German Sculpture Of The Later Renaissance C 1520 158:

Sculpture and the Nordic Region Elettra Carbone, 2017-07-05 Histories of sculpture within the Nordic region are under studied and the region's influence upon and translation of influences from elsewhere in Europe remain insufficiently traced This volume brings to light individual histories of sculptural mobility from the early modern period onwards Examining the movement of sculptures sculptors practices skills styles and motifs across borders through studios and public architectures within popular and print culture and via texts the essays collected here consider the extent to which the sculptural artwork is changed by its physical movement and its transfigurations in other media How does the meaning and form of these objects performatively respond to the pressure of their relocations and rematerialisations Conversely how do sculptures impact their new contexts of display The contributing authors engage with a wide variety of objects and media in their essays Each focuses on the contextualisation of sculpture in an original and timely way exploring how mobility acts as a filter offering new perspectives on iconography memorialisation collecting iconoclasm and exhibiting From the stave churches of early Norway to the decoration of International Style monoliths of the twentieth century from Italian quarries to Baroque palaces from fountains to figurines from text to performance these wide ranging and fascinating case studies contribute to the rich history of the Nordic region's sculptural production

Frans Floris (1519/20-1570): Imagining a Northern Renaissance Edward H. Wouk, 2018-03-20 Frans Floris de Vriendt radically transformed Netherlandish art His monumental mythologies introduced a new appreciation for the heroic nude to the Low Countries and his religious art challenged standards of decorum Born into a family of sculptors and architects Floris refashioned his art through travel first studying with the humanist painter Lambert

Lombard in Li ge and then continuing on to Italy These experiences defined the hybridizing novelty of his art forged by juxtaposing antique and modern Italian and northern sources This book maps Floris s hybrid style onto shifting conceptions of cultural religious and political identity on the eve of the Dutch Revolt It explores his collaborations and rivalries engagement with artistic theory hierarchical workshop and revolutionary use of print Der Hirsvogelsaal in Nürnberg Susanne Böning-Weis,2004 Giambologna in Dresden Dirk Syndram,Moritz Woelk,Martina Minning,2006

Mansfield,1993 This volume documents the collection of early German paintings in the National Gallery of Art Washington D C which includes outstanding works by such fifteenth and sixteenth century masters as Albrecht Durer Lucas Cranach the Elder and Hans Holbein the Younger as well as the only painting by Matthias Grunewald in the United States Following an introduction to the collection entries on the paintings are arranged alphabetically by artist with a biography and bibliography for each individual entries provide full and up to date scholarly and technical information Questions of attribution iconography social and religious function and historical context are also discussed and where relevant comparative examples reconstructions of altarpieces x radiographs and infrared reflectogram assemblies are supplied This catalogue the most complete record of the collection available also contains the results of dendrochronological examinations of the panel paintings Publisher s description "Prints in Translation, 1450?750 " EdwardH. Wouk,2017-07-05 Printed artworks were often ephemeral but in the early modern period exchanges between print and other media were common setting off chain reactions of images and objects that endured Paintings sculpture decorative arts musical or scientific instruments and armor exerted their own influence on prints while prints provided artists with paper veneers templates and sources of adaptable images This interdisciplinary collection unites scholars from different fields of art history who elucidate the agency of prints on more traditionally valued media and vice versa Contributors explore how after translations across traditional geographic temporal and material boundaries original meanings may be lost reconfigured or subverted in surprising ways whether a Netherlandish motif graces a cabinet in Italy or the print itself colored or copied is integrated into the calligraphic scheme of a Persian royal album These intertwined relationships yield unexpected yet surprisingly prevalent modes of perception

Andrea Mantegna s 1470 1500 Battle of the Sea Gods an engraving that emulates the properties of sculpted relief was in fact reborn as relief sculpture and fabrics based on print designs were reapplied to prints returning color and tactility to the very objects from which the derived Together the essays in this volume witness a methodological shift in the study of print from examining the printed image as an index of an absent invention in another medium a painting sculpture or drawing to considering its role as a generative active agent driving modes of invention and perception far beyond the locus of its production
