Serious Fun Ruth Yamamoto, 2016-11-09 The importance of play and fun to people's lives cannot be stressed enough in today's cultural climate of high stress, high stakes and competition. One activity that gains recognition and credibility as both fun and transformative is theatrical improvisation or improv. In this book, Ruth Yamamoto reviews her research on the influences of improvisation on community college students. Educators, theatre artists, improvisers or anyone interested in building community, developing self-awareness and affecting positive social change will want to read this book. Dr. Yamamoto examines the principles of improvisation and the concepts of play and flow to add credibility to a craft and practice that is often viewed as frivolous and silly. Ruth Yamamoto extends her research through interviews with applied improvisation professionals, examples and suggestions of games and exercises, and provides solid evidence of the serious positive benefits of improvisation.

Exploring National Environmental Policy Act Processes Across Federal Land Management Agencies Marc J. Stern, 2010-10 Broad discretion is granted at all levels throughout federal land management agencies regarding compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). The authors explored the diversity of procedures employed in NEPA processes across four agencies: the Forest Service, the National Park Service, the Bureau of Land Management, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. There is a lack of consistency not only between but also within agencies with regard to how NEPA is implemented. This report focuses on how successful NEPA processes are defined within each agency and what strategies are the most or least beneficial to positive NEPA outcomes. Also identifies unresolved questions about NEPA processes and presents a research strategy for addressing them.
