Flesh And Stone:

Flesh and Stone: The Body and the City in Western Civilization Richard Sennett, 1996-03-17 This vivid history of the city in Western civilization tells the story of urban life through bodily experience Flesh and Stone is the story of the deepest parts of life how women and men moved in public and private spaces what they saw and heard the smells that assailed them where they ate how they dressed the mores of bathing and of making love all in the architecture of stone and space from ancient Athens to modern New York Early in Flesh and Stone Richard Sennett probes the ways in which the ancient Athenians experienced nakedness and the relation of nakedness to the shape of the ancient city its troubled politics and the inequalities between men and women The story then moves to Rome in the time of the Emperor Hadrian exploring Roman beliefs in the geometrical perfection of the body The second part of the book examines how Christian beliefs about the body related to the Christian city the Venetian ghetto cloisters and markets in Paris The final part of Flesh and Stone deals with what happened to urban space as modern scientific understanding of the body cut free from pagan and Christian beliefs Flesh and Stone makes sense of our constantly evolving urban living spaces helping us to build a common home for the increased diversity of bodies that make up the modern city

Flesh and Stone Mark Miano, 1997 The body of an art dealer is found entombed in ice and when the victim's secret lover turns out to be a woman Carpo once knew intimately he is forced to walk the fine line between scruples as a newswriter and as a man

 Poems of Robert Browning Leslie Nathan Broughton, Benjamin Franklin Stelter, 1925 Fingering Netsukes Frédéric Regard, 1995 Le Grand Transit Moderne Larry Duffy, 2005-01-01 This book explores fictional responses to the changing transport and urban infrastructure of nineteenth century France arguing that networks of movement and an accompanying culture of networks which had become firmly established by the time of the Second Empire constitute a privileged subject for representation and that naturalist fiction in particular is that representation s privileged form Contextualizing the study s critical focus by way of a brief historical outline of the development of infrastructural networks in nineteenth century France and a delineation of the problematical parameters of French naturalism Duffy examines literary representations of new forms and conceptualisations of movement principally in works by Flaubert Zola and Maupassant Other authors discussed include the Goncourt brothers Huysmans Baudelaire and Claretie Literary texts are examined alongside a range of related scientific sociological and medical texts What emerges strikingly from consideration of these works and the discourses they often subversively incorporate is that movement central to nineteenth century industrial society s view of itself is frequently perceived and presented self deludingly in the idealised metaphorical terms of smoothly functioning systems of perpetual motion and that naturalist fiction by exploiting to their full potential the same metaphors in its narratives challenges this anti entropic vision Curse of the Lyrestone Susan Carpenter, 2005-05 The thirteen repulsive sculptures rose from floor to ceiling part statue and part pillar Twelve of them were identical with their hideous depictions of ancient evil in the form of a terrible mixture of wolf and elf The Ancients Ainsley despaired Behind her was a half circle carved into the stone wall a portal edged with silver and engraved with runes that glowed a sickly green Directly opposite the portal on the other side of the room the thirteenth statue hulked larger than the rest and more horrific Ainsley gasped as she gazed upon the nightmarish face with its fang filled maw The haughty expression and the supercilious stance were familiar to her dredging terror from the darkest recesses of her memory The bat like wings and the curling horns were new but she remembered clearly the ugly creature from their battle at the palace of Oben Odi The thirteenth statue was a near likeness to the creature that Velinor had become and the deep indentation that looked like a gaping wound in the approximate place where its heart should rest was filled by the Lyrestone in the chest of the former Lord of Kopeth Star-dust and Stone Glenn Ward Dresbach,1928

Fire and Stone Priscilla Long,2016 The questions that drive Priscilla Long s Fire and Stone are the questions asked by the painter Paul Gauguin in the title of his 1897 painting Where Do We Come From What Are We Where Are We Going These questions look beyond everyday trivialities to ponder the essence of our origins Using her own story as a touchstone Long explores our human roots and how they shape who we are today Her personal history encompasses childhood as an identical twin on a dairy farm on the Eastern Shore of Maryland the turmoil social change and music of the 1960s the suicide of a sister and a life in art in the Pacific Northwest Here memoir extends the threads of the writer s individual and very personal life to science to history and to ancestors both literary and genetic back to the Neanderthals Long uses profoundly poetic personal essays to draw larger connections and to ask compelling questions about identity Framed by four distinctive sections Fire and Stone transcends genre and evolves into a sweeping elegy on what it means to be human The Peaches of New York U. Science Monthly ,1875 Spider and Stone Jaleigh Johnson,2012-11-06 Lolth has once again stirred the drow into roiling aggression against the rest of Faer n inciting the Rise of the Underdark In Iltkazar the last subterranean kingdom of the once resplendent dwarven realm of Shanatar King Mith Barak faces a siege of drow soldiers spies and assassins looking to seize the powerful city and the ancient magical artifacts hidden there Somewhere in the city the Arcane Script Sphere a mystical orb touched by Mystra the long dead goddess magic calls out to heroes and adventurers beckoning with whispers of power and knowledge Mith Barak hears it and knows he cannot hold the artifact much longer but fears what the drow may do with it Enter Icelin Ruen and Sull Waterdavian wanders whose desire to understand their own spellscars sets them in search of Mystran mysteries They hope to understand magic and thus understand its plague As they move from town to town city to city in search of knowledge Icelin hears the siren call of the Arcane Script Sphere and it draws the trio deep into rocks of the Underdark where they find themselves at the center of the struggle between the dwarves and drow Only King Mith Barak can initiate them into the mysteries they hope to illuminate But first they must help him with a mystery of his own a dark elf assassin himself a seeker of the sphere lies in Iltkazar's dungeons shrouded in the mystery and magic of Lolth Icelin might be the one to see past that shroud and determine the true goal of the Spider Queen's schemes As the dark elves intensify their attacks the trio realizes their quest for knowledge has taken them into a new and dangerous realm a realm dictated by the whims of spider and stone

