Elizabeth Anne Clewett Price

European Wet Grassland Guidelines For Management And Rehabilitation:

European Wet Grassland Phil Benstead, 1999 This book takes a Northern and Central European overview of the importance of wet grassland to both wildlife and people and concentrates on the practical aspects of management and rehabilitation It consists mainly of case studies from around Northern and Central Europe and aims to share practical management experience with the region It comprises four main sections that deal with biodiversity threats existing conservation framework and opportunities for the future conservation planning management techniques and case studies

Conservation Monitoring in Freshwater Habitats Clive Hurford, Michael Schneider, Ian Cowx, 2009-12-09 As in the terrestrial environment most data collection from freshwater habitats to date falls into the survey surveillance or research categories The critical difference between these exercises and a monitoring project is that a monitoring project will clearly identify when we need to make a management response A Model for Conservation Management and Monitoring Monitoring as defined by Hellawell is essentially a tool of practical conservation management and Fig 1 1 shows a simple but effective model for nature conservation management and monitoring The need for clear decision making is implicit in this model First we must decide what would represent a favourable state for the key habitat or species and then we must decide when to intervene if the state is or becomes unfavourable A third often overlooked but equally important decision concerns when we would consider the habitat or species to have recovered this is unlikely to be the same point that we became concerned about it This decision not only has resource implications it can also have major implications for other habitats and species prey species are an obvious example All of these decisions are essential to the development of an efficient and effective monitoring project

River Science David J. Gilvear, Malcolm T. Greenwood, Martin C. Thoms, Paul J. Wood, 2016-03-03 River Science is a rapidly developing interdisciplinary field at the interface of the natural sciences engineering and socio political sciences It recognises that the sustainable management of contemporary rivers will increasingly require new ways of characterising them to enable engagement with the diverse range of stakeholders This volume represents the outcome of research by many of the authors and their colleagues over the last 40 years and demonstrates the integral role that River Science now plays in underpinning our understanding of the functioning of natural ecosystems and how societal demands and historic changes have affected these systems The book will inform academics policy makers and society in general of the benefits of healthy functioning riverine systems and will increase awareness of the wide range of ecosystem goods and services they provide

Murphy, 2017-05-18 Ecological restoration is a rapidly evolving discipline that is engaged with developing both methodologies and strategies for repairing damaged and polluted ecosystems and environments During the last decade the rapid pace of climate change coupled with continuing habitat destruction and the spread of non native species to new habitats has forced restoration ecologists to re evaluate their goals and the methods they use This comprehensive handbook brings together an internationally respected group of established and rising experts in the field The book begins with a description of current practices and the state of knowledge in particular areas of restoration and then identifies new directions that will help the field achieve increasing levels of future success Part I provides basic background about ecological and environmental restoration Part II systematically reviews restoration in key ecosystem types located throughout the world In Part III management and policy issues are examined in detail offering the first comprehensive treatment of policy relevance in the field while Part IV looks to the future Ultimately good ecological restoration depends upon a combination of good science policy planning and outreach all issues that are addressed in this unrivalled volume

The Wet Grassland Guide Phil Benstead,1997 In the UK there are some 1 5 million hectares of low lying land much of which has the potential to be wet grassland Most has been drained and improved for agriculture only 109 500 hectares support breeding waders There are 32 RDB candidate RDB species of birds which depend or partly depend on lowland wet grassland In addition some 500 of the 1500 British vascular plant species and large numbers of invertebrate may be found in this habitat

Guidelines for Native Seed Production and Grassland Restoration Kathrin Kiehl, Anita Kirmer, Nancy Shaw,2014-06-19 World wide the degradation and destruction of both natural and traditionally used semi natural ecosystems is drastically increasing Unfortunately commercial seed mixtures consisting of non native species and genetically uniform cultivars are widely used in grassland restoration often with negative effects on biodiversity Therefore native species should be used in the ecological restoration of natural and semi natural vegetation This book compiles results from recent studies presented at a Special Session Native seed production and use in restoration projects which was organised during the 8th European Conference on Ecological Restoration in esk Bud jovice Czech Republic The authors review the ecological and genetic aspects of seed propagation and species introduction both from a European and an American perspective and discuss implications for the development of seed zones and for native seed production Examples from different countries focus on native seed production in practice and suggest different approaches for the certification of seed provenance Best practice examples from Europe and the United States are used to indicate the advantages of using native seeds for ecological restoration of grasslands field margins and sagebrush steppe Finally this volume also provides guidelines for the successful implementation of restoration projects for local authorities landscape planners and NGOs in order to bridge gaps between research and practice

European Wet Grasslands Chris B. Joyce, P. Max Wade,1998-06-11 This text examines the status and biodiversity of European lowland wet grasslands giving information on their hydrology and management particularly with regard to conservation objectives and investigations that have taken place

Lowland Grassland and Heathland Habitats Elizabeth Anne Clewett Price,2003 Grassland and Heathland Habitats is a practical guide to the habitat types flora and fauna of Britain s range of natural and semi natural grasslands and heaths

The European Nitrogen Assessment Mark A. Sutton, Clare M. Howard, Jan Willem Erisman, Gilles Billen, Albert Bleeker, Perine Grennfelt, Hans van Grinsven, Bruna

Grizzetti,2011-04-14 Presenting the first continental scale assessment of reactive nitrogen in the environment this book sets the related environmental problems in context by providing a multidisciplinary introduction to the nitrogen cycle processes Issues of upscaling from farm plot and city to national and continental scales are addressed in detail with emphasis on opportunities for better management at local to global levels The five key societal threats posed by reactive nitrogen are assessed providing a framework for joined up management of the nitrogen cycle in Europe including the first cost benefit analysis for different reactive nitrogen forms and future scenarios Incorporating comprehensive maps a handy technical synopsis and a summary for policy makers this landmark volume is an essential reference for academic researchers across a wide range of disciplines as well as stakeholders and policy makers It is also a valuable tool in communicating the key environmental issues and future challenges to the wider public

The Restoration Economy Storm Cunningham,2002-11-02 A landmark work I was relieved to see that there is a good and reasonable solution to the ruinous policies of unbridled new development Mark Stewart CEO iAccess Communications The Restoration Economy reveals the previously undocumented trillion dollar global industries that are restoring our natural and manmade environments Restorative development is rapidly overtaking new development because we are running out of things to develop Most natural areas are already either farmed or degraded and cities have built all the way to their borders However there is no lack of things to redevelop and restore Storm Cunningham surveys the wide range of restoration industries and points out the connections among them He shows for example how the restoration of a river ecosystem can have a major impact on the commercial success of a redeveloped historic urban waterfront Written for a broad range of audiences The Restoration Economy is an entertaining blend of business science and economics that details exciting new business and investment opportunities in this dynamic economic sector Any companies or consultants looking for new markets must read The Restoration Economy Pamela J Gordon CMC President Technology Forecasters Inc The Restoration Economy is required reading here at Weston Solutions It has been indispensable in helping us refocus our strategy Bill Robertson Chairman Weston Solutions The Restoration Economy is without a doubt the most important and valuable business book I have read in many years Don Pross Urban Revitalization Planner This book is an original a first I profited from it greatly and I quote from it in my speeches William H Hudnut III Former Four Term Mayor of Indianapolis
