Chronicle Into History Louis Green, 2008-10-30 In Florence in the fourteenth and early fifteenth centuries the essentially medieval values of the age of Dante were transformed into the intellectual attitudes characteristic of the early Renaissance

Mr Green examines this change as it was reflected in the works of the city's vernacular chroniclers. These merchant historians evolved out of the traditional universal chronicle of the Middle Ages, an embryonic form of the modern history exemplified at the beginning of the fifteenth century by the Istoria di Firenze of Goro Dati. In the course of this transition from chronicle to history, the world view expressed by the chronicle, which assumed that all that happened contributed to a divinely inspired historical plan, yielded before a more selective conception of the significance of events as possible natural causes of change. At the same time, the ideals underlying the medieval sense of cosmic order, with their otherworldly overtones, gave way before the more secular humanist values of the emerging Renaissance.

Love and Marriage in Renaissance Florence Caroline Campbell, 2009. Love and Marriage in Renaissance Florence explores an important but historically neglected art form. Cassoni are pairs of chests that were lavishly decorated with precious metals and elaborate paintings and were often the most expensive of a whole suite of decorative objects commissioned to celebrate marriage alliances between powerful families in Renaissance Florence. Cassoni were displayed in the husband's chamber and were used to store precious clothes and textiles. The painted panels set into them told tales and history from ancient Greece, Rome, and Palestine, as well as from Florentine literature and more recent history. These pictorial narratives were intended to entertain as well as to instruct the household and its visitors. This book reflects the extensive iconographic range of cassone painting. Its focus, however, is around a pair of chests ordered in 1472 by the Florentine Lorenzo Morelli to celebrate his marriage with Vaggia Nerli. These are the only pair of cassoni to be still displayed with their painted backboards (spalliere). The unusual survival of both the chests and their commissioning documents enables a full examination of this remarkable art form. Caroline Campbell is Schroder Foundation Curator of Paintings at the Courtauld Gallery, London.
