seat on the issues shaping the region An Irish Sanctuary Gisela Holfter, Horst Dickel, 2016-12-19 The monograph provides the first comprehensive detailed account of German speaking refugees in Ireland 1933 1945 where they came from immigration policy towards them and how their lives turned out in Ireland and afterwards Thanks to unprecedented access to thousands of files of the Irish Department of Justice all still officially closed as well as extensive archive research in Ireland Germany England Austria as well as the US and numerous interviews it is possible for the first time to give an almost complete overview of how many people came how they contributed to Ireland how this fits in with the history of migration to Ireland and what can be learned from it While Exile studies are a well developed research area and have benefited from the work of research centres and archives in Germany Austria Great Britain and the USA Frankfurt M Leipzig Hamburg Berlin Innsbruck Graz Vienna London and SUNY Albany and the Leo Baeck Institutes Ireland was long neglected in this regard Instead of the usual narrative of no one was let in or only a handful came to Ireland the authors identified more than 300 refugees through interviews and intensive research in Irish German and Austrian archives German speaking exiles were the first main group of immigrants that came to the young Irish Free State from 1933 onwards and they had a considerable impact on academic industrial and religious developments in Ireland Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1952 Includes Part 1A Books Travel , 1961 Fiction as Knowledge John McCormick, 2018-01-18 Critics of fiction have long been aware that the romantic movement in Europe and America gave a powerful impulse to the art of fiction The exact nature of that impulse has resisted analysis like so much associated with romanticism In Fiction as Knowledge John McCormick reaches for precision proposing that much of the vitality of modern fiction derives from romantic conceptions of history which made available to fiction not merely historical subject matter but new perceptions of reality present and past that pervade the work of many of the greatest writers of the post romantic period Beginning with Herder and Hegel McCormick describes those qualities in historical thought that were revolutionary in the early nineteenth century and rich in meaning for the future Most prominent of these was the emergence of the idea of individuality not only in society but also in history The author demonstrates the vitality of the romantic impulse in the work of seven major novelists of the twentieth century Marcel Proust s apprehensions of nature in his great novel are seen as Wordsworthian while as the novel unfolds history in the form of event and system of organization comes to dominate and to offer a paradigm of the workings of the post romantic historical imagination William Faulkner and Andr Malraux are shown to confront history directly although they do not write historical fiction Herman Broch Robert Musil and Henri de Montherlant uncomfortable with traditional romantic attitudes still make fullest use of Romantic historical insight to extend the range of fiction as knowledge Ernest Hemingway by contrast is seen as intuitive a pure product of his novelist s intelligence as opposed to his latter day romantic anti intellectualism Fiction as Knowledge supplies critical insight into the form of the novel as well as into the seven novelists under discussion Not least the book is a warning against contemporary anti historical bias and an appeal to the cultivation of historical consciousness John McCormick is Professor Emeritus of Comparative Literature at Rutgers University and Honorary Fellow of English and Literature at the University of York He is the author of George Santayana A Biography Catastrophe and Imagination and The Middle Distance by Transaction
