Geopolitics Of Australia's Regional Relations:

The Geopolitics of Australia's Regional Relations D. Rumley, 2001-06-30 The origins of this book go back 30 years to the stimulation and interest generated by the political geography seminars led by John House at the University of Newcastle Upon Tyne I was very fortunate to graduate among its extremely capable sporty and enthusiastic class of 68 from where several academic geographers emerged Equally fortunately some of them and their predecessors had already blazed a trail to undertake graduate studies in Canada At the University of British Columbia I was supervised at different times by Julian Minghi and Victor Prescott both of whom are not only extremely capable academics but are also very fine people I owe an enormous debt to John Julian and Victor and to the British and Canadian taxpayers who provided financial support for my University studies In 1974 I began an academic career at the University of Western Australia where I have been ever since save for a two year period from 1991-3 as Professor of Australian Studies in the Department of International Relations at the University of Tokyo Viewing Australia and the Asia Pacific region from this different perspective within an extremely supportive Japanese environment had a profound impact I am especially grateful for the support provided by so many Japanese academic colleagues and friends beginning as early as 1976 Three individuals deserve special mention for their help guidance and enduring friendship George Ohshima Hiroshi Tanabe and Akihiro Kinda

The Geopolitics of Australia's Regional Relations D. Rumley, 1999-07-31 This is the first book which examines Australia's external relations from a political geographical perspective It stresses above all the changing orientation of these relationships towards the Asia Pacific region It takes a realistic perspective emphasising the internal relationships among environment society economy and politics in a spatial context Audience This volume is of particular interest to political geographers specialists in foreign affairs and international relations but it is also aimed at business people diplomats and general readers

Australia and the Middle East Fethi Mansouri, 2006-08-25 What is the history behind Australia's relations with the Muslim world and the Middle East in particular which led Australia to be described as a frontline of the so called War on Terror Australia's encounters with the Middle East have historically been defined through the British Empire the Commonwealth and more recently through its close strategic ties with the US This book traces the nature of the Australia Middle East relationship from an insular White Australia ideology through to the ongoing global impact of September 11 and the decision to send troops to Iraq and Afghanistan Comprehensive analysis of these complex ties provides an essential basis for understanding past encounters evaluating present policies and developing a framework for future interactions Australia and the Middle East draws together the various dimensions and themes of this relationship from trade and migration to increasing strategic interest and military involvement in the region

Australia's Arc of Instability Dennis Rumley, Vivian Louis Forbes, Christopher Griffin, 2006-06-30 The idea for this book emerged from a conversation between Vivian Forbes and Charles Eaton following two seminars held in the Department of Geography at the University of Western Australia given by Trevor Soeld and Christopher Griffin more than ve years ago One seminar involved papers from Charles Eaton and Christopher Griffin on the recent Speight coup in Fiji the other given by Trevor Soeld was on the Solomon Islands The seminars were attended by among others Dennis Rumley who on getting involved in the conversation suggested the idea of a book and then followed through on its scope structure planning and possible contributors Looking back now we owe a special debt of gratitude to Charles Eaton both for his enthusiasm and his ideas then and for his continued support throughout the whole project Since that time ve years ago many people have boarded and have left the Arc Indeed the very project itself exhibited a degree of instability At times it even looked as though it might not stay afloat Thankfully several early boarders remained firmly anchored Other authors were co-opted later some at relatively short notice one or two of them under mild duress We extend our heartfelt thanks to all of these contributors for remaining patient enthusiastic and keeping faith with the project Naturally a project like this dealing with such a large and dynamic region will always be out of date

