Alina Wernick, 2021-05-13 The patent system is based on one patent per product presumption and therefore fails to sustain complex follow on innovations that contain a number of patents The book explains that follow on innovations may be subject to market failures such as hold ups and excessive royalties For decades scholars have debated whether the market problems can be solved with voluntary licensing i e open innovation or with compulsory liability rules The book concludes that neither approach is sufficient On the one hand incentives to engage in open innovation practices involving patents are insufficient On the other hand the existing compulsory liability rules in patent and competition law are not tailored to address follow on innovator s interests To transcend this problem the author proposes a compulsory liability rule against the suppression of follow on innovation that paradoxically fosters early on voluntary licensing between patent holders and follow on innovators The book is aimed at patent and competition law scholars and practitioners patent attorneys managers engineers and economists who either engage in open innovation involving patents or conduct research on the topic It also offers insights to policy and law makers reviewing the possibilities to foster open innovation initiatives or adapt the scope of patent remedies or employ compulsory licenses for patents      Invisible Institutionalisms Swethaa S Ballakrishnen, Sara Dezalay, 2021-02-11 Taking its cue from theoretical and ideological calls to challenge globalisation as a dynamic of homogenisation and resistance as led from and directed against the Global North this volume asks what can we see when we shift the lens beyond a North

South binary Based on empirical studies of frontier zones of legal globalisation in India Pakistan and Latin America the book adopts an original format Framed as a relational dialogue between newer as well as more prominent scholars within the field from various cores through to postcolonial academic peripheries it questions structural variables in the shadows of legal globalisation and how we as scholars build a space for critique
