Francesca Hughes,2014-11-07 Why the rise of redundant precision in architecture and the accompanying fear of error are key to understanding the discipline's needs, anxieties and desires. When architects draw even brick walls to six decimal places with software designed to cut lenses, it is clear that the logic that once organized relations between precision and material error in construction has unraveled. Precision, already a promiscuous term, seems now to have been uncoupled from its contract with truthfulness. Meanwhile, error and the always political space of its dissent has reconfigured itself. In The Architecture of Error, Francesca Hughes argues that behind the architect's acute fetishization of redundant precision lies a special fear of physical error. What if we were to consider the pivotal cultural and technological transformations of modernism to have been driven not so much by the causes its narratives declare, she asks, as by an unspoken horror of loss of control over error, material life and everything that matter stands for. Hughes traces the rising intolerance of material vagaries from the removal of ornament to digitalized fabrication that produced the blind rejection of organic materials, the proliferation of material testing and the rhetorical obstacles that blighted cybernetics. Why is it, she asks, that the more we cornered physical error, the more we feared it? Hughes's analysis of redundant precision exposes an architecture of fear whose politics must be called into question. Proposing error as a new category for architectural thought, Hughes draws on other disciplines and practices that have interrogated precision and failure, citing the work of scientists Nancy Cartwright and Evelyn Fox Keller and visual artists Gordon Matta Clark, Barbara Hepworth, Rachel Whiteread and others. These non-architect practitioners, she argues, show that error need not be excluded and precision can be made accountable. The Facts on File Companion to the French Novel Karen L. Taylor,2006 French novels such as Madame Bovary and The Stranger are staples of high school and college literature courses. This work provides coverage of the French novel since its origins in the 16th century, with an emphasis on novels most commonly studied in high school and college courses in world literature and in French culture and civilization. Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly,2013-12-04 First published in 2001. This is the first substantial reference work in English on the various forms that constitute life writing. As this term suggests, the Encyclopedia explores not only autobiography and biography proper but also letters, diaries, memoirs, family histories, case histories and other ways in which individual lives have been recorded and structured. It includes entries on genres and subgenres, national and regional traditions from around the world and important autobiographical writers as well as articles on related areas such as oral history, anthropology, testimonies and the representation of life stories in non-verbal art forms.

The Politics of Play Aubrey Gabel,2025-10-15 Showing the political importance of play in postwar French literature. In postwar France, authors approached writing ludically, placing rules and conditions on language and on the context of composition itself. They eliminated le and feminized texts; they traveled according to strict rules and invented outright silly public personas. The Politics of Play, Oulipo and the Legacy of French Literary Ludics is a comprehensive examination of how and why French authors turned to these ludic methods to grapple with their political moment. These writers were responding to a range of historical upheavals from the rise and fall of French feminist and Third Worldist groups to the aftermath of international socialism both at home in the former Parisian Belt and in France more broadly and abroad in post Yugoslavia Balkan states and elsewhere Juxtaposing an array of case studies and drawing on cross disciplinary methodologies Aubrey Gabel reads three generations of the formalist literary group Oulipo including Raymond Queneau Georges Perec and Jacques Jouet alongside writers not traditionally deemed ludic or sometimes not even conventionally known as novelists such as the lesbian activist writer Monique Wittig and the editor Francois Maspero Gabel argues that literary ludics serve as both an authorial strategy and a political form playful methods allow writers not only to represent history in code but also to intervene creatively as political actors in the fraught social fields of midcentury France and beyond Everyday Life Michael Sheringham,2006-03-09 In the last twenty years the concept of the quotidien or the everyday has been prominent in contemporary French culture and in British and American cultural studies This book provides the first comprehensive analytical survey of the whole field of approaches to the everyday It offers firstly a historical perspective demonstrating the importance of mainstream and dissident Surrealism the indispensable contribution over a 20 year period 1960-80 of four major figures Henri Lefebvre Roland Barthes Michel de Certeau and Georges Perec and the recent proliferation of works that investigate everyday experience Secondly it establishes the framework of philosophical ideas on which discourses on the everyday depend but which they characteristically subvert Thirdly it comprises searching analyses of works in a variety of genres including fiction the essay poetry theatre film photography and the visual arts consistently stressing how explorations of the everyday tend to question and combine genres in richly creative ways By demonstrating the enduring contribution of Perec and others and exploring the Surrealist inheritance the book proposes a genealogy for the remarkable upsurge of interest in the everyday since the 1980s A second main objective is to raise questions about the dimension of experience addressed by artists and thinkers when they invoke the quotidien or related concepts Does the everyday refer to an objective content defined by particular activities or is it best thought of in terms of rhythm repetition festivity ordinariness the generic the obvious the given Are there events or acts that are uniquely everyday or is the quotidien a way of thinking about events and acts in the here and now as opposed to the longer term What techniques or genres are best suited to conveying the nature of everyday life The book explores these questions in a comparative spirit drawing new parallels between the work of numerous writers and artists including Andr Breton Raymond Queneau Walter Benjamin Michel Leiris Maurice Blanchot Michel Foucault Stanley Cavell Annie Ernaux Jacques Rida and Sophie Calle Bound to Please Michael Dirda,2005 A showcase of one hundred of the world's most significant books offers the author's introductory essays on such writers as James Boswell Colette and Joseph Roth and includes explorations of a range of genres and specific works Critique of Everyday Life Henri Lefebvre,2014-05-06 The three volume text by Henri Lefebvre is perhaps the richest most prescient work about modern capitalism to emerge from one of the twentieth century's greatest philosophers and is now available for the first time in one complete volume Written at the birth of post war consumerism Critique was an inspiration for the 1968 student revolution in France It is a founding text of cultural studies and a major influence on the fields of contemporary philosophy geography sociology architecture political theory and urbanism Lefebvre takes as his starting point and guide the trivial details of quotidian experience an experience colonized by the commodity shadowed by inauthenticity yet remaining the only source of resistance and change This is an enduringly radical text untimely today only in its intransigence and optimism Wittgenstein's Novels Martin Klebes,2006 In this book Martin Klebes investigates the impact of Ludwig Wittgenstein s philosophical work on four contemporary German and French novelists Literary references both to Wittgenstein as a person as well as to his work are much more pervasive than to other equally well known 20th century philosophers and this study seeks to explain why and to what end Individual chapters are devoted to an analysis of the role of writing in Wittgenstein s writings as well as to the literary work of Thomas Bernhard W G Sebald Jacques Roubaud and Ernst Wilhelm Handler Klebes readings are situated in an interdisciplinary space between philosophical analysis and literary criticism and as such also incorporate reflections on conceptual questions in aesthetics architectural history philosophy of science and photography Representations of Forgetting in Life Writing and Fiction Gunnthorunn

