History of Canadian Fiction David Staines, 2021-08-05 The first one volume history of Canadian fiction covering its growth and development from earliest times to the present day Recounting the struggles and the glories of this burgeoning area of investigation it explains Canada's literary growth alongside its remarkable history Marxism and 20th-Century

English-Canadian Novels John Z. Ming Chen, Yuhua Ji, 2015-06-09 This monograph is the first academic work to apply a neo Marxist approach to 20th century Canadian social realist novels pursuing a refreshingly neo Marxist approach to such issues as Bakhtinian notions of the novelistic form and dialogism as applied to Canadian socio political novels influenced by various socialisms socialist feminist concerns economic and sexual politics and the genre of social realism In so doing it demonstrates that Marxist socialism is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s just as social realist novels continue to thrive as a critique of capitalism Readers will find valuable insights into the social significance formal innovations moral sensitivity aesthetic enrichment and ideological complexity of Canadian social realist novels Canadian Essay and Literature Index 1973

Andrew D. Armitage, 1975 Alice Munro and the Anatomy of the Short Story Oriana Palusci, 2018-01-23 Alice Munro has devoted her entire career to the short story form in her fourteen collections having won the Nobel Prize in Literature as master of the contemporary short story This edited volume investigates her art as a storyteller the processes she performs on the contemporary short story genre in her creative anatomical theatre Divided into five topical sections it is a collection of scholarly chapters which offer textual insights into a single story compare two or more texts or casts a more panoramic view on Munro's literary production embracing stories from her first collection Dance of the Happy Shades to her last published Dear Life. Through different critical approaches that range from post structuralism to cultural studies from linguistics and rhetorical analyses to translation studies the authors insist on the concept that no fixed patterns prevail in her short stories as Munro has constantly developed challenged and revised existing modes of generic configuration while discussing the fluidity the elusiveness the indeterminacy the ambiguity of her superb writing

Major Canadian Authors David Stouck, 1988-01-01 Canadian literature in English presents a wealth of imaginative experience that belies the colonial status sometimes accorded the world's second largest country This revised and expanded edition of Major Canadian Authors provides an entrance into that realm Stouck's carefully integrated essays introduce the life and writings of eighteen foremost Canadian authors including Robertson Davies Margaret Laurence Sinclair Ross and Alice Munro The second edition adds a new chapter on Margaret Atwood updates the text and expands the reference guide to include more than sixty Canadian authors

Mothers and Other Clowns (Routledge Revivals) Magdalene Redekop, 2014-03-14 First published in 1992 this is the first study of the work of Alice Munro to focus on her obsession with mothering and to relate it to the hallucinatory quality of her magic realism A bizarre collection of clowning mothers parade across the pages of Munro's fiction playing practical jokes performing stunts and dressing in disguises that recycle vintage literary images Magdalene Redekop studies this with the aim of gaining increased understanding of Munro's evolving comic vision

The Cambridge Companion to Alice Munro David Staines, 2016-03-10 This Companion is a complete introduction to the fictional and non-fictional writings of the Nobel Prize winner Alice Munro

Canada : Images D'une Société Post/nationale Nordic Association for Canadian Studies. International Conference, 2009 Has Canada moved beyond the nation state into the world of the post national To what extent have fixed notions of Canadian nationhood been replaced by a more global decentralized sense of identification Is nationhood or post nationhood best expressed by statelessness and exile or by belonging Or can Canadian national identity in fact fruitfully coexist with the post national consciousness These are some of the issues covered by this volume issues seen from a range of perspectives literary cultural political and economic In the literary sphere the national post national debate is explored both through canonical writers such as L M Montgomery Stephen Leacock and Marie Claire Blais and through recent First Nations Asian Canadian African Canadian Ukrainian Canadian and Quebec writing The political and economic range is equally diverse covering such topics as immigration policy multiculturalism Canadian American relations tourist imaginings of the Canadian North the Canadian city and Quebec nationalism The book brings together 27 original articles from international scholars and creative writers offering both European and Canadian perspectives Six articles in French focus specifically on the francophone sphere

The Cambridge Companion to Margaret Atwood Coral Ann Howells, 2006-03-30 Margaret Atwood's international celebrity has given a new visibility to Canadian literature in English This Companion provides a comprehensive critical account of Atwood's writing across the wide range of genres within which she has worked for the past forty years while paying attention to her Canadian cultural context and the multiple dimensions of her celebrity. The main concern is with Atwood the writer but there is also Atwood the media star and public performer, cultural critic, environmentalist and human rights spokeswoman, social and political satirist and mythmaker. This immensely varied profile is addressed in a series of chapters which cover biographical, textual and contextual issues. The Introduction contains an analysis of dominant trends in Atwood criticism since the 1970s while the essays by twelve leading international Atwood critics represent the wide range of different perspectives in current Atwood scholarship. Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index, 1975. Margaret Atwood: An Introduction to Critical Views of Her Fiction Gina Wisker, 2011-12-29. Margaret Atwood is an internationally renowned, highly versatile author whose work creatively explores what it means to be human through genres ranging from feminist fable to science fiction and Gothic romance. In this timely new study, Gina Wisker reassesses Atwood's entire fictional output to date, providing both original analysis and a lively overview of the criticism surrounding her work. Margaret Atwood: An Introduction to Critical Views of Her Fiction covers all of Atwood's novels as well as her short stories. Surveys the critical reception of her fiction and the fascinating debates developed by key Atwood critics. Explores the main approaches to reading Atwood's work and examines issues such as her interventions in genre writing and ecology as well as her feminism, post feminism and narrative usage, both conventional and experimental. Concise and approachable, this is an ideal volume for anyone studying the fiction of this major contemporary writer.

