The Caves and Jungles of Hindostan H. P. Blavatsky, 2021-11-16 The Caves and Jungles of Hindostan H P Blavatsky By day bathed in the hot rays of the sun its tall minaret like outline looks like a block of ice against the blue sky By night with the aid of the intense phosphorescent moonlight proper to India it is still more dazzling and poetical The summit looks as if it were covered with freshly fallen snow crystals Raising its slender profile above the dark background of bushes it suggests some pure midnight apparition soaring over this silent abode of destruction and lamenting what will never return Side by side with these cemeteries rise the Hindu ghats generally by the river bank There really is something grand in the ritual of burning the dead Witnessing this ceremony the spectator is struck with the deep philosophy underlying the fundamental idea of this custom In the course of an hour nothing remains of the body but a few handfuls of ashes A professional Brahman like a priest of death scatters these ashes to the winds over a river The ashes of what once lived and felt loved and hated rejoiced and wept are thus given back again to the four elements to Earth which fed it during such a long time and out of which it grew and developed to Fire emblem of purity that has just devoured the body in order that the spirit may be rid of everything impure and may freely gravitate to the new sphere of posthumous existence where every sin is a stumbling block on the way to Moksha or infinite bliss to Air which it inhaled and through which it lived and to Water which purified it physically and spiritually and is now to receive its ashes into her pure bosom

Blavatsky's fictional and esoteric account of India Delightful and inspiring And for theosophists it's also full of ideas about occultism A Hindu is a born mystic and the luxuriant nature of his country has made him a zealous pantheist From the Caves and Jungles of Hindostan is Blavatsky's philosophical and esoteric travelogue through India It is filled with colorful descriptions often quite humorous of flora and fauna customs and mythology ancient ruins and modern cities of late nineteenth century India Blavatsky's public life was spent doing two things writing and organizing the Theosophical Society This lens introduces her books The Secret Doctrine Isis Unveiled The Key to Theosophy The Voice of the Silence Caves and Jungles of Hindustan the Blavatsky Collected Writings and her Collected Letters According to her own story as told to a later biographer she spent the years 1848 to 1858 traveling the world claiming to have visited Egypt France Quebec England South America Germany Mexico India Greece and especially Tibet to study for two years with the men she called Brothers She returned to Russia in 1858 and went first to see her sister Vera a young widow living in Rugodevo a village which she had inherited from her husband In the strange mythology of the Brahmanas which at first glance is still more legendary than Greek mythology and generally in their still stranger conception of the world a profound philosophy is concealed nonetheless The outer form of idolatry is but a curtain which hides the truth like the veil of Isis But this truth is not given to all For some the curtain hides not the countenance of Isis but only empty space disappearing into the impenetrable for them darkness for others light pours forth from there For those not endowed by nature with that innate inner sense possessed by some which the Hindus so rightly call the third eye or the eye of Shiva it is by far better to be content with the fantastic patterns on the curtain for such there is no penetrating into the depth of the impenetrable darkness no filling of empty space But he who has the third eye or speaking more clearly who is capable of transferring his vision from the grossly objective on to the purely inner ground that one shall see light within the darkness and in the seeming emptiness discern the Universe Inner self awareness will show him infallibly that the presence of God is perceived here but cannot be communicated and that wishing to express this in concrete form finds its excuse in the very ardency of the desire to convey this experience to the masses And thus though still censuring in his soul the form of worship he will no longer laugh openly at idols and at the belief in them of that one who unable to penetrate beyond the curtain is satisfied with the exterior only because it is difficult for him if not completely impossible to receive any kind of suitable presentation about the Unknown God
