Gospel Of Matthew And Christian Judaism History And Social Setting Of The Matthean Community:

The Gospel of Matthew and Christian Judaism David C. Sim, 1998-01-01 In this meticulously researched study David C. Sim reconstructs the Matthean community at the time the Gospel was written and traces its full history. Dr. Sim demonstrates that the Matthean community should be located in Antioch in the late first century and he argues that the history of this community can only be understood in the context of the factionalism of the early Christian movement. He identifies two distinctive and opposing Christian perspectives: the first represented by the Jerusalem church and the Matthean community, which maintained that the Christian message must be preached within the context of Judaism; and the second represented by Paul and the Pauline communities, in which Christians were not expected to observe the Jewish law. Dr. Sim reconstructs not only the conflict between Matthew's Christian Jewish community and the Pauline churches but also its further conflicts with the Jewish and Gentile worlds in the aftermath of the Jewish war.

Jesus, Matthew's Gospel and Early Christianity

Daniel M. Gurtner, Joel Willitts, Richard A. Burridge, 2011-10-27 The passing of Professor Graham Stanton, former Lady Margaret chair of divinity at Cambridge University in 2009, marked the passing of an era in Matthean scholarship and studies of early Christianity. Stanton's 15 books and dozens of articles span thirty-four years and centre largely on questions pertaining to the Gospel of Matthew and early Christianity. The present volume pays tribute to Stanton by engaging with the principal areas of his research and contributions. The Gospel of Matthew and Early Christianity Contributors to the volume each engage a research question which intersects the contribution of Stanton in his various spheres of scholarly influence and enquiry. The distinguished contributors include Richard Burridge, David Catchpole, James D. G. Dunn, Craig A. Evans, Don Hagner, Peter Head, Anders Runesson, and Christopher Tuckett.

A Theology of Matthew's Gospel

Michael J. Wilkins, 2025-10-07 A Theology of Matthew's Gospel develops the perspective that Matthew wrote his Gospel to identify, defend, and proclaim Jesus Immanuel, God with us, as the Davidic Messiah who fulfilled the OT expectations of humanity's redemption. Matthew's Gospel establishes Jesus's identity as the heir to the promises of Israel's throne through King David and heir to the promises of blessing to all the nations through the patriarch Abraham. 1:1 So this first Gospel offers evangelistic hope in Jesus's message of the Gospel to Jews, contending that they should turn to Jesus as their long-awaited Messiah. Matt 11:2-6 But strikingly, Matthew's Gospel also offers evangelistic hope to Gentiles, emphasizing that salvation through Jesus Messiah is available to all the nations. 28:19 The book emphasizes the three horizons that comprise Matthew's Gospel: history, theology, and literature. The first horizon focuses on Jesus's history ministry. Here, Matthew provides for us a record of God's activities in history in the arrival of Jesus Messiah and the kingdom of heaven. The second horizon develops Matthew's theological perspective for his audience. Here, we attempt to understand and isolate Matthew's unique theological perspective of God's activities in Jesus Messiah. This is a central focus, emphasizing Matthew's theological perspective of the Old Testament Christology, the kingdom of heaven, discipleship, the Church, church, Israel, past, present, and future the death and resurrection of Jesus mission commission and eschatology eternity The third horizon emphasizes today's reader's engaging with Matthew's Gospel as literature Here we attempt to capture the significance of the perspective of today's reader's understanding of Jesus Messiah's activities in history and Matthew's theological perspective for the contemporary church In this book we view Matthew's perspective of God's activities in Jesus's unfolding earthly ministry The alternating sections of narrative and discourse provide for his readers Jesus's example to follow and Jesus's words to obey Therefore Matthew's Gospel is at least in a part a manual on discipleship to Jesus Messiah in the kingdom of heaven In the six Narratives Matthew reveals Jesus's true identity in his deeds and introduces themes that will lead to instructions to Jesus's disciples in the Discourses The six Narratives provide the example that Jesus's disciples are commanded to obey In the five Discourses Matthew records Jesus's instructions commands parables directives and prophecies that will guide his followers in their discipleship to Jesus until the end of the age Combined the narratives of Jesus's life provide Jesus's example to follow and the discourses give Jesus's instructions to obey and are the basis of our ongoing transformation to become like Jesus

John the Baptist and the Jewish Setting of Matthew Brian C. Dennert, 2015-09-11 Although recent discussions on Matthew have emphasized the document's setting within Judaism these studies have not analyzed how the Jewish figure of John the Baptist functions within this setting Brian Dennert steps into this gap arguing that Matthew presents Jesus to be the continuation and culmination of John's ministry in order to strengthen the claims of Matthew's group and to vilify the opponents of his group By doing this he encourages Jews yet to align with Matthew's group particularly those who esteem the Baptist and to gravitate away from its opponents The author examines texts roughly contemporaneous with Matthew which reveal respect given to John the Baptist at the time of Matthew's composition The examination of Matthew shows that the first Evangelist more closely connects the Baptist to Jesus while highlighting his rejection by Jewish authorities

