1951 Richard Winship Stewart, 2000 Blitzkrieg to Desert Storm Robert M. Citino, 2022-05-25 When Germany launched its blitzkrieg invasion of France in 1940 it forever changed the way the world waged war Although the Wehrmacht ultimately succumbed to superior Allied firepower in a two front war its stunning operational achievement left a lasting impression on military commanders throughout the world even if their own operations were rarely executed as effectively Robert Citino analyzes military campaigns from the second half of the twentieth century to further demonstrate the difficulty of achieving decisive results at the operational level Offering detailed operational analyses of actual campaigns Citino describes how UN forces in Korea enjoyed technological and air superiority but found the enemy unbeatable provides analyses of Israeli operational victories in successive wars until the Arab states finally grasped the realities of operational level warfare in 1973 and tells how the Vietnam debacle continued to shape U S doctrine in surprising ways Looking beyond major power conflicts he also reveals the lessons of India s blitzkrieg like drive into Pakistan in 1971 and of the senseless bloodletting of the Iran Iraq War Citino especially considers the evolution of U S doctrine and assesses the success of Desert Storm in dismantling an entrenched defending force with virtually no friendly casualties He also provides one of the first scholarly analyses of Operation Iraqi Freedom showing that its plan was curiously divorced from the realities of military history grounded instead on nebulous theories about expected enemy behavior Throughout Citino points to the importance of mobility especially mobilized armor in modern operational warfare and assesses the respective roles of firepower training doctrine and command and control mechanisms Brimming with new insights Citino s study shows why technical superiority is no guarantee of victory and why a thorough grounding in the history of past campaigns is essential to anyone who wishes to understand modern warfare Blitzkrieg to Desert Storm provides that grounding as it addresses the future of operational level warfare in the post 9 11 era The Korean War at Sixty Steven Casey,2014-06-11 Korea used to be the forgotten war Now however experts widely view it as a pivotal moment in the history of the Cold War while its legacy still scars contemporary East Asian politics The sixtieth anniversary of the Korean War is a fitting time both to assess the current state of historiography on the conflict and to showcase new research on its different dimensions This book contains six essays by leading experts in the field These essays explore all aspects of the war from collective security and alliance relations to home front politics and historical memory They are also international in scope focusing not just on the familiar Western belligerents but also on the actions of the two Koreas China and the Soviet Union These stimulating essays shed new light on various aspects of the Korean War experience as well as examining why the war remains so important to the politics of the region This book was originally published as a special issue of Journal of Strategic Studies Over the Beach Donald W. Boose,2008 Over the Beach written by historian and retired Army Colonel Donald W Boose Jr is the definitive history of the extensive but little known US Army amphibious operations during the Korean War 1950 1953 Building on its extensive experience in World War II the Army conducted three major landing operations during the war including the assault at Inchon in September 1950 After the massive Chinese attacks two months later the Army executed a series of amphibious withdrawals as it fell back to more defensible positions farther down the peninsula Throughout the war the Army also conducted a number of massive and complex over the shore logistical operations as well as several amphibious special operations along the Korean littoral Colonel Boose s work commissioned by DAMO ODG Operations and Technology Office provides the historical context for any subsequent amphibious operations on the Korean peninsula As such this thought provoking study may provide insights to modern planners crafting future joint or combined operations in that part of the world Publisher s Description Escaping the Trap Roy Edgar Appleman,1990 Koreakrigen 1950 1953 Om USAs h rs 10

Gilbert, 2015-11-24 An award winning military historian delivers an excellent read on tank combat in the Forgotten War based on interviews with veterans who were there. MAFVA.org The outbreak of the Korean conflict caught America and the Marine Corps unprepared. The Corps' salvation was the existence of its Organized Reserve, an organization rich in veterans of the fighting in World War II, the availability of modern equipment in storage and as always the bravery, initiative and adaptability of individual Marines. In this follow up to his enormously successful Marine Tank Battles in the Pacific Oscar Gilbert presents an equally exhaustive and detailed account of the little known Marine tank engagements in Korea supported by forty-eight photographs, eight original maps and dozens of survivor interviews. Marine Corps Tank Battles in Korea details every action from the valiant defense at Pusan and the bitter battles of the Chosin Reservoir to the grinding and bloody stalemate along the Jamestown Line. Many of these stories are presented here for the first time such as the unique role played by tanks in the destruction of the ill-fated Task Force Drysdale, how Marine armor played a key role in the defense of Hagaru and how a lone tank made it to Yudamni and then led the breakout across the high Toktong Pass. Marine tankers individually and as an organization met every challenge posed by this vicious, protracted and forgotten war. It is a story of bravery and fortitude you will never forget.

