Frodin,2001-06-14 This 2001 book provides a selective annotated bibliography of the principal floras and related works of inventory for vascular plants The second edition was completely updated and expanded to take into account the substantial literature of the late twentieth century and features a more fully developed review of the history of floristic documentation The works covered are principally specialist publications such as floras checklists distribution atlases systematic iconographies and enumerations or catalogues although a relatively few more popularly oriented books are also included The Guide is organised in ten geographical divisions with these successively divided into regions and units each of which is prefaced with a historical review of floristic studies In addition to the bibliography the book includes general chapters on botanical bibliography the history of floras and general principles and current trends plus an appendix on bibliographic searching a lexicon of serial abbreviations and author and geographical indexes      Trees of Papua New Guinea Barry J Conn,Kipiro Q Damas,2019-04-29 The island of New Guinea has a high diversity of species and a high level of endemism containing more than 5 percent of earth s biodiversity in just over one half of a percent of the land on the earth New Guinea supports the largest area of mature tropical moist forest in the Asia Pacific region Papua New Guinea consists of the eastern part of the island of New Guinea plus the islands of the Bismarck Archipelago Buka and Bougainville There are between fifteen thousand and twenty thousand species of vascular plants in Papua New Guinea with at least two thousand species of trees The most important challenge for Papua New Guinea is the protection of biological diversity against the pressures resulting from global climate change inappropriate destructive conversion of natural communities unsustainable exploitation of forests national economic development and societal demands including a fair sharing of the nation s wealth and law and order issues There are very few resources available to natural resource managers environmental scientists nongovernment agencies and various extractive industries most importantly the timber industry that will assist in the identification of major tree species within Papua New Guinea It is hoped that the publication of these three volumes will enable those who are responsible for natural resource management to improve their knowledge of the trees in these forests so that they can fully appreciate the richness of these biologically diverse forests The forests of Papua New Guinea need to be managed sensitively and sustainably based on advanced evidence based knowledge The Trees of Papua New Guinea publication provides a comprehensive treatment of 668 species of trees Volume 1 257 species Vol 2 246 species Vol 3 165 species that will assist in the identification of the trees of Papua New Guinea New

Lepidium (Brassicaceae) from New Zealand Peter James De Lange, Peter Brian Heenan, G. J. Houlston, Jeremy R. Rolfe, A. D. Mitchell, 2013 The vascular flora of New Zealand contains an estimated 2400 species of indigenous plant of which a staggering 83% are endemic Nevertheless despite the 244 years of botanical exploration there are still many flowering plants left to formally describe from New Zealand In this issue of PhytoKeys the diversity of the endemic Cook's Scurvy grass Lepidium oleraceum is subjected to a modern taxonomic treatment recognising in the process ten new endemic species and accepting six others described by past workers This issue includes detailed descriptions for all 16 Lepidium species and discusses their ecology ethnobotany and conservation status A dichotomous key to the naturalised and indigenous Lepidium of the New Zealand archipelago is also provided Australian Books in Print 1999 K G Saur Books, 1999-04 Excellent coverage essential to worldwide bibliographic coverage American Reference Books Annual This comprehensive reference provides current finding ordering information on more than 123 000 in print books published in Australia You'll also find brief profiles of more than 12 000 publishers distributors whose titles are represented as well as information on trade associations local agents of overseas publishers literary awards more From Thorpe Flora of Australia Australian Biological Resources Study, 1981 The information in the Flora of Australia online website was first published in the Flora of Australia series 1997 IUCN Red List of Threatened Plants World Conservation Monitoring Centre, 1998 This book represents the most comprehensive compilation of data on threatened vascular plants ever published It includes the names of some 33 000 plant species determined to be rare or threatened on a global scale Conservation assessments were provided by the IUCN Species Survival Commission the National Botanical Institute South Africa Environment Australia and CSIRO The Nature Conservancy the Smithsonian Institution and the Royal Botanic Gardens Kew together with hundreds of botanic gardens and botanists throughout the world The Royal Botanic Gardens Edinburgh and the New York Botanical Garden have made major in kind contributions The result of 20 years work by botanists and conservationists around the world it is intended as a conservation tool a provider of baseline information to measure conservation progress and as a primary source of data on plant species Most importantly however it provides the building blocks on which to base a worldwide effort to conserve plant species Islands of Inquiry Geoffrey Richard Clark, Sue O'Connor, Bryan Foss Leach, 2008-06-01 Many of the papers in this volume present new and innovative research into the processes of maritime colonisation processes that affect archaeological contexts from islands to continents Others shift focus from process to the archaeology of maritime places from the Bering to the Torres Straits providing highly detailed discussions of how living by and with the sea is woven into all elements of human life from subsistence to trade and to ritual Of equal importance are more abstract discussions of islands as natural places refashioned by human occupation either through the introduction of new organisms or new systems of production and consumption These transformation stories gain further texture and variety through close examinations of some of the more significant consequences of colonisation and migration particularly the