Magical Realism in Twenty-First-Century Transnational Fiction D. Chichester, 2025-09-25

Magical Realism in Twenty First Century Transnational Fiction The Global Supernatural offers a much needed re evaluation of magical realism moving beyond traditional postcolonial frameworks to explore its vibrant evolution in the 21st century Analysing the works of contemporary authors like Helen Oyeyemi Mohsin Hamid Preeta Samarasan and Junot Diaz this book explores how magical realism has been adapted to depict the complex fluid identities and experiences of migrants and their children in a globalised world By employing the psychoanalytic concept of relationality it examines the intricate interplay between cultures beliefs and personal narratives Challenging outdated notions of magic versus realism this study reveals how the supernatural is used to express the disorientation paradox and trauma of transnational lives This book is essential for anyone seeking to understand the enduring creative power of magical realism crowd produces an uneasy state of expectation which requires something startling or sensational to satisfy it Thus it was with the hearth audiences It needed but few experiments to put the first storytellers on the most effective way of amusing and interesting the groups gathered round the blaze who for the moment felt their mission to consist in being agreeably excited not in applying canons of criticism The preservation of these tales by unlettered people from a period anterior to the going forth of Celt or Teuton or Slave from the neighbourhood of the Caspian Sea is hard to be accounted for The number of good Sceilidhes dispersed through the country parts is but small compared to the mass of the people and hundreds may be found who recollect the succession of events and the personages of a tale while utterly incapable of relating it In remote neighbourhoods where the people have scarcely any communication with towns or cities or access to books stories will be heard identical with those told in the Brothers Grimm s German collection or among the Norse tales gathered by MM Asbjornsen and Mo We cannot for a moment imagine an Irishman of former days speaking English or his native tongue communicating these household stories to Swede or German who could not understand him or suppose the old dweller in Deutschland doing the good office for the Irishman The ancestors both of Celt and Teuton brought the simple and wonderful narratives from the parent ancestral household in Central Asia In consideration of the preference generally given by young students to stirring action rather than dry disquisition we omit much we had to say on the earliest forms of fiction and introduce a story known in substance to every Gothic and Celtic people in Europe It is given in the jaunty style in which we first heard it from Garrett Gerald Forrestal of Bantry in Wexford
