Bruggeman,2011-08-15 In Here George Washington Was Born Seth C Bruggeman examines the history of commemoration in the United States by focusing on the George Washington Birthplace National Monument in Virginia s Northern Neck where contests of public memory have unfolded with particular vigor for nearly eighty years Washington left the birthplace with his family at a young age and rarely returned The house burned in 1779 and would likely have passed from memory but for George Washington Parke Custis who erected a stone marker on the site in 1815 creating the first birthplace monument in America Both Virginia and the U S War Department later commemorated the site but neither matched the work of a Virginia ladies association that in 1923 resolved to build a replica of the home The National Park Service permitted construction of the replica house until a shocking archeological discovery sparked protracted battles between the two organizations over the building s appearance purpose and claims to historical authenticity Bruggeman sifts through years of correspondence superintendent logs and other park records to reconstruct delicate negotiations of power among a host of often unexpected claimants on Washington s memory By paying close attention to costumes furnishings and other material culture he reveals the centrality of race and gender in the construction of Washington s public memory and reminds us that national parks have not always welcomed all Americans What s more Bruggeman offers the story of Washington s birthplace as a cautionary tale about the perils and possibilities of public history by asking why we care about famous birthplaces at all History of the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration ...
