Ta(l)king English Phonetics Across Frontiers Biljana Čubrović, Tatjana Paunović, 2009-10-02 Highlighting some interesting and intriguing aspects of English phonetics and phonology from a variety of perspectives this book brings up a number of empirical questions in order to emphasize the necessity of taking a very broad view of what spoken English means in today's socio cultural context English has become a truly global means of communication used as a first second or additional language by millions and millions of diverse speakers in a multitude of different communicative contexts so that the very notions of native and non native seem to have changed profoundly as have the notions of central peripheral and standard non standard with regard to English varieties spoken around the globe Therefore today more than ever before in studying English phonetics many small research steps need to be taken to provide diverse and broad empirical data from as many different standpoints as possible This collection indeed looks at English phonetics from a wide spectrum of perspectives including those of native or EFL speakers language varieties L2 language teaching and learning as well as language contact development and change

Insight into EFL Teaching and Issues in Asia Evelyn Doman, 2014-03-25 This collection offers insight into current issues in teaching English as a Foreign Language EFL in Asia University and secondary school teachers and researchers from nine different countries share experiences they have encountered in their English language courses offering suggestions for incorporating new methodologies and techniques both in and outside the classroom Not only is this book filled with valuable teaching techniques that the contributors have found successful but it also introduces new ways of dealing with various social situations in the classroom This book is unique in that it offers the perspective of teaching English in Asia where students often don't get many opportunities to engage with the language in informal settings This book is geared towards university level instructors and secondary school teachers teaching EFL in Asia as well as researchers conducting cross cultural studies which investigate foreign language learning and acquisition in today's global society English language teaching has become a booming industry in this region and with the professionalization of the field comes abundant opportunities for research and informed practices This book stands alone in its purpose in generating a current view of the situations which EFL teachers and students in Asia today face Topics discussed in this volume include action research projects successful teaching practices innovative language assistance programs and issues of autonomy and identity

English Language Learners' Socially Constructed Motives and Interactional Moves Thomas A. Williams, 2019-01-22 This book explores the potential for task based language learning and teaching TBLT within a particular context specifically Hungary by investigating beliefs among Hungarian university students about English and other foreign language teaching It also examines the nature of these learners task based spoken interaction and explores their socioculturally determined choices in that regard It finds that despite much exposure to traditional classroom practices the learners are generally open to TBLT make various sometimes surprising contributions in performing speaking tasks and display a tendency toward collaboration in spoken interaction over communication breakdowns The book offers both universal and culture specific explanations for this tendency The findings detailed here have implications for English and other foreign second language teaching which may be of interest to researchers practitioners and teacher educators not only in Hungary Central Europe and similar educational contexts but anywhere that teachers and learners are struggling to improve foreign and second language development British Book News British Council, 1993 Includes no 53a British wartime books for young people
