Irigaray for Architects Peg Rawes, 2007-10-24 Specifically for architects the third title in the Thinkers for Architects series examines the relevance of Luce Irigaray s work for architecture Eight thematic chapters explore the bodily spatio temporal political and cultural value of her ideas for making discussing and experiencing architecture In particular each chapter makes accessible Irigaray s ideas about feminine and masculine spaces with reference to her key texts Irigaray's theory of sexed subjects is explained in order to show how sexuality informs the different ways in which men and women construct and inhabit architecture. In addition, her ideas about architectural forms of organization between people, exterior and interior spaces, touch and vision, philosophy and psychoanalysis are explored. The book also suggests ways in which these strategies can enable architectural designers and theorists to create ethical architectures for the user and his or her physical and psychological needs. Concisely written, this book introduces Irigaray's work to practitioners, academics, undergraduate and postgraduate students in architectural design and architectural history and theory, helping them to understand the value of cross and inter disciplinary modes of architectural practice.

Reconstructing Architecture Thomas A. Dutton, Lian Hurst Mann, 1996. Reconstructing Architecture was first published in 1996. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions. To create architecture is an inherently political act, yet its nature as a social practice is often obscured beneath layers of wealth and privilege. The contributors to this volume question architecture's complicity with the status quo, moving beyond critique to outline the part architects are playing in building radical social movements and challenging dominant forms of power. The making of architecture is instrumental in the construction of our identities; our differences, the world around us, much of what we know of institutions, the distribution of power, social relations, and cultural values is mediated by the built environment. Historically, architecture has constructed the environments that house the dominant culture. Yet, as the essays in Reconstructing Architecture demonstrate, there exists a strong tradition of critical practice in the field, one that attempts to alter existing social power relations. Engaging the gap between modernism and postmodernism, each chapter addresses an oppositional discourse that has developed within the field and then reconstructs it in terms of a new social project: feminism, social theory, environmentalism, cultural studies, race, and ethnic studies, and critical theory. The activists and scholars writing here provide a clarion call to architects and other producers of culture, challenging them to renegotiate their political allegiances and to help reconstruct a viable democratic life in the face of inexorable forces driving economic growth, destroying global ecology, homogenizing culture, and privatizing the public realm. Reconstructing Architecture reformulates the role of architecture in society as well as its capacity to further a progressive social transformation. Contributors: Sherry Ahrentzen, U of Wisconsin Milwaukee; Bradford C. Grant, California Polytechnic State U San Luis Obispo; Richard Ingersoll, Rice U; Margaret Soltan, George Washington U; Anthony Ward, U of Auckland, New Zealand. Thomas A. Dutton is an architect and professor of architecture at Miami University, Ohio. He is editor of Voices in Architectural Education (1991) and is associate editor of the Journal of Architectural Education. Lian Hurst Mann is an architect and editor of Architecture (California). A founding member of the Labor Community Strategy Center in Los Angeles she is editor of its bilingual quarterly Ahora Now and a coauthor of Reconstructing Los Angeles from the Bottom Up 1993

The Queerness of Home Stephen Vider, 2022-01-21 Stephen Vider considers how the meanings of domesticity shifted for gay men and lesbians from the late 1960s to early 1980s from a site of supposed isolation or deviance to a source of identity community and pleasure His manuscript reveals the multiple uses appeals and limits of domesticity for LGBTQ people in the post World War II period in their efforts to make social and sexual connections and to appeal for expanded rights and freedoms For example the 1970s witnessed an efflorescence of gay communal households that proved to be seedbeds for alternative modes of domesticity using the privacy of domestic space to achieve broader social and political changes Vider brings a novel perspective to gay identity and culture examining domesticity as a meeting point between practices and discourse the local and national the private and the public