creation of new cultural identities A final set of papers explores the ways in which the techniques of archaeological sciences have provided insights into the fauna of the islands and the human history of such places Provided by publisher     Incredible! Phillip Island Peter Coyne, 2009-12-08 An outstanding and spectacular example of the devastation which feral animals pigs goats and rabbits can cause and the ecological restoration which can be achieved with hard work and frequent risks Access to this remote island was difficult and often dangerous and all materials had to be unloaded from the boat onto slippery rocks handled up the surrounding cliffs and back packed across the island Diverse eradication techniques using swimming rock climbing and archery for inaccessible sites removed the last of the feral grazers Revegetation and faunal recovery have been remarkable This small island is the only natural habitat of some of the world's rarest plant species One was unknown to science previously another was believed extinct while a third has only one genetic individual in the wild The number of bird species on the island has doubled This book describes the geological natural and human history of the island the pest eradication program and the extraordinary environmental response It was very favourably reviewed in the international journal Restoration Ecology in 2014 Prices are for PDF file version Paperback version also available     Papers and Proceedings of the Royal Society of Tasmania , 2011     Australian Vegetation David A. Keith, 2017-06-15 Australian Vegetation has been an essential reference for students and researchers in botany ecology and natural resource management for over 35 years Now fully updated and with a new team of authors the third edition presents the latest insights on the patterns and processes that shaped the vegetation of Australia The first part of the book provides a synthesis of ecological processes that influence vegetation traits throughout the continent using a new classification of vegetation New chapters examine the influences of climate soils fire regimes herbivores and aboriginal people on vegetation in addition to completely revised chapters on evolutionary biogeography quaternary vegetation history and alien plants The book's second half presents detailed ecological portraits for each major vegetation type and offers data rich perspectives and comparative analysis presented in tables graphs maps and colour illustrations This authoritative book will inspire readers to learn and explore first hand the vegetation of Australia     Lichens 3 Patrick McCarthy, Australian Biological Resources Study, 2001 This volume provides descriptions of some of the more robust and luxuriant lichens of cool temperate south eastern Australia Lobariaceae and Sphaerophoraceae as well as ecologically important soil inhabiting groups in semi arid and arid regions Peltulaceae Endocarpon and Placidium     The Victorian Naturalist , 2005     Plant Diversity Patterns and Drivers Qing Zhang, Gang Feng, Jinliang Liu, 2024-09-20 Biodiversity can provide a series of important ecosystem functions and ecosystem services which meet the needs of human beings Plants are the biological group with the highest carbon content on earth their diversity has attracted increased attention The interpretation of plant diversity patterns and drivers is crucial for the conservation and utilization of plant resources and is also one of the hot topics in plant science and ecology There are already many studies on the patterns and drivers of plant diversity including different diversity dimensions e g taxonomic phylogenetic and functional diversity and spatial scales different plots sites watershed country continent and globe The mechanisms underlying plant diversity patterns are also quite complex For example many hypotheses are related to contemporary climate and soil conditions with temperature precipitation and soil nutrient being the most discussed drivers In addition paleoclimate and geological events may also have a strong legacy on current plant diversity patterns Except for these natural factors many anthropogenic activities including agriculture deforestation grazing urbanization and coal mining are also important drivers of plant diversity These anthropogenic activities can affect plant diversity patterns not only directly but also indirectly through their effects on habitat loss and habitat fragmentation Therefore the current plant diversity patterns are the result of many interacting factors and need to be interpreted from a more comprehensive perspective This Research Topic will therefore provide a platform for sufficient communication aiming to integrate the research from different fields and deepen the understanding of the patterns and drivers of plant diversity We encourage the submission of theoretical and experimental studies on different plant groups such as seed plants ferns mosses and algae Studies based on new methods and technology such as genomics and drones are also welcomed We welcome the following specific topics Effects of historical factors such as paleoclimate geological events on plant diversity Plant diversity that driven by contemporary climate and anthropogenic activities The effect of habitat loss and fragmentation on plant diversity New methods of research on the patterns and drivers of plant diversity

A Handbook of the World's Conifers (2 vols.) Aljos Farjon, 2017-08-28 A 2017 Choice Magazine Outstanding Academic Title Conifers are known to everyone as a conspicuous kind of evergreen trees or shrubs that feature prominently in gardens and parks as well as in many managed forests in the cool to cold temperate regions of the Northern Hemisphere Numerous books have been written about them and continue to appear mostly with a bias towards these uses in Europe and North America This second edition revised and updated of A Handbook of the World's Conifers is departing from this traditional approach in that it includes all the world's 615 species of conifers of which some 200 occur in the tropics It gives as much information about these and the Southern Hemisphere conifers as about the better known species drawing on research into the taxonomy biology ecology distribution and uses by the author over nearly 35 years The result is a truly encyclopedic work a true handbook of all the world's conifers richly illustrated by the author with his line drawings and photographs taken from the natural habitats of the species