Gudmundsdottir,2016-11-09 This book primarily focuses on the concept of forgetting with particular emphasis on how we can trace the forgotten in contemporary life writing and memory texts It consists of two main parts the first concentrates on life writing in particular and what the author calls scenes of forgetting the second examines both fiction and autobiographies that deal with questions of collective memory forgetting The book s principal aim is to map methods and strategies writers employ when writing the forgotten it argues that forgetting is a constant companion in any memory text and plays a decisive role in the memory work performed in the texts The main theoretical objective is to examine carefully the connection between collective memory and personal memory by drawing from two disciplines at once memory studies and theories on life writing By considering both areas of research the conclusions of this study are able to feed into both theoretical perspectives Collected Prose Paul Auster,2024-08-06 The expanded edition of an essential collection of writings essays and interviews from Paul Auster one of the finest thinkers and stylists in contemporary letters The celebrated author of The New York Trilogy The Book of Illusions and 4 3 2 1 presents here a highly personal collection of essays prefaces true stories autobiographical writings and collaborations with artists as well as occasional pieces written for magazines and newspapers including his breathtaking memoir Financial Times The Invention of Solitude Ranging in subject from Sir Walter Raleigh to Kafka Nathaniel Hawthorne to the high wire artist Philippe Petit conceptual artist Sophie Calle to Auster s own typewriter the World Trade Center catastrophe to his beloved New York City itself Collected Prose records the passions and insights of a writer who will be remembered as one of the great writers of our time San Francisco Chronicle Life as Creative

Shadows in the City of Light Sara R. Horowitz,Amira Bojadzija-Dan,Julia Creet,2021-05-01 The essays in Shadows in the City of Light explore the significance of Paris in the writing of five influential French writers Sarah Kofman Patrick Modiano George Perec Henri Raczymow and Irene Nemirovsky whose novels and memoirs capture and probe the absences of deported Paris Jews These writers move their readers through wartime and postwar cityscapes of Paris walking them through streets and arrondissements where Jews once resided looking for traces of the disappeared The city functions as more than a backdrop or setting Its streets and buildings and monuments remind us of the exhilarating promise of the French Revolution and what it meant for Jews dreaming of equality But the dynamic space of Paris also reminds us of the Holocaust and its aftermath The shadowed paths traced by these writers raise complicated questions about ambivalence absence memory secularity and citizenship In their writing the urban landscape itself bears witness to the absent Jews and what happened to them For the writers treated in this volume neither their Frenchness nor their Jewishness is a fixed point Focusing on Paris s dual role as both a cultural hub and a powerful symbol of hope and conflict in Jewish memory the contributors address intersections and departures among these writers Their complexity of thought artistry and depth of vision shape a new understanding of the impact of the Holocaust on Jewish and French identity on literature and literary forms and on the development of Jewish secular culture in Western Europe