Identity Formation and the Gospel of Matthew Tekalign Duguma Negewo, 2024-03-13 Why does the author of the Gospel of Matthew introduce non Jewish characters into his narrative Tekalign Duguma Negewo answers this question on the assumption that the gospel had an identity forming function for his community Community, Law and Mission in Matthew's Gospel Paul Foster, 2004 Revision of the author's thesis doctoral University of Oxford 2002 The Cambridge Companion to the New Testament Patrick Gray, 2021-05-13 This Companion volume offers a concise and engaging introduction to the New Testament Including twenty two especially commissioned essays written by an international team of scholars it examines a range of topics related to the historical and religious contexts in which the contents of the Christian canon emerged Providing an overview of the critical approaches and methods currently applied to the study of biblical texts it also includes chapters on each of the writings in the New Testament The volume serves as an excellent resource for students who have some familiarity with the New Testament and who wish to gain a deeper understanding of the state of academic discussion and debate Readers will also gain a sense of the new research questions that are emerging from current scholarship The Politics of Race and Ethnicity in Matthew's Passion Narrative Wongi Park, 2019-01-21 In Matthew's passion narrative the ethnoracial identity of Jesus comes into sharp focus The repetition of the title King of the Judeans foregrounds the politics of race and ethnicity Despite the explicit use of terminology previous scholarship has understood the title curiously in non ethnoracial ways This book takes the peculiar omission in the history of interpretation as its point of departure It provides an expanded ethnoracial reading of the text and poses a fundamental ideological question that interrogates the pattern in the larger context of modern biblical scholarship Wongi Park issues a critique of the dominant narrative and presents an alternative reading of Matthew's passion narrative He identifies a critical vocabulary and framework of analysis to decode the politics of race and ethnicity implicit in the history of interpretation Ultimately the book lends itself to a broader research agenda the destabilization of the dominant narrative of early Christianity's non ethnoracial origins

Maps charts outlines and tables round out the wealth of information offered here Publisher From the Sayings to the Gospels Christopher Tuckett, 2014-05-27 The essays by Christopher Tuckett collected in this volume represent a number of studies published over a period of 30 years seeking to throw light on the way in which Jesus traditions were developed and used in early Christianity Many of the essays are concerned in one way or another with the Sayings Source Q discussing its existence its possible pre history and key features of the material it contains Further essays look at Jesus traditions in Paul and in the Gospel of Thomas In a final section the author focuses on the individual synoptic gospels with a number of studies concerned with Christology especially the use of the term Son of Man These essays show that early Christian traditions about Jesus can provide valuable information not only about Jesus but also about how early Christians used these traditions to relate to their own situations and contexts

Matthew within Judaism Anders Runesson, Daniel M. Gurtner, 2020-07-17 In this collection of essays leading New Testament scholars reassess the reciprocal relationship between Matthew and Second Temple Judaism Some contributions focus on the relationship of the Matthean Jesus to torah temple and synagogue while others explore theological issues of Jewish and gentile ethnicity and universalism within and behind the text

Gentile Christian Identity from Cornelius to Constantine Terence L. Donaldson, 2020-11-05 Originally an ascribed identity that cast non Jewish Christ believers as an ethnic other gentile soon evolved into a much more complex aspect of early Christian identity Gentile Christian Identity from Cornelius to Constantine is a full historical account of this trajectory showing how in the context of the parting of the ways the early church increasingly identified itself as a distinctly gentile and anti Judaic entity even as it also crafted itself as an alternative to the cosmopolitan project of the Roman Empire This process of identity construction shaped Christianity's legacy paradoxically establishing it as both a counter empire and a mimicker of Rome's imperial ideology Drawing on social identity theory and ethnography Terence Donaldson offers an analysis of gentile Christianity that is thorough and highly relevant to today's discourses surrounding identity ethnicity and Christian Jewish relations As Donaldson shows a full understanding of the term gentile is key to understanding the modern Western world and the church as we know it

Jesus and the Manuscripts Craig A. Evans, 2021-10-05 Jesus and the Manuscripts by popular author and Bible scholar Craig A Evans introduces readers to the diversity and complexity of the ancient literature that records the words and deeds of Jesus This diverse literature includes the familiar Gospels of the New Testament the much less familiar literature of the Rabbis and of the Qur'an and the extracanonical narratives and brief snippets of material found in fragments and inscriptions This book critically analyzes important texts and quotations in their original languages and engages the current scholarly discussion Evans argues that the Gospel of Thomas is not early or independent of the New Testament Gospels but that it should be dated to the late second century He also argues that Secret Mark like the recently published Gospel of Jesus Wife is probably a modern forgery Of special interest is the question of how long the autographs of New Testament writings remained in circulation Evans argues that the evidence suggests that most of these autographs remained available for copying and study for more than one hundred years and thus stabilized the text

Jesus and Paul in the Context of Judaism and Early Christianity

Donald A. Hagner, 2025-03-27

In the late nineteenth century Jewish scholars began to be interested in Jesus and eventually Paul as important figures in the history of the Jewish people

Rightly understood they argued Jesus and Paul belonged more to Judaism than to Christianity as even radical critical Christian scholars were concluding

The earliest believers in Jesus were exclusively Jews forming something like a new sect within Judaism

The emergence of the Christianity of the New Testament soon became a focus of attention for Jewish scholars and with this a host of questions arose such as about the influence of Hellenism the parting of the ways the widespread Christian misperception of Judaism the tragedy of anti Semitism and the identity of Jesus as Messiah and Lord

The present essays address these and other issues maintaining throughout the tension of continuity and discontinuity and stressing the underappreciated radical newness of the New Testament

Aposynagōgos and the Historical Jesus in John

Jonathan Bernier, 2013-09-12

In Aposynagōgos and the Historical Jesus in John Jonathan Bernier utilizes the critical realist hermeneutics developed by Bernard Lonergan and Ben F Meyer to survey historical data relevant to the Johannine expulsion passages John 9 22 12 42 16 2

He evaluates the major two contemporary interpretative traditions regarding these passages namely that they describe not events of Jesus lifetime but rather the implementation of the Birkat ha Minim in the first century or that they describe not historical events at all but serve only to construct Johannine identity

Against both traditions Bernier argues that these passages plausibly describe events that could have happened during Jesus lifetime
