bond strength and wall strength with compressive strength of the mortar was not proportional to the relative compressive strengths of the type N and type S mortars The stiffness of walls subjected to compressive and flexural loads increased with the bond and compressive strength of the mortars However the stiffness of walls subjected to flexural loads appeared to be more dependent upon the number of bed joints in the tensile face and on their extension in bond than upon the bending strains in the masonry materials The Book of Farm-Buildings: Their Arrangement and Construction.
