Portals of Promise Debbie Pushor, the Parent Engagement Collaborative the Parent Engagement Collaborative, 2013-10-30 Working with parents is a significant aspect of educators roles yet it is rare to find curriculum in teacher education programs designed to prepare individuals to consider in philosophical theoretical and pedagogical ways who they will be in relationship with parents and why Schools therefore remain hierarchical structures in which parents are marginalized in relation to decisions affecting teaching and learning This book begins with Pushor s conceptualization of a curriculum of parents a curriculum which explores beliefs and assumptions about parents a vision for education in which educators work alongside parents and family members in the learning and care of children and a desire for reform She describes a curriculum of parents in the form of three graduate teacher education courses which she lived out in relationship with students Graduate students then capture their experiences immersed in this curriculum what they each took up how it shaped their knowledge attitudes and practices and how they lived it out as they returned to their classrooms schools and early learning centres This book is a storied account of their intense immersion in a curriculum of parents and the resulting impact living that curriculum has had on who they are in relation to parents and families It is an honest and vulnerable account of their shared and individual journeys They puzzle over the complexities and the successes of their work and the resulting impact This is not a book of best practice but an invitation to other educators to consider as they did what they do and how it could be different     Promising Practices to Support Family Involvement in Schools Diana Hiatt-Michael,2010-06-01 Promising Practices to Support Family Involvement in Schools is a must have volume for every contemporary educator This monograph provides a broad array of exciting research supported practices to reform schools for the benefit of students teachers administrators families and their communities These practices will lead to higher student academic and school satisfaction outcomes Experts in the field prepared this highly readable volume for teachers school administrators educational researchers policymakers and university faculty The authors share their decades of educational research wise insights and practical experiences with hopes to better life for individual families educators and society This book belongs on every educator s desk     Handbook of School-Family Partnerships Sandra L. Christenson,Amy L. Reschly,2010-06-10 Family and community involvement are increasingly touted as a means of improving both student and school level achievement This has led to an increase in policies initiatives and goals designed to address family involvement in schools Once recognized and implemented such family school partnerships can lead to the following benefits enhanced communication and coordination between parents and educators continuity in developmental goals and approaches across family and school contexts shared ownership and commitment to educational goals increased understanding of the complexities of children s situations and the pooling of family and school resources to find and implement quality solutions to shared goals
