Anthropologists and Their Traditions Across National Borders Regna Darnell, Frederic W. Gleach, 2014-11-01. Volume 8 of the Histories of Anthropology Annual series, the premier series published in the history of the discipline, explores national anthropological traditions in Britain, the United States, and Europe, and follows them into postnational contexts. Contributors reassess the major theorists in twentieth-century anthropology, including luminaries such as Franz Boas, Claude Lévi-Strauss, Bronisław Malinowski, A. R. Radcliffe-Brown, Marshall Sahlins, and lesser-known but important anthropological work by Berthold Laufer, A. M. Hocart, Kenelm O. L. Burridge, and Robin Ridington, among others. These essays examine myriad themes such as the pedagogical context of the anthropologist as a teller of stories about indigenous storytellers, the colonial context of British anthropological theory, and its projects outside the nation-state; the legacies of Claude Lévi-Strauss's structuralism regarding culture-specific patterns, cognitive universals reflected in empirical examples of kinship, myth, language, classificatory systems, and supposed universal mental structures; and the career of Marshall Sahlins and his trajectory from neo-evolutionism and structuralism toward an epistemological skepticism of cross-cultural miscommunication.

999 Heather Dune Macadam, 2019-12-31. A PEN America Literary Award Finalist, a Goodreads Choice Awards Nominee, an Amazon Best of the Year Selection. The untold story of some of WW2's most hidden figures and the heartbreaking tragedy that unites them all. Readers of Born Survivors and A Train Near Magdeburg will devour the tragic tale of the first 999 women in Auschwitz concentration camp. This is the hauntingly resonant true story that everyone should know. On March 25, 1942, nearly a thousand young, unmarried Jewish women, many of them teenagers, boarded a train in Poprad, Slovakia. Believing they were going to work in a factory for a few months, they were eager to report for government service and left their parents' homes wearing their best clothes and confidently waving good-bye. Instead, the young women were sent to Auschwitz. Only a few would survive. Now, acclaimed author Heather Dune Macadam reveals their stories, drawing on extensive interviews with survivors and consulting with historians, witnesses, and relatives of those first deportees to create an important addition to Holocaust literature and women's history. Intimate and harrowing, this careful, sympathetic history illuminates an incomprehensible human tragedy. Publishers Weekly: Against the backdrop of World War II, this respectful narrative presents a compassionate and meticulous remembrance of the young women profiled throughout. Recommended for all collections. Library Journal: Staggering, profound. Macadam's book also offers insight into the passage of these women into adulthood and their children as secondhand survivors. Gail Sheehy, New York Times bestselling author of Passages and Daring My Passages Heather Dune Macadam's 999 reinstates the girls to their rightful place in history Foreword Reviews An important addition to the annals of the Holocaust as well as women's history Not everyone could handle such material but Heather Dune Macadam is deeply qualified insightful and perceptive Susan Lacy creator of the American Masters series and filmmaker The story of these teenage girls is truly extraordinary Congratulations to Heather Dune Macadam for enabling the rest of us to sit down and just marvel at how on earth they did it Anne Sebba New York Times bestselling author of Les Parisiennes and That Woman An important contribution to the literature on women's experiences Dr Rochelle G Saidel founder and executive director Remember the Women Institute

Lee, 2017-12-10 While public debates over America's current foreign policy often treat American empire as a new phenomenon this lively collection of essays offers a pointed reminder that visions of national and imperial greatness were a cornerstone of the new country when it was founded In fact notions of empire have long framed debates over western expansion Indian removal African slavery Asian immigration and global economic dominance and they persist today despite the proliferation of anti imperialist rhetoric In fifteen essays distinguished historians examine the central role of empire in American race relations nationalism and foreign policy from the founding of the United States to the twenty first century The essays trace the global expansion of American merchant capital the rise of an evangelical Christian mission movement the dispossession and historical erasure of indigenous peoples the birth of new identities and the continuous struggles over the place of darker skinned peoples in a settler society that still fundamentally imagines itself as white Full of transnational connections and cross pollinations of people appearing in unexpected places the essays are also stories of people being put quite literally in their place by the bitter struggles over the boundaries of race and nation Collectively these essays demonstrate that the seemingly contradictory processes of boundary crossing and boundary making are and always have been intertwined Contributors James T Campbell Brown University Ruth Feldstein Rutgers University Newark Kevin K Gaines University of Michigan Matt Garcia Brown University Matthew Pratt Guterl Indiana University George Hutchinson Indiana University Matthew Frye Jacobson Yale University Prema Kurien Syracuse University Robert G Lee Brown University Eric Love University of Colorado Boulder Melani McAlister George Washington University Joanne Pope Melish University of Kentucky Louise M Newman University of Florida Vernon J Williams Jr Indiana University Natasha Zaretsky Southern Illinois University Carbondale future studies of the subject Shaye J D Cohen Harvard University I know of no other work that through numerous insights and useful distinctions so alerts us to and comprehensively documents the ongoing constitutive role of Christian and anti-Semitic perceptions of Jewish existence and the interactions between them Whereas much contemporary historiography has become so specialized that historians have surrendered the larger picture David Biale's panoramic perspective reveals the great value and interest of this work Steven E Aschheim author of Beyond the Border The German Jewish Legacy Abroad