Strategic Cultures and Security Policies in the Asia-Pacific Jeffrey S. Lantis, 2016-03-22 This book shows how one of the most powerful tools of security studies strategic culture illuminates the origins and implications of the Asia Pacific region's difficult issues from the rise of China and the American pivot to the shifting calculations of many other actors Strategic culture sometimes challenges and always enriches prevailing neo realist presumptions about the region It provides a bridge between material and ideational explanations of state behavior and helps capture the tension between neoclassical realist and constructivist approaches The case studies in this book survey the role of strategic culture in the behaviors of Australia China Japan the Philippines South Korea and the United States They show the contrast between structural expectations and cultural predispositions as realist geopolitical security threats and opportunities interact with domestic elite and popular interpretation of historical narratives and distinctive political military cultures to influence security policies The concluding chapter devotes special attention to methodological issues at the heart of strategic cultural studies as well as how culture may impact the potential for future conflict or cooperation in the region The result is a body of work that helps deepen our understanding of strategic cultures in the Asia Pacific in comparative perspective and enrich security studies This book was published as a special issue of Contemporary Security Policy

IOR Crucible for Survival Timothy Doyle, Melissa Risely, 2008 In this collection Timothy Doyle and Melissa Risely bring together an international group of environmentalists political scientists and international relations scholars to address key issues vital to determining the human and environmental security of the Indian Ocean Region Addressing topics that include agrifood production systems the geopolitics of water resources along the Mekong River basin oil production transportation waste disposal and climate change the contributors highlight the importance of regional collaboration and offer policy and management strategies for cooperative multinational problem solving Geography, Power, Strategy and Defence Policy Desmond Ball, Sheryn Lee, 2016-05-18 Paul Dibb AM has had an extraordinary career He enjoys an international scholarly reputation of the highest order while at the same time he has done much distinguished public service He was a pioneer in moving back and forth between posts in government departments notably the Department of Defence and academia He began as a student of Soviet economic geography and then spent nearly two decades in Australian Defence intelligence including service as Head of the National Assessments Staff NAS in the Joint Intelligence Organisation JIO from 1974 to 1978 Deputy Director of JIO in 1978-80 Director of JIO in 1986-88 and Deputy Secretary of Defence Strategy and Intelligence in 1988-91 before becoming a Professor in the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre SDSC at The Australian National University where he is now an Emeritus Professor He has been quite happy to engage in vigorous public debate about important and controversial strategic and defence issues giving him a high public profile The contributors include two former Chancellors of ANU one a former Minister of Defence and the other a former Secretary of the Department of Defence a former Chief of the Defence Force CDF and other former senior officials as well as academic specialists in geography international relations and strategic and defence studies This would be a high quality set of essays for any edited volume but for a festschrift a genre that sometimes generates uneven collections this is an exceptional assembly The individual pieces are very good together they have coherence and power Professor Ian Hall Professor of International Relations Griffith University The Limits of Peacekeeping: Volume 4, The Official History of Australian Peacekeeping, Humanitarian and Post-Cold War Operations Jean Bou, Bob Breen, David Horner, Garth Pratten, Miesje de Vogel, 2018-10-10 The Limits of Peacekeeping highlights the Australian government's peacekeeping efforts in Africa and the Americas from 1992 to 2005 Changing world power structures and increased international cooperation saw a boom in Australia's peacekeeping operations between 1991 and 1995 The initial optimism of this period proved to be misplaced as the limits of the United Nations and the international community to resolve deep seated problems became clear There were also limits on how many missions a middle sized country like Australia could support Restricted by the size of the armed forces and financial and geographic constraints peacekeeping was always a secondary task to ensuring the defence of Australia Faith in the effectiveness of peacekeeping reduced significantly and the election of the Howard Coalition Government in 1996 confined peacekeeping missions to the near region from 1996-2001 This volume is an authoritative and compelling history of Australia

