Flickering Light Christoph Ribbat, 2013-07-15 Without neon Las Vegas might still be a sleepy desert town in Nevada and Times Square merely another busy intersection in New York City Transformed by the installation of these brightly colored signs these destinations are now world famous representing the vibrant heart of popular culture But for some neon lighting represents the worst of commercialism Energized by the conflicting love and hatred people have for neon Flickering Light explores its technological and intellectual history from the discovery of the noble gas in late nineteenth century London to its fading popularity today Christoph Ribbat follows writers artists and musicians from cultural critic Theodor Adorno British rock band the Verve and artist Tracey Emin to Vladimir Nabokov Langston Hughes and American country singers through the neon cities in Europe America and Asia demonstrating how they turned these blinking lights and letters into metaphors of the modern era He examines how gifted craftsmen carefully sculpted neon advertisements introducing elegance to modern metropolises during neon s heyday between the wars followed by its subsequent popularity in Las Vegas during the 1950s and 60s Ribbat ends with a melancholy discussion of neon s decline describing how these glowing signs and installations came to be seen as dated and characteristic of run down neighborhoods From elaborate neon lighting displays to neglected diner signs with unlit letters Flickering Light tells the engrossing story of how a glowing tube of gas took over the world and faded almost as quickly as it arrived

The Physiology of The Eye Hugh Davson,2012-12-02 The Physiology of the Eye Third Edition reviews major advances in the physiology of the eye including improvements in photochemical and electrophysiological techniques In particular the successful application of modern microelectrode techniques to the recording of activity at all stages in the visual pathway is considered This edition is organized into five sections and begins with an overview of the vegetative physiology and biochemistry of the eye emphasizing the aqueous humor and the intraocular pressure the vitreous body cornea and lens The following chapters discuss the mechanism of vision including the electrophysiology of the retina and some fundamental principles of ocular physiology An account of the important advances made possible by the application of modern methods to the analysis of the eye movements pupillary function and so on is also given The remaining sections focus on the theoretical and practical foundation laid by the work of classical research workers in the realm of physiological optics This book is intended for students and researchers in fields ranging from ocular science to physiology and biochemistry

Binocular Vision and Stereopsis Ian P. Howard,Brian J. Retinal Degenerative Diseases John D. Ash,Robert E. Anderson,Matthew M. LaVail,Catherine Bowes Rickman,Joe G. Hollyfield,Christian Grimm,2018-05-02 The blinding diseases of inherited retinal degenerations have no treatments and age related macular degeneration has no cures despite the fact that it is an epidemic among the elderly with 1 in 3 4 affected by the age of 70 The RD Symposium will focus on the exciting new developments aimed at understanding these diseases and providing therapies for them Since most major scientists in the field of retinal degenerations attend the biennial RD Symposia they are known by most as the best and most important meetings in the field The volume will present representative state of the art research in almost all areas of retinal degenerations ranging from cytopathologic physiologic diagnostic and clinical aspects animal models mechanisms of cell death candidate genes cloning mapping and other aspects of molecular genetics and developing potential therapeutic measures such as gene therapy and neuroprotective agents for potential pharmaceutical therapy While advances in these areas of retinal degenerations will be described there will be many new topics that either were in their infancy or did not exist at the time of the last RD Symposium RD2014 These include the role of inflammation and immunity as well as other basic mechanisms in age related macular degeneration several new aspects of gene therapy and revolutionary new imaging

and functional testing that will have a huge impact on the diagnosis and following the course of retinal degenerations as well as to provide new quantitative endpoints for clinical trials The retina is an approachable part of the central nervous system CNS and there is a major interest in neuroprotective and gene therapy for CNS diseases and neurodegenerations in general It should be noted that with successful and exciting initial clinical trials in neuroprotective and gene therapy including the restoration of sight in blind children the retinal degeneration therapies are leading the way towards new therapeutic measures for neurodegenerations of the CNS Many of the successes recently reported in these areas of retinal degeneration sprang from collaborations established at previous RD Symposia and many of those will be reported at the RD2018 meeting and included in the proposed volume We anticipate the excitement of those working in the field and those afflicted with retinal degenerations will be reflected in the volume

Seventh International Visual Field Symposium, Amsterdam, September 1986 E.L. Greve, A. Heijl, 2012-12-06

The Seventh International Visual Field Symposium organized by the International Perimetric Society was held in Amsterdam The Netherlands September 6-10 1986 In many respects it was an exciting and fruitful meeting The number of participants was greater than ever The number of papers was too great to accommodate all of them The quality of the papers reflects the continuously rising interest in perimetry in general and in automated perimetry in particular Last but not least the social programme was organized in the by now almost classical friendly enjoyable and humouristic style of the International Perimetric Society This created an atmosphere of openness and free exchange of information which was clearly also felt in the scientific sessions The scientific part was divided in seven sessions with 44 spoken papers and a separate postersession during which the 46 posters were discussed The major themes of the meeting were The influence of media disturbances on the visual field and Advances in perimetry in glaucoma with special emphasis on progression The session on media provided interesting information on how the visual field was effected by preretinal filters The authors either studied the influence of lens or corneal opacities or simulated opacities by special filters placed in front of the eye In two papers the effect of cataract was qualified by photography or stray light measurements