Murat Ergin, 2016-09-27 In 1909 the US Circuit Court in Cincinnati set out to decide whether a Turkish citizen shall be naturalized as a white person the New York Times article on the decision discussing the question of Turks' whiteness was cheekily entitled Is the Turk a White Man Within a few decades having understood the importance of this question for their modernization efforts Turkish elites had already started a fantastic scientific mobilization to position the Turks in world history as the generators of Western civilization the creators of human language and the forgotten source of white racial stock In this book Murat Ergin examines how race figures into Turkish modernization in a process of interaction between global racial discourses and local responses

Fascism and Political Theory Daniel Woodley, 2009-09-17 Fascism and Political Theory offers both students and researchers a thematic analysis of fascism focusing on the structural and ideological links between fascism capitalism and modernity. Intended as a critical discussion of the origins and development of fascist ideology, each chapter deals with a core substantive issue in political theory relevant to the study of fascism and totalitarianism, beginning with an assessment of the current state of debate. The emphasis on formal ideology in contemporary Anglo-American historiography has increased our awareness of the complexity and eclectic nature of fascist ideologies which challenge liberalism and social democracy. Yet in too many recent works a programmatic or essentialist reading of fascist ideology as a secular religion is taken for granted while researchers remain preoccupied with the search for an elusive fascist minimum. In this book Woodley emphasizes that many outstanding questions remain, including the structural and ideological links between fascism and capitalism, the social construction of fascist nationalism and the origins of fascist violence in European colonialism. This volume consolidates the reader's theoretical understanding and provides the interdisciplinary skills necessary to understand the concrete social, economic, and political conditions which generate and sustain fascism. A timely critique of culturalist and revisionist approaches in fascism studies which provides a concise overview of theoretical debates between liberalism, Marxism, and poststructuralism, this text will be of great interest to students of politics, modern history, and sociology.

Race, Nation, & Empire in American History (Volume 1 of 3) (EasyRead Super Large 24pt Edition), The Changing Face of Colonial Education in Africa Peter Kallaway, 2021-07-29. The Changing Face of Colonial Education in Africa offers a detailed and nuanced perspective of colonial history based on 15 years of research that throws fresh light on the complexities of African history and the colonial world of the first half of the twentieth century. It provides an analytical background to the history of education in the colonial context by balancing contributions by missionary agencies, colonial government, humanitarian agencies, scientific experts, and African agents. It offers a foundation for the analysis of modern educational policy for the postcolonial state. It attempts to move beyond clichés about colonial education to an understanding of the complexities of how educational policy was developed in different places at different times while giving credence to arguments that see schooling as a form of social control in the colonial environment. It is essential reading for academics, researchers, and policymakers looking to better understand colonial education and contextualize modern developments related to the decolonizing African education. It is intended to provide an essential background for policy makers by demonstrating the significance of a historical perspective for an understanding of contemporary educational challenges in Africa and elsewhere.

Iraq at a Distance Antonius C. G. M. Robben, 2010-11-24 The Iraq War has cost innumerable lives caused vast material destruction and inflicted suffering on millions of people Iraq at a Distance What Anthropology Can Teach Us About the War focuses on the plight of the Iraqi people caught since 2003 in the carnage between U S and British troops on one side and on the other Iraqi insurgents militias and foreign al Qaeda operatives The volume is a bold attempt by six distinguished anthropologists to study a war zone too dangerous for fieldwork They break new ground by using their ethnographic imagination as a research tool to analyze the Iraq War through insightful comparisons with previous and current armed conflicts in Cambodia Israel Palestine Northern Ireland Afghanistan and Argentina This innovative approach extends the book s relevance beyond a critical understanding of the devastating war in Iraq More and more parts of the world of long standing ethnographic interest are becoming off limits to researchers because of the war on terror This book serves as a model for the study of other inaccessible regions and it shows that the impossibility of conducting ethnographic fieldwork does not condemn anthropologists to silence Essays analyze the good versus evil framework of the war on terror the deterioration of women s rights in Iraq under fundamentalist coercion the ethnic religious partitioning of Baghdad through the building of security walls the excessive use of force against Iraqi civilians by U S counterinsurgency units and the loss of popular support for U S and British forces in Iraq and Afghanistan after the brutal regimes of the Taliban and Saddam Hussein had been toppled

In the Museum of Man Alice L. Conklin, 2013-10-04 In the Museum of Man offers new insight into the thorny relationship between science society and empire at the high water mark of French imperialism and European racism Alice L Conklin takes us into the formative years of French anthropology and social theory between 1850 and 1900 then deep into the practice of anthropology under the name of ethnology both in Paris and in the empire before and especially after World War I and finally into the fate of the discipline and its practitioners under the German Occupation and its immediate aftermath Conklin addresses the influence exerted by academic networks museum collections and imperial connections in defining human diversity socioculturally rather than biologically especially in the wake of resurgent anti Semitism at the time of the Dreyfus Affair and in the 1930s and 1940s Students of the progressive social scientist Marcel Mauss were exposed to the ravages of imperialism in the French colonies where they did fieldwork as a result they began to challenge both colonialism and the scientific racism that provided its intellectual justification Indeed a number of them were killed in the Resistance fighting for the humanist values they had learned from their teachers and in the field A riveting story of a close knit community of scholars who came to see all societies as equally complex In the Museum of Man serves as a reminder that if scientific expertise once authorized racism anthropologists also learned to rethink their paradigms and mobilize against racial prejudice a lesson well worth remembering today The Extermination of the European Jews Christian Gerlach, 2016-03-17 A major new interpretation of the Holocaust contextualizing the destruction of the Jews within Nazi violence against other groups
