Future Of Our Tropical Rainforests:

The Future of Tropical Rain Forests in South East Asia J. Davidson, John Michael Davidson, Tho Yow Pong, Maarten Bijleveld, 1985 The Future of Our Tropical Rainforests Micki M. Evans, Linda MacRae-Campbell, 1998-05 Managing the Future of Southeast Asia's Valuable Tropical Rainforests Ratnam Wickneswari, Chuck Cannon, 2011-09-15 This book provides current knowledge about tropical rain forest genetics and its implications for the profitable and sustainable management of forest resources in Southeast Asia Each chapter covers a major topic in the evolutionary biology of tropical rain forest trees and how management systems interact with these natural dynamics Authors provide an up to date and insightful review of important scientific findings and conclude with practical recommendations for the modern forester in Southeast Asia Several chapters provide compelling discussions about commonly neglected aspects of tropical forestry including the impact of historical dynamics of climate change anthropogenic threats to genetic viability and the important role of wildlife in maintaining genetic diversity These discussions will promote a deeper appreciation of not only the economic value of forests but also their mystery and intangible values The silvicultural industry in Southeast Asia is a major contributor to the regional economy but the connection between scientific research and the application and development of policy could be improved upon This book will help bridge that gap This book will prove beneficial reading for forestry students professional forest managers and policy makers who do not have technical training in genetics It is also intended for non specialists who are involved in the tropical timber industry from the local forest manager to the international timber purchasing agent Our Forests, Our Future Emil Salim, Ola Ullsten, World Commission on Forests and Sustainable Development, 1999-04-15 Forests are extraordinary in their contribution to the basic human need for environmental stability and security as well as in their contribution to the livelihood of many The World Commission on Forests and Sustainable Development WCFSD through its unique makeup and independent nature has been able to address the most significant issues surrounding the world's forests in a manner not possible for any other body or institution By convening public hearings all over the world to give voice to those who depend on forests and by engaging itself in the politics of the issues at the highest levels the WCFSD has endeavored to address fundamental and serious concerns This report representing the culmination of these efforts discusses forest practices politics and policies and the social situations which they create or perpetuate and presents the Commission's findings conclusions and recommendations The Future of the World's Forests Jim Douglas, Markku Simula, 2010-09-05 At the landmark 1992 United Nations Conference on Environment and Development Earth Summit solemn resolutions were made both to protect the world's biodiversity and to co operate on managing natural forests in a sustainable and ecologically responsible way If anything given recent developments in issues such as climate change and poverty the problem of protecting and sustaining forests should logically have become more important globally Yet public interest in and development support for forest activities have declined and rates of forest loss

remain stubbornly high Why has this happened This book seeks answers to this question It examines the often dysfunctional relationships between various members of the international forest constituency which have so often prevented the formation of consensus It also explores the tendency to pursue technical and politically convenient fixes focused on the internal workings of the forest sector while ignoring the overwhelming influence of external forces on the fate of forests The result all too often has been programs which benefit a few powerful players and fail to provide real solutions The book provides a new examination of and perspective on the international forest policy debate It clarifies the reasons for global forest conflicts and provides insight for future policy development Including examples from both the developed and developing world it provides an invaluable resource for researchers and graduate students in forest policy and international relations as well as a useful reference for policymakers and professionals in the forest sector the development community and conservationists With significant global attention now focused on reducing carbon emissions from deforestation and forest degradation REDD the authors examine the promise and the potential problems that apply to this initiative

Human Activities and the Tropical Rainforest Bernard K. Maloney, 1998 Arising initially from a conference the papers published here have been integrated into book form to provide information on human activities and the tropical rainforest in the past and present and on the possible future of the rainforest in a unique way Other books have considered some but not all of these themes however none has stressed the continuity of change over time and its possible outcome for the people of the forest as well as for the forest itself Because of the approach taken this book should appeal across traditional disciplinary boundaries Indeed a prime aim has been to suggest that rainforest because of its complexity and the complexity of people rainforest relationships throughout time deserves study from a broad perspective This book poses more questions than answers about the rainforest and it is hoped that it will encourage readers to think about the rainforest in a wider way than hitherto This book is aimed at geographers physical and human social anthropologists archaeologists pedologists foresters and tropical botanists and will be of value to graduates of various disciplines setting out to research the rainforest

Bozzano G Luisa, 2012-12-02 Proceedings of a conference on Tropical Forests Botanical Dynamics Speciation and Diversity held at the University of Aarhus Denmark August 8 ba10 1988 The increasing rate of destruction of the world s tropical forests gives grave cause for concern on several counts In conservative terms species are being lost at an incredible rate many before they have even been described In scientific terms habitats communities and unique systems are lost before they can be studied and used to broaden our understanding of ecological processes in general The meeting on which this book is based aimed to address two basic needs to describe some of the marvellous biological treasures of tropical forests and to learn what they can tell us about processes in ecology and to alert us all once again to the disaster which is overtaking this rich and varied environment Future Survey Annual 1991 Michael Marien, 1991-01-01