The Marine Corps Tanks Collection Oscar E. Gilbert, 2018-09-18 Together these books provide the definitive history of the USMC's tank forces. Very highly recommended. Military Modelcraft International. Marine Corps Tank Battles in Korea A detailed and gripping account of the little known Marine tank engagements during the Korean War from the valiant defense at Pusan and the bitter battles of the Chosin Reservoir to the bloody stalemate along the Jamestown Line. Oscar E. Gilbert unfolds the unique role played by tanks in the destruction of the ill-fated Task Force Drysdale, how Marine armor was a key factor in the defense of Hagaru and how a lone tank made it to Yudamni and then led the breakout across the high Toktong Pass. Marine Corps Tank Battles in Vietnam In 1965 the large, loud and highly visible tanks of 3rd Platoon B Company 3rd Tank Battalion landed across a beach near Da Nang, drawing unwelcome attention to America's first almost covert commitment of ground troops in South Vietnam. Marine Corps tankers sought out the enemy in the sand dunes, jungles, mountains, paddy fields, tiny villages and ancient cities of Vietnam, dealing with guerrilla ambushes from the Viet Cong and the long range artillery capability of the North Vietnamese Army. Marine Corps Tank Battles in the Middle East In America's longest continual conflict, armored Marines became entangled in guerrilla war amid the broiling deserts, ancient cities and rich farmlands of Iraq and in the high, bleak wastes of Afghanistan. Fighting a fanatical foe who brutalized civilians, planted sophisticated roadside bombs and seized control of entire cities the Marine Corps tankers cleared roads escorted convoys conducted endless sweep operations to locate and destroy insurgent strongholds protected voting sites for free elections and recaptured and rebuilt urban centers even adding a new trick to their repertoire long range surveillance Tanks in Hell On November 20 1943 the 2nd Marine Division launched the first amphibious assault of the Pacific War directly into the teeth of powerful Japanese defenses on Tarawa In that blood soaked invasion a single company of Sherman tanks of which only two survived played a pivotal role in turning the tide from looming disaster to legendary victory Korean War, 1950-1953,1992 Guide to Reprints K G Saur Publishing,K. S. Military,Department of Defense (DoD),U. S. Government,2017-03-31 The U S Army X Corps as an organization presents a rich case study in large unit operations It fought under General Douglas A MacArthur s direct command in 1950 as one of two independent major subordinate commands leading joint and multinational forces without the supervision of an intermediate army headquarters In less than four weeks MacArthur transformed a small planning team into an operational corps headquarters responsible for the successful amphibious assault at Inchon and the liberation of Seoul However just two months later the combat hardened corps narrowly escaped complete destruction by twelve Chinese Communist divisions as it withdrew from the Chosin Reservoir in northeast Korea This monograph examines the corps organizational structure operations process and command environment using contemporary doctrine to discern the factors that affected its ability to expand the Inchon beachhead to secure Seoul prepare for offensive actions in northeast Korea and attack north to the Yalu River Ultimately no single consideration fully explains the corps fate in late 1950 Instead this monograph finds that the X Corps lacked sufficient time to build cohesive teams before commencing operations in Korea neglected to consistently plan ahead provide administrative support or coordinate the actions of its assigned units and proved unable to engender a command environment that fostered teamwork Together these factors largely affected the corps between its success at Inchon and the withdrawal from the Chosin Reservoir The X Corps as an organization presents a rich case study in large unit operations It fought under MacArthur's direct command in 1950 as one of two independent major subordinate commands the other Walker's Eighth Army. As a separate organization the X Corps directed joint and multinational forces in offensive and defensive operations without the supervision of an intermediate army headquarters. Originally the planning team for Operation CHROMITE in less than four weeks MacArthur transformed this core nucleus of planners into an operational corps headquarters responsible for the invasion and the establishment of the Inchon beachhead. This task alone would challenge even the most experienced and cohesive corps headquarters and undoubtedly represented a palpable historical triumph for Almond and his fledgling organization. More poignantly Inchon marked the beginning of a dynamic operational period on the Korean peninsula. Indeed the Corps actions in the ensuing months would span the spectrum of operations test the limits and endurance of American military personnel and coalition partners and underscore the advantages challenges and timeless lessons of large unit operations. It is appropriate to ask therefore what factors affected the X Corps ability to conduct operations in Korea between the success at Inchon and the withdrawal from the Chosin Reservoir.

