European Integration And Income Convergence Lessons For Central And Eastern European Countries:

European Integration and Income Convergence Carmela Martín, 2001 The prospect of enlarging the European Union EU to Central and Eastern European countries with income levels far below those of present members questions how and when the candidates aspiration to converge towards EU standards of living could possibly be fulfilled To address these questions this paper seeks to assess of the convergence experience of the four less developed EU members i.e. Spain Portugal Ireland and Greece after joining the EU and to explore what lessons can be learned from that experience The discussion suggests that while theoretically possible there is little empirical reason to fear that European integration would cause economies to diverge Rather than being spontaneous however real convergence would seem to depend crucially on the capacity of countries to tap international technological spillovers particularly through foreign direct investment Macroeconomic stability effective competition on goods and factor markets and a good human capital endowment are essential to harness benefits Nonetheless lingering worries about the possibility that integration would lead to real divergence between countries or regions of Europe has led to the creation of large transfers under the EU's Regional Policy Pending more conclusive evidence of their effectiveness the candidate countries would seem wise to put greater store by those domestic policies than by EU grants to fuel their convergence

Balkan and Eastern European Countries in the Midst of the Global Economic Crisis Anastasios Karasavoglou, Persefoni Polychronidou, 2012-07-26 The world is changing rapidly The global economic crisis has called into question the political decisions that have been made by all countries for decades and has led to a re formulation of tools and aims Adjustments to the new situation are necessary and entail considerable economic and social costs The Balkan and Black Sea area is an important reference point for the European and global economy Accordingly the study of the economic development in the area is of great interest engaging politicians and scientists alike Under this framework the matter of the relation between the area's countries and the EU the role of the banking system and the importance of the primary sector of the economy as an important developmental factor for the countries economies are of great importance

European Integration, Regional Policy, and Growth Bernard Funck, Lodovico Pizzati, 2003 This publication contains a number of papers presented by leading academics policy makers and practitioners from existing and new EU member countries at a conference in Barcelona in October 2002 These papers discuss key issues regarding the effectiveness of attempts to reduce regional disparities with the EU and the implications of current enlargement including the trade offs between promoting national growth and reducing relative disparities the role of growth poles the investment climate and labour market flexibility the role of the EU and regional policy overall

An Agenda for a Growing Europe André Sapir, Philippe Aghion, Giuseppe Bertola, Martin Hellwig, Jean Pisani-Ferry, Dariusz Rosati, José Viñals, Helen Wallace, Marco Buti, Mario Nava, Peter M. Smith, 2004-03-04 Over the past decade European economic integration has seen considerable institutional success but the economic performance of the EU has been varied

While macroeconomic stability has improved and an emphasis on cohesion preserved the EU economic system has not delivered satisfactory growth performance This book is the report of a high level group commissioned by the President of the European Commission to review the EU economic system and propose a blueprint for an economic system capable of delivering faster growth along with stability and cohesion It assesses the EU's economic performance examines the challenges facing the EU in the coming years and presents a series of recommendations The report views Europe's unsatisfactory growth performance during the last decades as a symptom of its failure to transform into an innovation based economy It has now become clear that the context in which economic policies have been developed has changed fundamentally over the past thirty years A system built around the assimilation of existing technologies mass production generating economies of scale and an industrial structure dominated by large firms with stable markets and long term employment patterns no longer delivers in the world of today characterized by economic globalization and strong external competition What is needed now is more opportunity for new entrants greater mobility of employees within and across firms more retraining greater reliance on market financing and higher investment in both R D and higher education This requires a massive and urgent change in economic policies in Europe

The Changing Economic Geography of Globalization Giovanna Vertova, 2006-04-20 The process of globalization has had profound often destabilizing effects on space at all levels i.e. local regional national international This revealing book analyzes both theoretically and empirically the effects of globalization over space It considers through a dialogue among different paradigms the ways in which space has become more important in the global economy Globalization has been advocated as a way of shrinking time and space which will lead to a homogenized global market a suggestion challenged in differing ways and with a variety of approaches by all the contributors to this volume Leading authorities from a range of disciplines are represented amongst this impressive list of contributors including Eric Sheppard Bjørn Asheim Richard Walker and Peter Swann The chapters demonstrate persuasively the continuing and even increasing role of space in the global economy and throughout the book covers viewpoints from the fields of international political economy economic geography regional and local economics This impressive volume which contains a selection of the best in contemporary scholarship will be of interest to the international arena of academicians policy makers and professionals in these or related fields

Latvia's Macroeconomic Options in the Medium Term Célestin Monga, 2004

Albania International Monetary Fund. European Dept., 2017-12-13 This paper explores Albania's current account CA deficit that improved in 2016 but remains sizable The EBA Lite model results indicate that the external position is moderately weaker than implied by fundamentals and desirable policy settings Adjusting for Albania's specific circumstances the current account gap is estimated at 1.0 percent and the real effective exchange rate is overvalued by about 6 percent reflecting Albania's low national saving and large FDI inflows Though Albania has benefitted from the recent tourism boom in the region the outlook for exports remains challenging Despite its cost competitiveness exports are narrowly concentrated in a few low value added sectors while new investments in the nonenergy tradable sector are limited To close Albania s competitiveness gap and strengthen its external position the authorities should complete key infrastructure projects to reduce transportation costs and address energy sector reliability increase domestic savings improve governance and the rule of law and raise labor market efficiency by reducing skills shortages Innovation and Business Partnering in Japan, Europe and the United States Ruth Taplin,2006-10-19 Innovation studies and partnering collaborative alliances are rapidly growing areas of interest Originally combining the two areas this book examines the role of business partnering as a pathway to innovation for small and medium enterprises SMEs This text outlines global and regional trends focusing in particular on the role of Poland and Eastern Europe as an emerging region for new innovative ideas how innovation is promoted in the United States and how it is facilitated in Japan It assesses the reasons why American SMEs are significantly ahead of their European counterparts in the fields of research and development investment and innovation and demonstrates how business partnering can assist in increasing research and development investment profit finding new suppliers and aiding growth In addition the book shows how business partners can cut the costs of doing research for innovation and analyzes the threat that poorly constructed and over burdensome regulation and bureaucracy pose to innovation This book is a timely contribution to the literature on both innovation and business partnering in Japan Europe and the United States Reforms in Albanian

Agriculture Severin Kodderitzsch,1999-01-01 Agriculture provides the livelihood to 60% of the Albanian population Even though it is still fairly primitive and it will never probably ensure self sufficiency in major agricultural commodities it represents a useful shock absorber in the current situation of economic and social unrest Since it started its transition to a market economy in 1991 Albania has carried out major reforms in the agricultural sector at large achieving remarkable increases both in output and total factor productivity However more needs to be done to reduce rural poverty stop environmental degradation and increase integration with regional and international economies The paper provides an overview of the different policy and institutional aspects that will need to be considered for a balanced outcome

African countries Montenegro International Monetary Fund. European Dept.,2018-05-21 This Selected Issues paper analyzes the long term growth prospects and the output gap in Montenegro Historical growth in Montenegro was driven mostly by capital with some contribution from labor while total factor productivity TFP contributed negatively Going forward in the baseline growth accounting framework with no reforms employment will likely have a slightly negative contribution because of demographic dynamics unless both labor force participation and unemployment improve significantly The highway project will contribute to capital accumulation in the near term but the contribution from capital accumulation will likely fall despite relatively high investment ratios Based on historical performance the contribution from TFP is likely limited and constitutes the main bottleneck for long term growth prospects in the no reform baseline Emerging Market

Economies Grzegorz W. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
