European Hegemony And African Resistance 1880 1990 Studies In African Economic And Social Developm:

European Hegemony and African Resistance, 1880-1990 Charles Ohiri Chikeka, 2004 The main thrust of this study is that throughout the process of partition African nations tried hard to check the tidal wave of European assault What served as the decisive factor in these encounters were the superiority of Europeans weapons in addition to such factors as fraudulent treaties of friendship the role of missionaries and traders divide and conquer strategies and direct military interventions

The Political Economy of Corruption in Sierra Leone Kelfala Morana Kallon, 2004 The main theme of this work is that Sierra Leone's problem of endemic corruption is due to the fact that the net benefit from corruption has been consistently positive and high through much of the post independence period and that economic analysis offers insights into the problem of corruption

Cultural Reflections and the Role of Advertising in the Socio-economic and National Development of Nigeria Emmanuel C. Alozie, 2005 This study focuses on the role of advertising in the process of social mobilization and modernization in Nigeria by examining the cultural reflections the nature and characteristics of the messages and the values and symbols conveyed in Nigerian mass media advertisements In this remarkable study Emmanuel C Alozie has attempted to explore the role of advertising in the national and economic development of Nigeria Examining this role through a combination of quantitative content analysis and critical cultural methods he has pursued a number of basic research questions For example one question asks what proportion of the advertisements in Nigerian mass media is directed to business entities as opposed to ordinary consumers The answer he provides presents an interesting perspective on advertising's role His research also found that most ads were product related and less than a third of the ads were related to service one indication of the relative underdevelopment of the economy Ads also promoted largely nonessential products and services to the tune of 65 per cent developing country like Nigeria the multitiered government agencies would provide a major share of the media advertising In reality only a tiny proportion about 5 per cent actually came from government sources the rest of the advertising was provided by the national and multinational corporations Alozie also found that Nigerian sponsors tend to promote goods of foreign origin over those of Nigerian derivative Overall he found that less than half the products and services advertised 42 per cent were of Nigerian origin with much of the products nonessential in nature Advertising messages with embedded appeals have the potential of manipulating consumers and promoting unproductive consumption habits among consumers in a situation of scarcity Therefore the appeals that are used in the advertising content become an important issue in a developing nation like Nigeria Alozie did not find extensive use of the image youth and sex appeals in the ads so prevalent in the West even though some of these appeals were found to have crept into the content primary selling point In addition emphasis was on savings family and safety for products regardless of whether the ads featured high involvement or low involvement products and services For decades policy makers in the developing world have debated the need for using mass media for human resource moralization by emphasizing developmental themes To what extent Nigerian ads contain developmental themes is a question Alozie explores He finds that some ads do contain developmental themes such as savings self development modernization investment hard work competition etc These themes however appear rather infrequently Financial institutions emphasize developmental themes while manufacturing enterprises do not The author underscores the need for the government to encourage private and public corporations to include developmental themes in their advertising messages to promote individual as well as communal or collective interests messages the author draws some broad conclusions that provide significant insight into Nigeria s prevailing advertising scene For example he concludes that the degree of information on products and services available in the country is inadequate because of low level advertising Even though developmental themes are employed in advertising messages the sparsity of their use is not likely to promote national development Broadcast advertisements are more democratic than those in the print media primarily because they promote products and services more affordable to the average consumer In general consumer products advertised in Nigeria are frequently of foreign origin and therefore they are targeted to the elite who can afford the expensive nonessential products The author recognizes the value and need for advertising that can disseminate not only beneficial information about products and services but can also serve as an effective tool in government s hands to promote information on significant social and developmental issues and policies that will affect the public scholars and researchers have contributed to the sizeable existing literature on development few have examined advertising as a meaningful means of communication for developmental messages and values Through his study Alozie has attempted to fill this void Students and scholars with an interest in the media of developing nations will find the articulation of the various theories concerning socio economic development quite stimulating But more importantly by answering a range of significant questions about the nature and types of advertising messages published or aired in the Nigerian mass media discussing what themes and values they contain and how relevant they are or influence the developmental goals of the nation the author offers a study that is useful insightful and rewarding The British National

Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2005 2004 Massimo Mastrogregori,2013-10-10 Annually published since 1930 the International Bibliography of Historical Sciences IBOHS is an international bibliography of the most important historical monographs and periodical articles published throughout the world which deal with history from the earliest to the most recent times The IBOHS is thus currently the only continuous bibliography of its kind covering such a broad period of time spectrum of subjects and geographical range The works are arranged systematically according period region or historical discipline and alphabetically according to authors names or in the case of anonymous works by the characteristic main title word The bibliography contains a geographical index and indexes of persons and authors American Book Publishing Record ,2003 Historical Abstracts ,2000 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century Gary L. Gaile,Cort J. Willmott,2005 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century surveys American geographers current research in their specialty areas and tracks trends and innovations in the many subfields of geography. As such, it is both a state of the discipline assessment and a topical reference. It includes an introduction by the editors and 47 chapters each on a specific specialty. The authors of each chapter were chosen by their specialty group of the American Association of Geographers (AAG). Based on a process of review and revision, the chapters in this volume have become truly representative of the recent scholarship of American geographers. While it focuses on work since 1990, it additionally includes related prior work and work by non-American geographers. The initial Geography in America was published in 1989 and has become a benchmark reference of American geographical research during the 1980s. This latest volume is completely new and features a preface written by the eminent geographer Gilbert White.