s changing attitudes towards peacekeeping Modelling Geographical Systems B. Boots,A. Okabe,R. Thomas,2013-11-11 Within the realm of quantitative geography systems modelling is specifically concerned with understanding those relationships that influence the attributes of phenomena located in space and time The intention is to replicate the main processes influencing a system s behaviour and thereby assist its manage ment through a capability to estimate future change Over the last few decades one of the major institutional initiatives for promoting such research has been provided by specialised Study Groups and Commissions established by the International Geographical Union IGU These scholarly networks have aimed to co ordinate international research agendas for geographical systems model ling and their activities have been recorded in both edited volumes Fischer and Getis 1997 and special issues of learned journals Wilkinson and Boots 2000 Leung and Okabe 2001 Presently this facilitative task is the charge of the Commission on Modelling Geographical Systems CMGS appointedat the IGU Hague Congress in 1996 and chaired by Barry Boots 1996 2000 and Richard Thomas 2000 present Set against this background this book provides a perspective on the work of the CMGS from 1996 until the IGU Seoul Congress in August 2000 through a collection of papers first presented to our sessions at this event Moreover a number of Japanese delegates were attracted to this Asian venue and their con tributions provide many new ideas concerning the implementation of systems analysis Tourism and Migration C.M. Hall,A.M. Williams,2013-06-29 The origins of this book lie in a project of the International Geographical Union Study Group on the Geography of Sustainable Tourism The theme Tourism and migration reflects the growing interests of tourism geographers in common with other geographers and social scientists to reach across traditional cleavages in the way research is undertaken and knowledge is formed In this instance the aim was to connect the largely discrete research domains of tourism studies and migration This was informed not only by awareness of the limitations of disciplinary barriers but also by the growing need to respond to the emergence of new forms of mobility and circulation which fitted uncomfortably into many of the analytical categories of tourism and migration studies The extension of property rights across boundaries e g second homes vacation homes and time shares space time convergence changing approaches to work and leisure and structural changes in economies and the demographic profiles of societies are only some of the factors which have generated these new forms of mobility These serve to bind places and individuals in new and challenging ways with implication for both movers and stayers The various chapters of this volume bring together a range of dimensions and locations within which to study the relationships between tourism and migration Challenge and Change Norma C. Noonan,Vidya Nadkarni,2016-11-11 This edited volume addresses how the state system the organizing political institution in world politics copes with challenges of rapid change unanticipated crises and general turmoil in the twenty first century These disruptions are occurring against the background of declining US influence and the rising power of countries in Asia Africa and Latin America Traditional inter state security concerns coexist with new security preoccupations such as rivalries likely to erupt over the resources of the global commons the threat of cyber warfare the ever present threat of terrorism and the economic and social repercussions of globalization The contributors explore these key themes and the challenges posed by rapid change

Geography: Discipline, Profession and Subject since 1870 Gary S. Dunbar, 2013-03-14 Gary S Dunbar Pro fesh yon al i zay shun pro fesh yon al i ZAY shunl I do not think I like that word I am quite certain I do not like that wordl said A F Martin of Oxford University in 1980 when I mentioned to him that I was making a study of the professionalization of geography in Europe and North America from about 1870 to 1930 I should not have been surprised by his reply because Mr Martin a highly regarded lecturer tutor and university man was in some ways a typical example of his generation of British geographers in that he did not have an advanced degree and his publication record was meager Except for a single remarkable essay Martin 1951 he was not well known in the field of geography at least not outside the United Kingdom Was he then a professional geographer Yes indeed because he was a full time scholar in a distinguished university even though he lacked the sort of credentials that have been demanded of subsequent generations of scholars at Oxford and elsewhere I certainly do not mean to denigrate Martin or his ilk I am simply using this anecdote to launch a book on the emergence of modern geography Geography, Culture and Education

Rod Gerber, M. Williams, 2002-10-31 The aim of this book is to inject more intercultural understanding and education into people s lives This is achieved by focusing on key aspects such as geography and culture geography and citizenship pedagogic implications and future directions for inter cultural learning understanding and education This publication demonstrates how the study of geography can assist people in different social and cultural groups to sustain their lifeworlds and improve them for future generations of citizens

Cities between Competitiveness and Cohesion Peter Ache, Hans Thor Andersen, Thomas Maloutas, Mike Raco, Tuna Taşan-Kok, 2008-04-29 This book offers a cross European analysis of urban and regional strategies of reconciling welfare and competitiveness It develops an understanding of the strategy challenge to reconcile competitiveness with cohesion and provides an analysis of cities and regions as actors in multi level governance settings The book offers a European comparative view on housing labour markets enterprises ethnical issues gender dimensions urban development projects transport and sustainability Managing Intermediate Size Cities