The Art of Life and Death Andrew Irving, 2017-09-15 The Art of Life and Death explores how the world appears to people who have an acute perspective on it those who are close to death Based on extensive ethnographic research Andrew Irving brings to life the lived experiences imaginative lifeworlds and existential concerns of persons confronting their own mortality and non being Encompassing twenty years of working alongside persons living with HIV AIDS in New York Irving documents the radical but often unspoken and unvoiced transformations in perception knowledge and understanding that people experience in the face of death By bringing an experience near ethnographic focus to the streams of inner dialogue imagination and aesthetic expression that are central to the experience of illness and everyday life this monograph offers a theoretical ethnographic and methodological contribution to the anthropology of time finitude and the human condition With relevance well beyond the disciplinary boundaries of anthropology this book ultimately highlights the challenge of capturing the inner experience of human suffering and hope that affect us all of the trauma of the threat of death and the surprise of continued life The art of life and death is unlike anything I have ever read in its combination of theoretical ambition and methodological innovation The book is the fruit of Irving's close collaboration with a remarkable group of men and women diagnosed with AIDS at a time when there was little hope of surviving the disease With the help of their words and crucially their art Irving illuminates the complex inner life world created by the trauma of threatened death and the surprise of continued life Inner experience and the challenge of capturing it lie at the heart of this book Danilyn Rutherford author of Laughing at Leviathan The art of life and death is a monumental anthropological achievement Fusing long term fieldwork deeply sensitive observation and a refined sense the phenomenology of our deep existential fears of illness of death and the emotional quandaries of having survived a confrontation with mortality Andrew Irving demonstrates how imaginative ethnography can reveal to us the deep contours of human being The art of life and death is filled with gripping narratives not only of pain confusion but also of courage and resilience It is a theoretically informed text that will long remain open to the world Paul Stoller author of Yaya's story The art of life and death is a brilliantly engaging piece of work that invites us to rethink life itself and introduces new ways of carrying out anthropological research Through a compelling interweaving of ethnography and theory Irving takes us close to lives that have been lived under conditions of existential uncertainty and recovery This book goes beyond conventional anthropology to offer a thoroughly inspiring account from which we learn not only about what it means to live near death but how art and the senses are implicated in life. It will endure as an outstanding example of how to do anthropology at its best. Sarah Pink, coauthor of Uncertainty and Possibility. In this imaginatively conceived book, Andrew Irving asks compelling and daring questions on how to think of such categories as experience, inner life, or subjectivity in the face of imminent death. He follows up with a very careful and caring ethnography of how art and life flow into each other. Irving achieves perfect pitch in his writing. A splendid achievement. Veena Das, author of Affliction. Of the utmost importance, a very worthwhile introduction to any medical anthropologist because it includes detailed ethnographic descriptions, a variety of ethnographic methods, and a range of key anthropological themes, including a focus on embodied experiences, social injustice, and how individuals deal with death. The narrative style of the book makes it easy to read and relate to. This is a great feat given the complex and troubling themes discussed, which lead one to question their very perception of life itself. Journal of the Anthropological Society of Oxford. Of interest to anyone looking to explore people's dynamic, perceptive, and reflective outlook on the world, whether looking to the future, contemplating death, or simply being alive. No curious anthropology student or, for that matter, person would be left uninspired or non-transformed by this text, and I implore as wide a readership as possible. Anthropology Aging. An exceptional achievement that gets under your skin from beginning to end. Outstanding interweaving of theoretical critique and aspiration, collaborative ethnography, and methodological experimentation and innovation. Inspiring, essential reading for anyone interested in new ethnographic methods to more deeply access the complex inner dimensions of human experience. American Ethnologist. An excellent, thought-provoking book. Brilliantly succeeding in drawing both a conceptual and empirical portrait of the patterns in which HIV, as a socio-historically traceable illness, tends to articulate the life-death dialectical relation on the discovery threshold of embodied mortality. Groundbreaking Mortality. This beautifully written and constructed book weaves together sophisticated social theory, philosophy, art, work, and vivid biographical narratives to offer insights into how HIV/AIDS patients have learned to live a meaningful existence in the pre- and post-antiretroviral eras while negotiating a terminal illness. Basing his book on 20 years of work with adults living with HIV/AIDS in New York, visual anthropologist Irving has carried out a compelling anthropological study of the complex inner world of those who struggle, cope, fight, and ultimately come to terms with their own impending deaths. The author draws on philosophical writings and social theories to contextualize his results but is at his best when allowing his subjects to speak for themselves. The evocative words of subjects like artist Albert Velasco provide fascinating insights into the ways that dying persons with HIV/AIDS grapple with the mundane, like keeping medical appointments, as well as the profound reckoning with their own mortality and purpose. An engaging read that will enrich upper-level and graduate collections on death and dying, ethnographic methods, and HIV/AIDS. Highly recommended. Choice Good Housekeeping, 1921 Of Heart and Stone, Jesikah Sundin, 2022-08-26. Standalone in a shared world. She has a heart of stone.
