Campbell,2025-09-01 This book uses the contrast between the theoretical positions of the two Max Webers that is the Weber of the Protestant Ethic thesis and the Weber of the theory of action as the basis for developing a theory of agency and an associated dynamic interpretive approach to action The book critiques traditional theories of action for neglecting the physical dimension for conflating agency with action and contrasting the latter with behaviour It argues that action is not just cerebral or communicative but inherently tied to effort emotion and imagination with voluntarism understood in terms of attention instead of intention and the exercise of will rather than choice This is the basis of a dynamic interpretivist approach one that integrates behavioural insights with interpretive sociology highlighting how actors actively maintain their power of agency The concept of character is also introduced as a crucial link between individual agency ethical values and cultural systems This book will be of interest to researchers and students of sociology anthropology media studies and criminology as well as social theorists Old Age and Agency Emmanuelle Tulle,2004 This book is about rethinking the ways in which we make sense of social action or agency in later life The contributions in this collection challenge traditional academic approaches to the study of later life which arguably often deny older people agency Social gerontology and the wider society should be more reflexive and rather than contribute to the continued marginalisation of older people should draw attention to the extent to which the latter's actions may be understood within the set of normalising discourses which people have to manage and negotiate as they get old The purpose of this collection is to continue this process by providing philosophical theoretical conceptual and empirical direction for a reflexive social gerontology This book argues that the management of later life has become complex caught as it is within a broad discourse which continues to construct old age as a time of decline and dependency but has shifted the burden of responsibility for the avoidance of decline on individuals Tourism,