M. Romanos, C. Auffrey, 2002-10-31 I am both pleased and honored to introduce this book to readers and I want to take a few moments to explain why Michael Romanos and Christopher Auffrey have produced a volume which will be of immense value to several different types of people Planners and other specialists concerned with the development of the Southeast Asian region and the issues and opportunities associated with urban growth and sustainable development will find much to interest them in this book But the book I believe has much wider appeal and that is what I want to touch on briefly here The University of Cincinnati where Michael Chris and I work is attempting to globalize itself to develop its institutional capacity for international activities to infuse its curriculum with international themes and to promote and increase global competence among its graduates Many American universities are doing this of course In the process we are seeing some very interesting experiments in pedagogy as faculty look for learning moments in new and sometimes exotic places Michael Chris and their colleagues have it seems to me developed an outstanding model for learning across national and cultural boundaries In the chapters which follow you will read the results of their work What will be less apparent however is the process by which that work was produced

Geographers Patrick H. Armstrong, Geoffrey Martin, 2015-12-14 An annual collection of studies of individuals who have made major contributions to the development of geography and geographical thought Subjects are drawn from all periods and from all parts of the world and include famous names as well as those less well known explorers independent thinkers and scholars Each paper describes the geographer's education life and work and discusses their influence and spread of academic ideas Each study includes a select bibliography and brief chronology The work includes a general index and a cumulative index of geographers listed in volumes published to date

Democratic and Capitalist Transitions in Eastern Europe M. Dobry, 2000-06-30 here of exchange and borrowing in debates between these disciplines all the more so as we shall see a little further on as the analysis of the Central and East European transformations has also contributed to introduce into political science and sociology theoretical systematizations first formulated in economics In addition to this opening up to the objects and theories of economics the pseudo dilemma of simultaneity produced by a kind of feedback another series of effects on transitology and the related research domains Contrary to most expectations and predictions in the wake of the 1989 upheavals affirmations that the dilemmas problems or challenges of the transitions in Central and Eastern Europe ought to have been dealt with and resolved one after the other in sequence in the manner of the more or less idealized trajectories of Great Britain or Spain trajectories significantly enough promoted far beyond the circles of scholars as a model of transition and above all contrary to the assumption that superposing a radical economic transformation upon a transition to democracy would make the whole edifice thoroughly unworkable unstable or dangerous it must be stated clearly out that the two processes in their simultaneity are not necessarily incompatible This is one of the main findings stressed upon in several chapters of this book

Nationalising and Denationalising European Border Regions, 1800-2000 Hans Knippenberg, J. Markuse, 2012-12-06 During the last two centuries the political map of Europe has changed considerably More recently there are remarkably contrasting tendencies concerning the functions and densities of borders The borders inside the European Union lost their importance whereas Central and Eastern Europe saw the birth of a multitude of new state borders The long term study of border regions therefore is a fascinating subject for geographers historians social scientists and political scientists The main thesis of this book is that the rise of the modern nation state reinforced the separating function of state borders by nationalising the people on both sides of it This process gained strength in the late 19th and early 20th centuries and was challenged in the second half of this century by processes of supra national integration globalisation and the revolution in communication and transport as the case studies from different parts of Europe of this book will show Audience This book will be of interest to academics researchers and practitioners in geography history political sciences European studies and East European studies Enterprising Worlds Jay D. Gatrell, Neil Reid, 2007-05-16 Enterprising World represents the culmination of several years of work by geographers planners and economists The chapters represent the collective efforts of the International Geographical Union s Commission on the Dynamics of Economic Spaces This collection is the result of the 2005 annual meeting in Toledo Ohio USA The chapters have been selected based on their contribution to the broader community of economic geographers and policymakers and to demonstrate the inherent interconnectedness of these themes and at times the conceptual tension that exists between ethics economics and the environment insofar as these important issues shape the contours and cleavages of contemporary regional development In particular the chapters represent the diversity of perspectives on these issues The authors provide insight into the workings of a variety of communities regions and nations as they seek to balance economic growth with the growing necessity to simultaneously promote ethical and sustainable regional development As such this book is truly international in both scale and scope and provides the reader with a survey of emerging and established concepts theories and conflicts in economic geography