Historical Abstracts Eric H. Boehm, 2000 Africa as a Living Laboratory Helen Tilley, 2011-04-15 Tropical Africa was one of the last regions of the world to experience formal European colonialism, a process that coincided with the advent of a range of new scientific specialties and research methods. Africa as a Living Laboratory is a far-reaching study of the thorny relationship between imperialism and the role of scientific expertise—environmental, medical, racial, and anthropological—in the colonization of British Africa. A key source for Helen Tilley's analysis is the African Research Survey, a project undertaken in the 1930s to explore how modern science was being applied to African problems. This project both embraced and recommended an interdisciplinary approach to research on Africa that Tilley argues underscored the heterogeneity of African environments and the interrelations among the problems being studied. While the aim of British colonialists was unquestionably to transform and modernize Africa, their efforts, Tilley contends, were often unexpectedly subverted by scientific concerns with the local and vernacular. Meticulously researched and gracefully argued, Africa as a Living Laboratory transforms our understanding of imperial history, colonial development, and the role science played in both.

Explaining Global Poverty Branwen Gruffydd Jones, 2007-01-24 The twenty-first century is characterized by extremes of poverty and wealth, of scarcity and abundance. The vast inequalities of wealth distribution between the developed west and the impoverished developing world is a complex problem. This book recognizes that Africa, in particular, has manifested this global disgrace and symbolizes the nature of poverty to the western world. In order to truly emancipate the poverty-stricken around the world, we must necessarily understand the reasons for its existence. In a departure from traditional critical realist theory, Gruffydd Jones argues the benefits of reassessing the relevance of objective inquiry and emphasizes its primacy over normative theory in the battle to truly understand the reasons for the African crisis. This approach brings us a book of real relevance for inequality in the modern world and gives us an important platform from which to move forwards in the fight against poverty.

Colonial Hegemony and Popular Resistance Hira Singh, 1998-09-22 The historiography of colonialism in India has by and large ignored princely India and instead the inferences drawn from British India are generally applied to the whole of the country. This book makes a strong case for an agrarian history of India that will give due place to princely India. In the process, the author refutes the established theories of imperialist and nationalist historians dependency theorists theorists of the colonial mode of production and subaltern studies Based on considerable archival research and the author's personal acquaintance with the region and its people this important book provides an alternative to existing approaches The Power of Apartheid Jennifer Robinson,1996 Although there have been momentous changes in South Africa's recent political history the spatial remnants of apartheid and the planning ideas which underpinned it remain to confound post apartheid city planners This book draws on detailed case study material from one South African town Port Elizabeth to illustrate the relationship between the state power economy and spatial practices The racialised character of the urban order which emerged under apartheid meant that together with the routine capacities of the state to govern the domination of African people and their exclusion from political power were also effectively secured by means of the spatial organisation of the city Aspects of the strong relationship between modernity and racism are teased out in this study of the South African city as are the general links between spatial form and state power This book demands attention from everyone concerned with the spatial politics of urban development The Global Resistance Reader Louise Amoore,2005 The Global Resistance Reader provides the first comprehensive collection of work on the phenomenal rise of transnational social movements and resistance politics from the visible struggles against the financial economic and political authority of large international organizations such as the World Trade Organization World Bank and International Monetary Fund to the much less visible acts of resistance in everyday life The conceptual debates substantive themes and case studies have been selected to open up the idea of global resistance to interrogation and discussion by students and to provide a one stop orientation for researchers journalists policymakers and activists

Sociological Abstracts Leo P. Chall,2004 CSA Sociological Abstracts abstracts and indexes the international literature in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences The database provides abstracts of journal articles and citations to book reviews drawn from over 1 800 serials publications and also provides abstracts of books book chapters dissertations and conference papers Madness, Cannabis and Colonialism J. Mills,2000-07-11 This fascinating entertaining and often gruelling book by James Mills examines the lunatic asylums set up by the British in nineteenth century India The author asserts that there was a growth in asylums following the Indian Mutiny fuelled by the fear of itinerant and dangerous individuals which existed primarily in the British imagination Once established though these asylums which were staffed by Indians and populated by Indians quickly became arenas in which the designs of the British were contested and confronted Mills argues that power is everywhere and is behind every action colonial power is therefore just another way to assert control over the less powerful This social history draws on official archives and documents based in Scotland England and India This book is essential reading for anyone interested in history sociology or the general interest reader America, History and Life ,2007 Article abstracts and citations of reviews and dissertations covering the United States and Canada Global Political Economy John Ravenhill,2017 Global Political Economy offers a comprehensive introduction to the field by combining theory history and contemporary issues and debates The authors who are all leading international experts introduce readers to the diversity of perspectives in GPE through chapters that combine careful analysis with detailed empirical material New to this edition A rewritten chapter on the Global Trade Regime by Professor Ann Capling and Dr Silke Trommer Increased coverage of the rise of new actors especially the BRICs and the role of developing economies in global governance from back cover

From Conflict to Coalition Adam Dean, 2016-09-08 International trade often inspires intense conflict between workers and their employers In this book Adam Dean studies the conditions under which labor and capital collaborate in support of the same trade policies Dean argues that capital labor agreement on trade policy depends on the presence of profit sharing institutions He tests this theory through case studies from the United States Britain and Argentina in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries they offer a revisionist history placing class conflict at the center of the political economy of trade Analysis of data from more than one hundred countries from 1986 to 2002 demonstrates that the field's conventional wisdom systematically exaggerates the benefits that workers receive from trade policy reforms From Conflict to Coalition boldly explains why labor is neither an automatic beneficiary nor an automatic ally of capital when it comes to trade policy and distributional conflict