Margaret Laurence Writes Africa and Canada Laura K. Davis, 2017-05-18. Margaret Laurence Writes Africa and Canada is the first book to examine how Laurence addresses decolonization and nation building in 1950s Somalia and Ghana and 1960s and 1970s English Canada. Focusing on Laurence's published works as well as her unpublished letters not yet discussed by critics, the book articulates how Laurence and her characters are poised between African colonies of occupation during decolonization and the settler colony of English Canada during the implementation of Canadian multiculturalism. Laurence's Canadian characters are often divided subjects who are not quite members of their ancestral imperial cultures yet also not truly native to their nation. Margaret Laurence Writes Africa and Canada shows how Laurence and her characters negotiate complex tensions between self and nation and argues that Laurence's African and Canadian writing demonstrates a divided Canadian subject who holds significant implications for both the individual and the country of Canada. Bringing together Laurence's writing about Africa and Canada, Davis offers a unique contribution to the study of Canadian literature. The book is an original interpretation of Laurence's work and reveals how she displaces the simple notion that Canada is a sum total of different cultures and conceives Canada as a mosaic that is in flux and constituted through continually changing social relations. The Encyclopedia of the Gothic William Hughes, David Punter, Andrew Smith, 2015-10-08. THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE GOTHIC Well written and interesting, it is a testament to the breadth and depth of knowledge about its central subject among the more than 130 contributing writers and also among the three editors, each of whom is a significant figure.

How does one of the greatest storytellers of our time write her own life The long awaited memoir from one of our most lauded and influential cultural figures Every writer is at least two beings the one who lives and the one who writes Though everything written must have passed through their minds or mind they are not the same Raised by ruggedly independent scientifically minded parents entomologist father dietician mother Atwood spent most of each year in the wild forest of northern Quebec This childhood was unfettered and nomadic sometimes isolated on her eighth birthday It sounds forlorn It was forlorn It gets more forlorn but also thrilling and beautiful From this unconventional start Atwood unfolds the story of her life linking seminal moments to the books that have shaped our literary landscape from the cruel year that spawned Cat's Eye to the Orwellian 1980s of East Berlin where she wrote The Handmaid's Tale In pages bursting with bohemian gatherings her magical life with the wildly charismatic writer Graeme Gibson and major political turning points we meet poets bears Hollywood actors and larger than life characters straight from the pages of an Atwood novel As we travel with her along the course of her life more and more is revealed about her writing the connections between real life and art and the workings of one of our greatest imaginations Contemporary Women

Writers Look Back Alice Ridout, 2011-01-13 Long before John Barth announced in his famous 1967 essay that late 20th century fiction was The Literature of Exhaustion authors have been retelling and recycling stories Barth was however right to identify in postmodern fiction a particular self consciousness about its belatedness at the end of a long literary tradition This book traces the move in contemporary women's writing from the self conscious ironic parodies of postmodernism to the nostalgic and historical turn of the 21st century It analyses how contemporary women writers deal with their literary inheritances offering an illuminating and provocative study of contemporary women writers re-writings of previous texts and stories Through close readings of novels by key contemporary women writers including Toni Morrison Doris Lessing Margaret Atwood Zadie Smith Emma Tennant and Helen Fielding and of the ITV adaptation Lost in Austen Alice Ridout examines the politics of parody and nostalgia exploring the limitations and possibilities of both in the contexts of feminism and postcolonialism

Cooking by the Book Mary Anne Schofield, 1989 The essays collected here explore the power and sensuality that food engenders within literature The book permits the reader to sample food as a rhetorical structure one that allows the individual writers to articulate the abstract concepts in a medium that is readily understandable The second part of Cooking by the Book turns to the more diverse food rhetorics of the marketplace What for example is the fast food rhetoric Why are there so many eating disorders in our society Is it possible to teach philosophy through cookery How long has vegetarianism been popular

The Small Details of Life Kathryn Carter, 2002-01-01 The diaries of twenty different women from various points in Canadian history covering 160 years from 1830 to 1996 Each diary is a snapshot into a different time period Includes short biographies on each woman 2002
