Varieties of Secularism in Asia Nils Ole Bubandt, Martijn Van Beek, 2012-03-12 Varieties of Secularism is an ethnographically rich theoretically well informed and intellectually coherent volume which builds off the work of Talal Asad Charles Taylor and others who have engaged the issue of secularism s and in socio political life The volume seeks to examine theories of secularism secularity and examine concrete ethnographic cases in order to further the theoretical discussion Whereas Taylor s magisterial work draws up the conditions and problems of a belief in God in Western modernity it leaves unexplored the challenges posed by the spiritual in modernity outside of the North Atlantic rim This anthology seeks to begin that task It does so by suggesting that the kind of secularity described by Taylor is only one amongst others By attending to the shifting relationship between proper religion and bad faiths between politically valorised and embarrassing spiritual phenomena between the new visibilities and silences of magic ancestors and religion in democratic politics this book seeks to outline the particular formations of secularism that have become possible in Asia from China to Indonesia and from Bahrain to Timor Leste This book will appeal to students and scholars of Asian religion politics and anthropology

Globalization, Self-Determination and Violent Conflict V. FitzGerald, F. Stewart, R. Three Centuries of Conflict in East Timor Douglas Kammen, 2015-08-20 One of the most troubling but least studied features of mass political violence is why violence often recurs in the same place over long periods of time Douglas Kammen explores this pattern in Three Centuries of Conflict in East Timor studying that region s tragic past focusing on the small district of Maubara Once a small but powerful kingdom embedded in long distance networks of trade over the course of three centuries the people of Maubara experienced benevolent but precarious Dutch suzerainty Portuguese colonialism punctuated by multiple uprisings and destructive campaigns of pacification Japanese military rule and years of brutal Indonesian occupation In 1999 Maubara was the site of particularly severe violence before and after the UN sponsored referendum that finally led to the restoration of East Timor's independence Beginning with the mystery of paired murders during East Timor's failed decolonization in 1975 and the final flurry of state sponsored violence in 1999 Kammen combines an archival trail and rich oral interviews to reconstruct the history of the leading families of Maubara from 1712 until 2012 Kammen illuminates how recurrent episodes of mass violence shaped alliances and enmities within Maubara as well as with supra local actors and how those legacies have influenced efforts to address human rights violations post conflict reconstruction and the relationship between local experience and the identification with the East Timorese nation The questions posed in Three Centuries of Conflict in East Timor about recurring violence and local narratives apply to many other places besides East Timor from the Caucasus to central Africa and from the Balkans to China where mass violence keeps recurring
