The Normalisation of Cyprus' Partition Among Greek Cypriots Gregoris Ioannou, 2020-08-31 This book explores the basic dynamics that shaped the Cyprus problem with a focus on recent decades. The author deals with the periods, nodal points and fields that produced the conditions for the normalisation of partition and also presents the Cyprus problem as viewed from the outside. The chapters approach Cyprus division in light of power relations in society, the interaction between the political elite and society and discuss the political and ideological dynamics as manifested in the public sphere. While analysing primarily the Greek Cypriot community, the book also refers to parallel developments in the Turkish Cypriot and international communities, arguing that the normalisation of Cyprus partition is rooted in the political economy and political culture of Greek Cypriots. At the same time, from the perspective of the peace and reunification movement, this is an inherently contradictory and potentially unstable process that can be overturned. Remarkably thorough study focusing on nationalist narratives, political and media discourses and socio-economic structures in Cyprus and their impact on the formation and transformation of political identities since the 1950s. Unlike many other books on the issue, Ioannou analyses social and political developments in both the Greek Cypriot and the Turkish Cypriot communities. This approach sheds light on the internal reasons of the perpetuation of the island's division, which the geopolitical and international relations approaches alone miss to grasp. Combining the analytical skills of a political scientist and his personal experience as an engaged citizen in favour of unification, Ioannou offers significant insight on a complex and traumatic conflict that remains one of Europe's black spots. Athena Skoulariki, Assistant Professor in Sociology of Communication, Discourse Analysis and Social Representations, University of Crete, Greece. The basic argument of the book is that the consolidation of partition was neither automatic nor happened behind the backs of Greek Cypriots. The very interesting and demythologising work of Gregoris Ioannou brings to light a hidden but common secret of the Greek Cypriots. Alexis Heraklides, Emeritus Professor of International Relations, Panteion University, Greece. Ioannou projects a multi-focal spotlight on the Cyprus problem so as, at least for the careful reader, this becomes not only an interesting topic in itself but also a cognitive springboard from which to understand broader pathologies of our common social and political life. Seraphim Seferiades, Associate Professor in Political Science, Panteion University, Greece.

Commemorating Gallipoli through Music John Morgan O'Connell, 2017-12-01 This monograph examines the relationship between music and memory as it relates to the Gallipoli Campaign 1915 6 Drawing upon a wide variety of sources in many languages it explores the multiple ways in which music is employed to remember and to forget to celebrate and to commemorate a victory on the part of the Central Powers and a defeat on the part of the Allied forces in the Dardanelles during the First World War 1914 8 Further it argues that commemoration itself can be viewed as an instrument of war In particular it investigates the complex positionality of individual actors during the centennial commemorations of the Gallipoli landings 24 April 2015 where the Australians and the Turks most notably have employed music to reimagine the past both nationalities invoking the Gallipoli spirit tr anakkale ruhu to advance a nationalist agenda and a resurgent militarism through the selective memorialization of an imperial past The book interrogates through music the ambivalent position of minorities With specific reference to the Irish amongst the British and the Armenians amongst the Ottomans it shows how song might serve both to articulate a nationalist defiance and an imperialist consensus during a tumultuous period of irredentism By uncovering the complex pathways of musical transmission it demonstrates through musical analysis how the colonized could become the colonizer in the case of the Irish or a minority might conform to a majority in the case of the Armenians Further the publication looks at the uneasy alliance between the Turks and the Germans It focuses on a German musician as an imperial bandmaster and Germanic entrepreneurs in the recording industry who entertained or who served the German Mission in Istanbul Here it considers by way of musical composition the shared wish on the part of the Germans and the Turks to create a Lebensraum in Asia