Special Report on Chosin Reservoir 27 Nov to 10 Dec 1950 Headquarters X CORPS Command, 2013-08-10

The United Nations counter offensive against the North Korean Army was launched in the middle of September 1950 with the X US Corps executing a successful amphibious envelopment at INCHON. In conjunction with the INCHON landing the Eighth Army attacked north from the PUSAN perimeter and after making a juncture with X Corps at the INCHON SEOUL beachhead continued the exploitation north toward the YALU River. During October Eighth Army continued north to capture the North Korean Capital at PYONGYANG while the I Republic of Korea Corps made a rapid advance along the East Coast of Korea. Meanwhile X Corps mounted a second amphibious envelopment this time against the Northeast Korean Coast. The capture of WONSAN and HUNGNAM important east coast ports by I Republic of Korea Corps obviated assault landings by X Corps and Commanding General X Corp assumed command of all United Nations Forces in the Northeast Zone of Korea on 20 October 1950. Following the debarkation of X Corps elements beginning 26 October the 1st Marine Division and 7th Infantry Division entered the exploitation phase against disintegrating North Korean resistance. The original mission of X Corps to drive west after landing to assist Eighth Army in the capture of PYONGYANG had been changed to an offensive to the North with the objective of reaching the Manchurian and USSR Borders as soon as possible. The sectors of advance were the 1st Marine Division on the West 7th Infantry Division in the center and I Republic of Korea Corps on the East. By the end of the third week of November the completion of this mission was in sight. The 1st Marine Division had conducted vigorous anti guerrilla operations in the WONSAN HAMHUNG area and had defeated elements of the 124th and 126th Chinese Communist Forces Divisions north of HAMHUNG. After this battle the 7th Marine Regiment had advanced north reaching the southern tip of CHOSIN Reservoir on 14 November. On 6 November the 3d US Infantry Division which was joining X Corps from Japan initiated relief of 1st Marine Division elements in the WONSAN area. This released the bulk of the 1st Marine Division for its drive to the border. On 21 November the 7th

Infantry Division reached the YALU River this was the only Unit in X Corps to reach the border while I Republic of Korea Corps advancing Northeast completed the capture of the port of CHONGJIN on 25 November against the only organized resistance in the Corps zone Civil Affairs was making steady progress in organizing local and provincial governments United Nations Forces were enthusiastically received by the majority of the population In order to protect these governments it was necessary to employ a substantial number of troops Likewise the Military Supply Route s railroads and military installations required security against the depredations of many bands of by passed North Korean Army troops and guerril las These guerrilla attacks while a problem were not considered critical and it was felt that as soon as the Corps Zone was cleared of organized resistance most of the guerrilla activity would cease The presence of Chinese Communist Forces in front of the 1st Marine Division was the imponderable in the Intelligence picture On 28 October the 26th Republic of Korea Regiment made the first contact with the Chinese Communist Forces in the area north of HAMHUNG The 7th Marine Regiment relieved the 26th Republic of Korea Regiment and by 14 November succeeded in defeating this Chinese Communist Forces covering force but there were few indications of their intentions and future plans By the middle of November the plans of X Corps became dependent on the plans for Eighth Army in the West and a change in the X Corps mission was indicated This change was made necessary by the enemy buildup in front of Eighth Army and the halting by enemy action of the first attempt in the second week of November to advance Eighth Army to the border
