German Baroque:

German Baroque Drama Judith Popovich Aikin, 1982 Musica Poetica: Musical-Rhetorical Figures in German Baroque Music Dietrich Bartel, 1997-07-01 Musica Poetica provides an unprecedented examination of the development of Baroque musical thought The initial chapters which serve as an introduction to the concept and teachings of musical rhetorical figures explore Martin Luther's theology of music the development of the Baroque concept of musica poetica the idea of the affections in German Baroque music and that music's use of the principles and devices of rhetoric Dietrich Bartel then turns to more detailed considerations of the musical rhetorical figures that were developed in Baroque treatises and publications After brief biographical sketches of the major theorists Bartel examines those theorists' interpretation and classification of the figures The book concludes with a detailed presentation of the musical rhetorical figures in which each theorist's definitions are presented in the original language and in parallel English translations Bartel's clear detailed analysis of German Baroque musical rhetorical figures combined with his careful translations of interpretations of those figures from a wide range of sources make this book an indispensable introduction and resource for all students of Baroque music

German Baroque Poetry Robert Marcellus Browning, 1971 Mystical Love in the German Baroque Isabella van Elferen, 2008-12-23 Mystical Love in the German Baroque Theology Poetry Music identifies the cultural and devotional conventions underlying expressions of mystical love in poetry and music of the German baroque It sheds new light on the seemingly erotic overtones in settings of the Song of Songs and dialogues between Christ and the faithful soul in late 17th and early 18th century cantatas by Heinrich Schütz Dieterich Buxtehude and Johann Sebastian Bach While these compositions have been interpreted solely as a secularizing tendency within devotional music of the baroque period Isabella van Elferen demonstrates that they need to be viewed instead as intensifications of the sacred Based on a wide selection of previously unedited or translated 17th and 18th century sources van Elferen describes the history and development of baroque poetic and musical love discourses from Schütz's early works through Buxtehude's cantatas and Bach's cantatas and Passions This long and multilayered discursive history of these compositions considers the love poetry of Petrarch European reception of petrarchan imagery and traditions its effect on the madrigal in Germany and the role of Catholic medieval mystics in baroque Lutheranism Van Elferen shows that Bach's compositional technique based on the emotional characteristics of text and music rather than on the depiction of single words allows the musical expression of mystical love to correspond closely to contemporary literary and theological conceptions of this affect

Music Education and the Art of Performance in the German Baroque John Butt, 1994-05-26 In considering the role of practical music in education this book explores the art of performance in Germany during the Baroque period The author examines the large number of surviving treatises and instruction manuals used in the Lutheran schools during the period 1530-1800 and builds up a picture of the function and status of music in both school and church This understanding of music as a functional art musica practica in turn gives us insight into contemporary performance of the sacred work of Praetorius Schütz Buxtehude or Bach

Beckett's Words David Kleinberg-Levin, 2015-07-30 At stake in this book is a struggle with language in a time when our old faith in the redeeming of the word and the word's power to redeem has almost been destroyed Drawing on Benjamin's political theology his interpretation of the German Baroque mourning play and Adorno's critical aesthetic theory but also on the thought of poets and many other philosophers especially Hegel's phenomenology of spirit Nietzsche's analysis of nihilism and Derrida's writings on language Kleinberg-Levin shows how because of its communicative and revelatory powers language bears the utopian promise of happiness the idea of a secular redemption of humanity at the very heart of which must be the achievement of universal justice In an original reading of Beckett's plays novels and short stories Kleinberg-Levin shows how despite inheriting a language damaged corrupted and commodified Beckett redeems dead or dying words and wrests from this language new possibilities for the expression of meaning Without denying Beckett's nihilism his picture of a radically disenchanted world Kleinberg-Levin calls attention to moments when his words suddenly ignite and break free of their despair and pain taking shape in the beauty of an austere yet joyous lyricism suggesting that after all meaning is still possible

Walter Benjamin and the Demands of History Michael P. Steinberg, 1996 This book is the first to consider the presence of history and the question of historical practice in Walter Benjamin's work Benjamin the critic and philosopher of history was also the practitioner the authors contend and it is in the practice of historical writing that the materialist aspect of his thought is most evident Some of the essays analyze Benjamin's writings in cultural history and the philosophy of history

Others connect his historical and theoretical practices to issues in contemporary feminism and post colonial studies and to cultural contexts including the United States Japan and Hong Kong In different ways the authors all find in Benjamin s specific notion of historical materialism a dialectic between textual and cultural analysis which can reinvigorate the relation between literary and historical studies

Monica Centanni's Collateral effects of the visibile parlare Dante Pg X v 95 reconstructs the hypothesis of a visual model for the legend of Trajan's Justice according to Warburg intuition about it; this contribution is connected to the paper by Filippo Perfetti's Dante Botticelli and Trajan: An Open Note where the author investigates how Botticelli could have come to know that the bas-relief of the Arch of Constantine liberatoris urbis was related to an episode in Trajan's life. The focus of this issue is then extended to Warburg's cultural environment. Matilde Sergio's Aby Warburg Walter Benjamin and the Memory of Images investigates the influence of Warburg's essay about Luther on Benjamin's thought while Dorothee Gelhard's Gertrud Bing's Scientific Beginnings reconstructs the intellectual history of Bing's doctoral thesis and its influences on Warburgian work.
