Epic and Empire David Quint, 2021-01-12 Alexander the Great according to Plutarch carried on his campaigns a copy of the Iliad kept alongside a dagger on a more pronounced ideological level ancient Romans looked to the Aeneid as an argument for imperialism In this major reinterpretation of epic poetry beginning with Virgil David Quint explores the political context and meanings of key works in Western literature He divides the history of the genre into two political traditions the Virgilian epics of conquest and empire that take the victors side the Aeneid itself Camoes s Lus adas Tasso s Gerusalemme liberata and the countervailing epic of the defeated and of republican liberty Lucan s Pharsalia Ercilla s Araucana and d Aubign s Les tragiques These traditions produce opposing ideas of historical narrative a linear teleological narrative that belongs to the imperial conquerors and an episodic and open ended narrative identified with romance the story told of and by the defeated Quint situates Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained within these rival traditions He extends his political analysis to the scholarly revival of medieval epic in the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and to Sergei Eisenstein s epic film Alexander Nevsky Attending both to the topical contexts of individual poems and to the larger historical development of the epic genre Epic and Empire provides new models for exploring the relationship between ideology and literary form From Virgil to Milton C. More Latin Lyrics from Virgil to Milton , 1980 Paradise Lost Francis C. Blessington, 2004-11 A serious reading of Milton s Epic basic enough to help novice readers and original enough in places to interest seasoned readers Seventeenth Century News From Academia to Amicitia Estelle Haan, 1998 A detailed study of the Latin poetry by the 17th century English poet and how it was influenced by his reading of Italian history his travels in the country and his contact with contemporary Italian scholars Excerpts are in both the original Latin and English Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR The Virgilian Tradition II Craig Kallendorf, 2021-10-25 The Virgilian Tradition II brings together thirteen essays by historian Craig Kallendorf The essays present a distinctive approach to the reception of the canonical classical author Virgil that is focused around the early printed books through which that author was read and interpreted within early modern culture Using the prefaces dedicatory letters and commentaries that accompanied the early modern editions of Virgil's Eclogues Georgics Aeneid and Appendix Virgiliana they demonstrate how this paratextual material was used by early readers to develop a more nuanced interpretation of Virgil's writings than twentieth century scholars believed they were capable of The approach developed throughout this volume shows how the emerging field of book history can enrich our understanding of the reception of Greek and Latin authors This book will appeal to scholars and students of early modern history as well as those interested in book history and cultural history CS 1103

Milton's Edotprs and Commentators from Patrick Hume to Henry John Todd 9 Ants Oras, Literature and the Renaissance Garden from Elizabeth I to Charles II Amy L. Tigner, 2016-05-13 Spanning the period from Elizabeth I's reign to Charles II's restoration this study argues the garden is a primary site evincing a progressive narrative of change a narrative that looks to the Edenic as obtainable ideal in court politics economic prosperity and national identity in early modern England In the first part of the study Amy L Tigner traces the conceptual forms that the paradise imaginary takes in works by Gascoigne Spenser and Shakespeare all of whom depict the garden as a space in which to imagine the national body of England and the gendered body of the monarch In the concluding chapters she discusses the function of gardens in the literary works by Jonson an anonymous masque playwright and Milton the herbals of John Gerard and John Parkinson and the tract writing of Ralph Austen Lawrence Beal and Walter Blithe In these texts the paradise imaginary is less about the body politic of the monarch and more about colonial pursuits and pressing environmental issues As Tigner identifies during this period literary representations of gardens become potent discursive models that both inspire constructions of their aesthetic principles and reflect innovations in horticulture and garden technology Further the development of the botanical garden ushers in a new world of science and exploration With the importation of a new world of plants the garden emerges as a locus of scientific study hybridization medical investigation and the proliferation of new ornamentals and aliments In this way the garden functions as a means to understand and possess the rapidly expanding globe

The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature Patrick Cheney, Philip Hardie, 2015-10-29 The Oxford History of Classical Reception OHCREL is designed to offer a comprehensive investigation of the numerous and diverse ways in which literary texts of the classical world have stimulated responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This second volume and third to appear in the series covers the years 1558 1660 and explores the reception of the ancient genres and authors in English Renaissance literature engaging with the major and many of the minor writers of the period including Shakespeare Marlowe Spenser and Jonson Separate chapters examine the Renaissance institutions and contexts which shape the reception of antiquity and an annotated bibliography provides substantial material for further reading
