Fantastic Voyages of the Cinematic Imagination Matthew Solomon, 2011-05-01 Best moving pictures I ever saw Thus did one Vaudeville theater manager describe Georges Melies's A Trip to the Moon Le Voyage dans la lune after it was screened for enthusiastic audiences in October 1902 Cinema's first true blockbuster A Trip to the Moon still inspires such superlatives and continues to be widely viewed on DVD on the Internet and in countless film courses In Fantastic Voyages of the Cinematic Imagination leading film scholars examine Melies's landmark film in detail demonstrating its many crucial connections to literature popular culture and visual culture of the time as well as its long afterlife in more recent films television and music videos Together these essays make clear that Melies was not only a major filmmaker but also a key figure in the emergence of modern spectacle and the birth of the modern cinematic imagination and by bringing interdisciplinary methodologies of early cinema studies to bear on A Trip to the Moon the contributors also open up much larger questions about aesthetics media and modernity In his introduction Matthew Solomon traces the convoluted provenance of the film's multiple versions and its key place in the historiography of cinema and an appendix contains a useful dossier of primary source documents that contextualize the film's production along with translations of two major articles written by Melies himself group of ephemeral artists from the 1880s demonstrating the group's relevance for M li's early cinema and modernity By positioning M li's in relation to the material culture of his time Solomon demonstrates that M li's work was expressive of a distinctly modern and modernist sensibility that appeared in France during the 1880s in the wake of the Second Industrial Revolution

Artificial Darkness Noam M. Elcott, 2016-05-30 Darkness has a history and a uniquely modern form Distinct from night shadows and artificial light artificial darkness has been overlooked until now In fact controlled darkness was essential to the rise of photography and cinema science and spectacle and a century of advanced art and film Artificial Darkness is the first book to historicize and theorize this phenomenon and map its applications across a range of media and art forms In exploring how artificial darkness shaped modern art film and media Noam M Elcott addresses seminal and obscure works alongside their sites of production such as photography darkrooms film studios and laboratories and their sites of reception including theaters cinemas and exhibitions He argues that artists scientists and entertainers like tienne Jules Marey Richard Wagner Georges M li's and Oskar Schlemmer revolutionized not only images but also everything surrounding them the screen the darkness and the experience of bodies and space At the heart of the book is the black screen a technology of darkness that spawned today's blue and green screens and has undergirded numerous advanced art and film practices to this day Turning familiar art and film narratives on their heads Artificial Darkness is a revolutionary treatment of an elusive yet fundamental aspect of art and media history

Classical Projections Eleni Palis, 2022 Quotations are a standard way that the humanities make meaning the pull quote epigraph and quotation are standard for citing evidence and invoking and interrogating authority in both literary and scholarly writing However film studies has yet to seriously examine how moving images can quote one another convening interaction and creating new knowledge across time Classical Projections offers film quotation as a new concept for understanding how preexisting moving image fragments are reframed and re viewed within subsequent films As a visual corollary to literary quotation film quotations embed film fragments in on screen movie screens Though film quotations have appeared since silent cinema Classical Projections focuses on quotations of classical Hollywood film mainstream American studio production 1915 1950 as quoted in post classical Hollywood roughly 1960 to present This strategic historical frame asks how does post classical cinema visualize its awareness of coming after a classical or golden age How do post classical filmmakers claim or disavow classical history How do historically disenfranchised post classical filmmakers whether by gender sexuality or race grapple with exclusionary and stereotype ridden canons As a constitutive element of post classical authorship film quotations amass and manufacture classical Hollywood in retrospective highly strategic ways By revealing how quotational tellings of film history build and embolden exclusionary myopic canons Classical Projections uncovers opportunities to construct more capacious cultural memory
