Egypt in the Twenty First Century M. Riad El-Ghonemy,2003-07-03 The book focuses on three main themes overpopulation associated with low productivity unemployment persistent poverty and weak savings and investment capacity the post 1950 development strategies and their outcomes the institutional structures that are constraining economic and political progress Egypt in the Twenty First Century is a much need Egypt in the Twenty First Century M. of Revolt Angela Joya, 2020-04-02 A conceptually rich historically informed and interdisciplinary study of the contentious politics emerging out of decades of authoritarian neoliberal economic reform The Roots of Revolt examines the contested political economy of Egypt from Nasser to Mubarak just prior to the Arab Uprisings of 2010 11 Based on extensive fieldwork conducted across rural and urban Egypt Angela Joya employs an on the ground approach to critical political economy that challenges the interpretations of Egyptian politics put forward by scholars of both democratization and authoritarianism By critically reassessing the relationship between democracy and capitalist development Joya demonstrates how renewed authoritarian politics were required to institutionalize neoliberal reforms demanded by the International Monetary Fund presenting the real world impact of economic policy on the lives of ordinary Egyptians before the Arab Uprisings

Between Preservation and Exploitation Kemi Fuentes-George, 2016-03-25 A study of biodiversity governance analyzes the factors that determine the effectiveness of transnational advocacy networks and the importance of justice claims to conservation In the late 2000s ordinary citizens in Jamaica and Mexico demanded that government put a stop to lucrative but environmentally harmful economic development activities bauxite mining in Jamaica and large scale tourism and overfishing on the eastern coast of the Yucatán Peninsula In each case the catalyst for the campaign was information gathered and disseminated by transnational advocacy networks TANs of researchers academics and activists Both campaigns were successful despite opposition from industry supporters Meanwhile simultaneous campaigns to manage land in another part of the Yucatán and to conserve migratory birds in Egypt had far less success In this book Kemi Fuentes George uses these four cases to analyze factors that determine the success or failure of efforts by TANs to persuade policymakers and private sector actors in developing countries to change environmental behavior Fuentes George argues that in order to influence the design and implementation of policy TANs must generate a scientific consensus create social relationships with local actors and advocate for biodiversity in a way that promotes local environmental justice Environmentally just policies would allow local populations access to their lands provided they use natural resources sustainably Justice claims are also more likely to generate needed support among local groups for conservation projects In their conservation efforts Jamaica Mexico and Egypt were attempting to meet their obligations under the UN Convention on Biological Diversity and other regional agreements Fuentes George's innovative analysis shows the importance of local environmental justice for the implementation of international environmental treaties

Arab Economies in the Twenty-First Century Paul Rivlin, 2009-02-09 This book examines the relationship between demographic growth and economic development in eight Arab countries Despite a slowdown in demographic growth as a result of the change in the age structure of the population the labor force is increasing rapidly In other parts of the world similar developments have enhanced economic growth In the Arab world however many of the opportunities presented by demographic transition are being lost resulting in serious threats to the political stability of the region The main reason for this is that the region has missed out on industrialization The book goes beyond conventional analysis to ask two closely related questions The first is why were governments so slow in tackling stability The second is why has the response been similar in apparently different economies Answers are provided using new literature in economics and economic history
