpretation of twentieth century poets such as Iosif Brodskii Anna Akhmatova and Osip Mandelstam their works and their lives In the last twenty years many critics have discussed the possibility of various coexisting canons rooted in official and non official literature and suggested replacing the term Soviet literature with a new definition Russian literature of the Soviet period Contributions to this volume explore the multiple factors involved in reshaping the canon understood as a body of literary texts given exemplary or representative status as classics Among factors which may influence the composition of the canon are educational institutions competing views of scholars and critics including figures outside Russia and the self canonising activity of poets themselves Canon revision further reflects contemporary concerns with the destabilising effects of emigration and the internet and the desire to reconnect with pre revolutionary cultural traditions through a narrative of the past which foregrounds continuity Despite persistent nostalgic yearnings in some quarters for a single canon the current situation is defiantly diverse balancing both the Soviet literary tradition and the parallel contemporaneous literary worlds of the emigration and the underground Required reading for students teachers and lovers of Russian literature Twentieth Century Russian Poetry brings our understanding of post Soviet Russia up to date

An Outline of Russian Literature Maurice Baring, 2024-01-05 Excerpt The chief difficulty which

Englishmen have experienced in writing about Russia has up till quite lately been the prevailing ignorance of the English public with regard to all that concerns Russian affairs A singularly intelligent Russian who is connected with the Art Theatre at Moscow said to me that he feared the new interest taken by English intellectuals with regard to Russian literature and Russian art He was delighted of course that they should be interested in Russian affairs but he feared their interest was in danger of being crystallized in a false shape and directed into erroneous channels This ignorance will always remain until English people go to Russia and learn to know the Russian people at first hand It is not enough to be acquainted with a certain number of Russian writers I say a certain number advisedly because although it is true vi that such writers as Tolstoy and Turgenev have long been naturalized in England it is equally true that some of the greatest and most typical of Russian authors have not yet been translated There is in England no complete translation of Pushkin This is much the same as though there were in Russia no complete translation of Shakespeare or Milton I do not mean by this that Pushkin is as great a poet as Shakespeare or Milton but I do mean that he is the most national and the most important of all Russian writers There is no translation of Saltykov the greatest of Russian satirists there is no complete translation of Leskov one of her greatest novelists while Russian criticism and philosophy as well as almost the whole of Russian poetry is completely beyond the ken of England The knowledge of what Russian civilisation with its glorious fruit of literature consists in is still a sealed book so far as England is concerned

Engendering Slavic Literatures Pamela Chester, Sibelan Elizabeth S. Forrester, 1996
Engendering Slavic Literatures breaks new ground in its investigation of gender and feminist issues in Croatian Polish Russian Serbian and Ukrainian literary texts by both female and male writers Drawing on psychoanalytic approaches film theory and lesbian and gender theory the authors interrogate the received notions of Western gender studies to see which can be usefully applied to nineteenth and twentieth century Slavic literary works Motherhood and the relationships of mothers and daughters the myths of selfhood that shape the autobiographies of Nadezhda Mandelstam Marina Tsvetaeva Lidiia Ginzburg and Lev Tolstoy Polish Catholicism and sexuality portrayals of landscape in verbal and visual art and women writers transgressive ventures into male bastions such as the love lyric and prose fiction are among the themes of this important and innovative volume

Russian Literature Kropotkin Peter Kropotkin, 2021-02-15 Introduction by George Woodcock
In this work Peter Kropotkin is propounding the thesis that in Russia literature occupies a unique position because it is the only way of reflecting the real currents of intellectual development and of underground political opinion The consequence he feels has been that the best minds of the country have chosen the poem the novel the satire or literary criticism as the medium for expressing their aspirations their conceptions of national life and their ideals Concentrating on content rather than on form on intention rather than achievement Russian Literature provides a fair and comprehensive introduction to Russian writing up to the end of the nineteenth century Almost every poet and prose writer of any significance is discussed Pushkin Lermontoff Gogol Turgeneff Tolstoy Dostoyevsky and every class of literature is included criticism as well as novels and political writings as well as poetry Table of Contents Preface The Pronunciation of Russian Names An Introduction by George Woodcock Chapter I Introduction Chapter II Pushkin and Lermontoff Chapter III Gogol Chapter IV Turgeneff Tolstoy Chapter V Gontcharoff Dostoyevskiy Nekrasoff Chapter VI The Drama Chapter VII The Folk Novelists Chapter VIII Political Literature Satire Art Criticism Later Period Novelists Bibliographical Notes Appendices Index 1991 385 pages index

A History of Russian Literature Andrew Kahn, Mark Naumovich Lipovetskiy, Irina Reyfman, Stephanie Sandler, 2018 Russia possesses one of the richest and most admired literatures of Europe reaching back to the eleventh century A History of Russian Literature provides a comprehensive account of Russian writing from its earliest origins in the monastic works of Kiev up to the present day still rife with the creative experiments of post Soviet literary life The volume proceeds chronologically in five parts extending from Kievan Rus in the 11th century to the present day The coverage strikes a balance between extensive overview and in depth thematic focus Parts are organized thematically in chapters which a number of keywords that are important literary concepts that can serve as connecting motifs and case studies in depth discussions of writers institutions and texts that take the reader up close and Visual material also underscores the interrelation of the word and image at a number of points particularly significant in the medieval period and twentieth century The History addresses major continuities and discontinuities in the history of Russian literature across all periods and in particular bring out trans historical features that contribute to the notion of a national literature The volume s time range has the merit of identifying from the early modern period a vital set of national stereotypes and popular folklore about boundaries space Holy Russia and the charismatic king that offers culturally relevant material to later writers This volume delivers a fresh view on a series of key questions about Russia s literary history by providing new mappings of literary history and a narrative that pursues key concepts rather more than individual authorial careers This holistic narrative underscores the ways in which context and text are densely woven in Russian literature and demonstrates that the most exciting way to understand the canon and the development of tradition is through a discussion of the interrelation of major and minor figures historical events and literary politics literary theory and literary innovation

Russian Love Stories Nadezhda L. Peterson, 2009 Russian Love Stories offers a broad range of narrative styles philosophical agendas and points of view from writers who insist on making love be it familial love or between strangers carnal or platonic real or imagined central in the lives of their characters Although all the authors represented were born in the Soviet period each was molded by a particular set of shared practices and beliefs and all offer a distinctive perspective on their experience The selections are evenly divided between men and women writers and those working in Russia or abroad This anthology is anchored in the period from the middle of the twentieth century to the present offering the reader an insider s view of Soviet and post Soviet life Yet the writer s position sometimes from within that time sometimes from the perspective of a backward glance at the past is emphatically that of an outsider
