Georges Woke Up Laughing Nina Glick Schiller, Georges Eugene Fouron, 2001-11-14 A study of how migrants adapt to their new country while still maintaining ties to the old with an emphasis on Haitian migrants to the US Interlopers of Empire Andrew Arsan, 2014 First comprehensive history of Lebanese communities of Francophone West Africa in the colonial period Tourism, Mobility, and Second Homes Colin Michael Hall, Dieter K. Müller, 2004-01-01 Annotation Second homes are an integral component of tourism in rural and peripheral areas This volume represents the first major international review of second homes for over 25 years The volume represents essential reading for those interested in rural regional development processes Home Cooking in the Global Village Richard Wilk, 2006-02-01 Winner of the Society for Economic Anthropology Annual Book Prize 2008 Belize a tiny corner of the Caribbean wedged into Central America has been a fast food nation since buccaneers and pirates first stole ashore As early as the 1600s it was already caught in the great paradox of globalization how can you stay local and relish your own home cooking while tasting the delights of the global marketplace Menus recipes and bad colonial poetry combine with Wilk's sharp anthropological insight to give an important new perspective on the perils and problems of globalization Rethinking Transnationalism Ludger Pries, 2008-08-18 This book presents theoretical contributions to the transnationalism approach and offers empirical studies in the field of the transnationalization of organizations Migration in the 21st Century Pauline Gardiner Barber, Winnie Lem, 2012-08-21 This edited collection focuses on global migration in its inter regional international and transnational variants and argues that contemporary migration scholarship is significantly advanced both within anthropology and beyond it when ethnography is theoretically engaged to grapple with the social consequences and asymmetries of twenty first century capitalism's global modalities Drawn from settings across the globe case studies explore the nuanced formations of class and power within particular migration flows while addressing the complex analytics of a contemporary critical political economy of migration Subjects include global migrants as capitalists entrepreneurs and cosmopolitans as well as workers and immigrants who are subject to varying degrees of precariousness under intensified competition for profits within contemporary global economies By re-addressing the question of the relationship between changes in global capitalism and migration the book aims for a timely intervention into the debates on migration which have come to be one of the most contentious emotionally fraught issues in North America and Europe The Migration Apparatus Gregory Feldman, 2011-10-19 Every year millions of people from around the world grapple with the European Union's emerging migration management apparatus Through border controls biometric information technology and circular migration programs this amorphous system combines a whirlwind of disparate policies The Migration Apparatus examines the daily practices of migration policy officials as they attempt to harmonize legal channels for labor migrants while simultaneously cracking down on illegal migration Working in the crosshairs of debates surrounding national security and labor officials have limited individual influence few ties to each other and no serious contact with the people whose movements they regulate As Feldman reveals this complex construction creates a world of indirect human relations that enables the violence of social indifference as much as the targeted brutality of collective hatred Employing an innovative nonlocal ethnographic methodology Feldman illuminates the danger of allowing indifference to govern how we regulate population and people's lives in the world today Constrained Opportunities Efe C. Özek, 2025-03-01 This study aims to understand political transnationalism through the political incorporation of migrants in the receiving country With a qualitative analysis of the perceptions of transnational second generation Turks towards the political opportunity structures in Germany and the Netherlands it seeks an answer to the question How do political opportunity structures in the receiving country shape political transnationalism among Turkish migrants in Western Europe It suggests a causal explanation for the impact of political opportunity structures on political transnationalism through a model called constrained opportunities The empirical results reveal constraints on political opportunity structures that lead to deficient immigrant political incorporation in the country of residence and reinforce political attachment with the country of origin Becoming Diasporically Moroccan Lauren Wagner, 2017-08-14 Questions persist about post migrant generations and their sense of belonging in one homeland or another As descendants of migrants second and further generations often struggle to establish an unproblematic belonging in to a resident homeland as the place where they live and work but are often categorized as outsiders Simultaneously because of improving access to travel they can also maintain a physical presence in an ancestral homeland However their encounters there may also problematize their sense of belonging During their summertime visits to Morocco the European Moroccan participants in this ethnography repeatedly find themselves negotiating a sense of belonging in the homeland This book analyzes how these negotiations take place in order to investigate how the categories of diasporic and Moroccan become shaped by the interactional encounters observed In the setting of Morocco where trajectories to and from Europe have colored several centuries of history this book provides a framework to explore how migration and return become incorporated into contemporary Moroccanness Migration, Regional Integration and Human Security Harald Kleinschmidt, 2006 This original and timely book is the first to analyze the interconnectedness of migration regional integration and the new security studies The book explores the conflict between the actions of transnational migrants and state government policy in a series of case studies Transnationalities of Migrant Moral Economies in a Transforming World Vytis Čiubrinskas, Nina Glick Schiller, 2025-04-01 People who are on the move often occupy a state of betwixt and between in which moral and economic value is subject to change This enlightening and geographically wide ranging reassessment of migrant moral economies Transnationalities of Migrant Moral Economies in a Transforming World delineates migrants reciprocity responsibility and dignity as they respond to and contest unequal political and economic power In doing so this volume examines the transformative potential of transnational mobility to create social networks and to sustain reciprocity capable of resisting contemporary authoritarian efforts to sacralize borders and dehumanize migrants

Tourism, Diasporas and Space Tim Coles, Dallen J. Timothy, 2004-08-02 In a vibrant interdisciplinary collection of essays from leading scholars in the field this book introduces the main features and constructs of diasporas and explores their implications for the consumption production and practices of tourism

