Brass Buttons and Silver Horseshoes Linda Granfield, 2002 Canada's war brides were the young women who met fell in love with and married Canadian servicemen in Europe in World War II Forty eight thousand from Britain with 22 000 children followed their husbands to Canada during and just after the war Some of them were barely teenagers when the war began but they grew up quickly in a world of blackouts and rationing and bombing raids when loved ones were absent and the future uncertain Love grew quickly in such a climate Sometimes the romances were leisurely but frequently it was a headlong rush into marriage followed by emigration to an unknown land with family left behind often never to be seen again Linda Granfield effortlessly recaptures the spirit of those days in stories from the war brides and with visual material of all kinds including photos mementoes from the voyage to Halifax and the documents required along the way The women tell of flirtations at dances and canteens of hasty marriages in borrowed dresses of tearful farewells in English ports and of unheard of delights like lobster and grapefruit aboard the still gracious ocean liners Some expected to see cowboys and indians and igloos in Canada and were surprised how different their husbands looked in unfamiliar civilian attire And the trains Who knew a country could be so big Nothing could prepare the war brides for their new country City girls many of them they now had to call upon all their resources to survive unexpected hardships Winters could be punishing husbands could show their true colours or in laws turn a cold shoulder But for the most part quick wits good humour and loving new families pulled them through It took firm resolve and a spirit of adventure to follow a stranger to a new world and though a good few returned to Britain most never wanted to return Canada had become their home

Best Poems of 1995 Cynthia A. Stevens, Caroline Sullivan, 1995 War Brides Melynda Jarratt, 2009-05-25 For thousands of young British girls the influx of Canadian soldiers conscripted to Britain during the Second World War meant throngs of handsome young men The result was over 48 000 marriages to Canadian soldiers alone and a mass emigration of British women to North America and around the world in the 1940's For many brides the decision to leave their family and home to move to a country thousands of miles away with a man they hardly knew brought forth ensuing happiness For others the outcome was much different and the darker side of the story reveals the infidelity domestic violence poverty alcoholism and divorce that many lived through War Brides draws on original archival documents personal correspondence and key first hand accounts to tell the amazing story of the War Brides in their own words and shows the love passion tragedy and spirit of adventure of thousand of British women World War II Goes to the Movies & Television Guide Volume I A-K Terry Rowan,2012-01-17 A Complete Film Guide to motion pictures and television shows that pertain to WWII Facts and stories about Hollywood personal that served in the Armed Forces War Bond drives USO shows Hollywood Canteen and those who were ruled 4 F during the war Complete history of world cinema during the years of the war As well as other interesting facts are also included in the first volume Featurine shorts cartoons documentaries and feature films Don t forget to get the second volume L Z Video Source Book ,2006 A guide to programs currently available on video in the areas of movies entertainment general interest education sports recreation fine arts health science business industry children juvenile how to instruction
