Ausgrabungen und Funde auf Kreta 1934-1935 Spyridon Marinatos, 1935 Sir Arthur Evans and Minoan Crete Nanno Marinatos, 2014-12-22 Before Sir Arthur Evans the principal object of Greek prehistoric archaeology was the reconstruction of history in relation to myth European travellers to Greece viewed its picturesque ruins as the gateway to mythical times while Heinrich Schliemann at the end of the nineteenth century allegedly uncovered at Troy and Mycenae the legendary cities of the Homeric epics It was Evans who in his controversial excavations at Knossos steered Aegean archaeology away from Homer towards the broader Mediterranean world Yet in so doing he is thought to have done his own inventing recreating the Cretan Labyrinth via the Bronze Age myth of the Minotaur Nanno Marinatos challenges the entrenched idea that Evans was nothing more than a flamboyant researcher who turned speculation into history She argues that Evans was an excellent archaeologist one who used scientific observation and classification Evans's combination of anthropology comparative religion and analysis of cultic artefacts enabled him to develop a bold new method which Sir James Frazer called mental anthropology It was this approach that led him to propose remarkable ideas about Minoan religion theories that are now being vindicated as startling new evidence comes to light Examining the frescoes from Akrotiri on Santorini that are gradually being restored the author suggests that Evans's hypothesis of one unified goddess of nature is the best explanation of what they signify Evans was in 1901 ahead of his time in viewing comparable Minoan scenes as a blend of ritual action and mythic imagination Nanno Marinatos is a leading authority on Minoan religion In this latest book she combines history archaeology and myth to bold and original effect offering a wholly new appraisal of Evans and the significance of his work Sir Arthur Evans and Minoan Crete will be essential reading for all students of Minoan civilization as well as an irresistible companion for travellers to Crete

Prehistoric Crete Joanne M. Murphy, 2011-06-15 Since the inception of Minoan archaeology studies pertaining to tombs and tomb deposits have played seminal roles in our understanding of Minoan culture and the reconstruction of Bronze Age society For several geographical areas and chronological periods of Cretan history tombs are the most abundant source of data Each author in this volume takes a clear and distinct approach to the data including some that emphasize political geography on multi regional and multi scalar levels some that examine the commemoration of the dead and of the community for legitimizing purposes but also for maintaining and or creating elite positions in social systems and others that underline the overlap between mortuary rituals and religion The aim of this volume is not to present all