Narratives of Exile and Return Mary Chamberlain, 2017-07-05 In this original and compelling book Mary Chamberlain explores the nature and meaning of migration for Barbadians who migrated to Britain and elsewhere It is a unique oral and social history based on life story interviews across three or more generations of Barbadian families Locating migration within the contemporary debate on modernity Narratives of Exile and Return highlights the continuing role of migration in shaping the culture and history of Barbados But it does more by providing post modern theorizing with concrete national and ethnic settings

Los Yarderos Sergio Lemus, 2025-05-20 Migrants from the Mexican states of Zacatecas Guanajuato Jalisco and Michoacán have become an important presence in Chicago and the Midwest Many hold jobs as yarderos gardening caring for lawns and doing other landscaping work Sergio Lemus explores the lives of these migrants and looks at the struggles they face as they work to make the city their home Drawing on fieldwork in South Chicago Lemus tells the stories of first and second generation yarderos and discusses the historical economic cultural and political ramifications they face as they acquire their working class identity Lemus's compassionate portrait places them within America's ongoing tradition as a nation of immigrants while analyzing their place within today's transborder cultural moment Perceptive and humane Los Yarderos reveals how a group of Mexican immigrants navigates the crossings of the borders that divide class color hierarchies gender and belonging

Redefining Russian Literary Diaspora, 1920-2020 Maria Rubins, 2021-03-11 Over the century that has passed since the start of the massive post revolutionary exodus Russian literature has thrived in multiple locations around the globe What happens to cultural vocabularies politics of identity literary canon and language when writers transcend the metropolitan and national boundaries and begin to negotiate new experience gained in the process of migration Redefining Russian Literary Diaspora 1920-2020 sets a new agenda for the study of Russian diaspora writing countering its conventional reception as a subsidiary branch of national literature and reorienting the field from an excessive emphasis on the homeland and origins to an analysis of transnational circulations that shape extraterritorial cultural practices Integrating a variety of conceptual perspectives ranging from diaspora and postcolonial studies to the theories of translation and self translation World Literature and evolutionary literary criticism the contributors argue for a distinct nature of diasporic literary expression predicated on hybridity ambivalence and a sense of multiple belonging As the complementary case studies demonstrate diaspora narratives consistently recode historical memory contest the mainstream discourses of Russianness rewrite received cultural tropes and explore topics that have remained marginal or taboo in the homeland These diverse discussions are framed by a focused examination of diaspora as a methodological perspective and its relevance for the modern human condition

Imagining Futures Carola Lentz, Isidore Lobnibe, 2022-05-03 What keeps a family together In Imagining

Futures authors Carola Lentz and Isidore Lobnibe offer a unique look at one extended African family currently comprising over five hundred members in Northern Ghana and Burkina Faso. Members of this extended family like many others in the region find themselves living increasingly farther apart and working in diverse occupations ranging from religious clergy and civil service to farming. What keeps them together as a family? In their groundbreaking work, Lentz and Lobnibe argue that shared memories rather than only material interests bind a family together. Imagining Futures explores the changing practices of remembering in an African family and offers a unique contribution to the growing field of memory studies beyond the usual focus of Europe and America. Lentz and Lobnibe explore how in an increasingly globalized postcolonial world, memories themselves are not static accounts of past events but are actually malleable and shaped by both current concerns and imagined futures. Anthropologica, 2004. Family Love in the Diaspora Mary Chamberlain, 2011-12-31. Colonial social policy in the British West Indies from the nineteenth century onward assumed that black families lacked moral structure and men a void that explained poverty and lack of citizenship. African Caribbean families appeared as the mirror opposite of the ideal family advocated by the white colonial authorities. Yet contrary to this image, what provided continuity in the period and contributed to survival was in fact the strength of family connections, their inclusivity and support. This study is based on 150 life story narratives across three generations of forty-five families who originated in the former British West Indies. The author focuses on the particular axes of Caribbean peoples from the former British colonies of Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago, and Barbados and Great Britain. Divided into four parts, the chapters within each present an oral history of migrant African Caribbean families, demonstrating the varieties of organization and dynamics of family through their memories and narratives. It traces the evolution of Caribbean life, argues how the family can be seen as the tool that helps transmit and transform historical mentalities, examines the dynamics of family life, and makes comparisons with Indo Caribbean families. Above all, this is a story of families that evolved against the odds of slavery and poverty to form a distinct Creole form through which much of the social history of the English-speaking Caribbean is refracted. Family Love in the Diaspora offers an important new perspective on African Caribbean families, their history, and the problems they face for now and the future. It offers a long overdue historical dimension to the debates on Caribbean families. Mary Chamberlain is professor of modern social history at Oxford Brookes University in the United Kingdom. She is co-editor of the Transaction Memory and Narrative series, which now has nineteen volumes in print. Race, Nation, and Religion in the Americas Henry Goldschmidt, Elizabeth A. McAlister, 2004-09-02. Publisher Description. Asian Americans Pyong Gap Min, 2005-07-14. Compared to many existing texts on this subject, which tend to take a rather historical approach, this book focuses on more contemporary Asian experiences. Thus, Min has provided a new tool for those of use who have looked for adequate material to teach current Asian American trends in advanced undergraduate courses in the sociology of race as well as in ethnic studies. Encompassing a variety of perspectives from prominent scholars, makes this book a valuable device to examine the less
